1 - Transmition

Disclaimer: I don't own any of them, except Kat.

Invader Kat

Ch. 1: Transmition

BOOP BOOP BOOP

Tallest Purple fell out of the chair he was in, and Red just looked up from the magazine he was reading. He half-lidded looked over at Purple amused. He snickered. Purple reluctantly got up rubbing his sore spot. They both hovered over to the console to see who was calling.

"I hope it's not Zim again." Red sighed.

"He just called 5 minutes ago." Purple said.

When the screen popped up, an Irken female was standing in front of the screen looking at them. Red and Purples mouths dropped. Purple saw that Red was blushing a little. He snickered and nudged his co-tallest.

"Forgive the interruption, my tallest." Said the Irken.

Her eyes were emerald green, and her antenna curved much like that of Tak's. She had a ring on her left antenna. Her outfit consisted of black pants, and a shirt like Tak's, but with the Irken symbol on it. It was purple and black striped.

"Who are you...?" Red started.

"Er, forgive me my Tallest." The alien bowed in an apologetic way. "I'm Kat. Invader Kat." Kat explained why she was calling, and that when she was taking the test, to become an invader, the power went out on her side of the planet. Her test cell was next to Taks.

"I see. Well, we currently don't have any planets vacant..." Red started.

"Oh, well, I had a planet in mind. One that I've heard of many times. Some stupid person said that 'whosoever knows it dares not to speak it' whatever that means." Said Kat, gesturing with her hands.

"Uh, well... what planet are you talking about?" Purple asked.

"Planet Earth." Kat smirked evilly.

"Hey, isn't that the one that Zim is on...?" Purple asked Red.

"Yeah, but he couldn't take over a planet to save his life." Red answered.

"So, does this mean that I can take over planet Earth?" Kat asked hopefully folding her hands so her fingers entwined, in sort of a pathetic begging look.

Red melted.

“Well, yes.” He said.

Kat didn't say anything, she just smirked evilly again.

“But you need to come her first, to get a SIR.” Purple said.

“Yes my Tallest!” Kat said and saluted.

“Don't you have a teleporter or something?” Purple asked.

“Yeah, it's right behind me.” Kat said pointing to something over her shoulder.

“Alright then, see you, um... later, soldier.” Red said fumbling.

“Invader Kat out.” Kat saluted once more, and then cut the transmission.

A/N: Well, my first fic... for IZ! How do you like it?? Sorry it was so short. I will try to make them longer!
R&R. NO FLAMES!!

Coming up next...: Kat gets her SIR unit!!

2 - SIR

Disclaimer: I only own Kat and her robot, no one else.

Ch. 2: SIR

Kat teleported her ship to The Massive, and docked it. She then came aboard it, and met The Tallest at the gate.

“greetings- ahem... GREETINGS INVADER KAT!” Red had to redo the sentence because his voice was high pitched and squeaky when he first spoke.

“My Tallest.” Kat said and saluted.

“This way.” Purple said, and then he and Red lead the way to the equipping station.

“You will get your SIR: Standard Infor-”

“Standard Information Retrieval Unit, I know.” Kat finished.

Both Purple and Red looked at her and then at each other. Red cleared his throat. “YES WELL, VERY GOOD, YOUNG INVADER.” He boomed.

“Um, my Tallest, must you really yell when I'm just 3 feet away from you? There is no audience to watch....” Kat said a little uncomfortably.

Purple snickered. Red just glared and continued:

“Yes, well... whatever. Now, this is your SIR unit.” Red said as a SIR popped out of the distributing system.

“Can I have a waffle?” the robot asked.

Kat stared down at the SIR. She cocked her head in curiosity.

“Something wrong?” Purple asked.

“No... I'm just thinking of a name for her.” Kat thought out loud.

They waited for about 5 minutes.

“I can't think of anything... perhaps I will on my journey to Earth...” Kat said.

“I'm sure you will.” Purple said.

“Well, I'm off to Earth.” Kat said as she headed out to the docking station.

“Good luck to you, Invader Kat.” Red said as Kat boarded the space ship and took off toward Earth.

“Are we there yet?” Her SIR unit complained.

“No, it won't be long, don't worry... THERE!! THAT'S EARTH!!” She exclaimed pointing to the planet.

“Oooh...” The little robot said like a little child.

“I still don't know what to call you yet.” Kat said sympathetically.

“Mmm-mm-mmmmm?” The robot shrugged.

Kat sighed and landed her ship in the perfect place to make her base.

“Hmm... we need our disguises. For you, I'm thinking a cat.” Kat said and stopped and laughed at her own pun.

“Can I have a waffle?” The robot asked.

“NO!” Kat said and then pointed a laser at her robot and turned her into a life like black cat.

“That looks good.” Kat said out loud.

She selected a disguise for herself. She instructed her robot on what to do, and she did it without any foul-ups. When the light subsided, Kat stood there in black boots, pants, and a purple and black striped shirt. Her human ears were pierced twice, and she wore three rings on each hand. She also had on a black sweat band on her right arm. Her eyes were still green, and her new hair was brown with purple streaks in it, shoulder length.

She just had to enter a code and the ship transformed into a house and a base under ground.

People came out of their houses alarmed at the sound.

“Don't worry everything's normal!!” Kat exclaimed and the humans looked at each other and shrugged, then went back inside.

“Filthy humans...” Kat grumbled under her breath as she walk into her house/base with her little robot companion.

“Can I have a waffle?” The robot asked when they closed the door.

“NO!!” Kat yelled.

A/N: CONTEST! CONTEST!! Can you please submit a name for me? I seriously don't know what to name the robot! The winner of this contest will get to be in the story a few times!! Thanx.

3 - School

CONTEST WINNER: ELEN!! Congrats to Elen!! Thank you to all who submitted names!!

Disclaimer: I own Tibby and Kat. That's all. Yeah...

Ch. 3: School

“Incoming Transmission from.... Earth.” One of the head Irkens said to the Tallest.

“Maybe it's Zim...” Red winced.

“Hey, do you remember the time when Zim called, and he had transformed into this horrible bologna monster!?” Purple laughed. The leaders began laughing uncontrollably.

“Ha ha...!*sigh*” They both calmed down.

Kat appeared on the screen.

“My Tallest. I have successfully landed on Earth and set up the base. As you can see.” Kat said.

“Um, Invader Kat, please... I wasn't really paying attention to your story of how you got sent to planet Dirt.” Purple said stifling another giggle.

“Oh... very well. Ok, I was finishing my testing. Tak was right next to me in another cell. When that doofus blew the power core, he trapped Tak. I got out and rescued her. You see, Tak was my older sister.” Kat said.

There was an awkward silence.

“Continue.” Red said.

“After she had escaped from planet Dirt, she went to Earth. She had met another Irken, the same one who blew out the power core, and she and he had a battle. Well, she lost, and then she told me about it. I wanted to come here to make my Tallest and my older sister proud.” Kat finished.

Pur and Red were standing with there expressions blank.

Kat sighed.

“Now, do you understand?” She asked.

“Uh, yes... Did you come up with a name for your robot?” Pur asked.

“Oh, right. Her name is Tibby.” Kat said with satisfaction on her face.

“Good.” Kat said and patted her `cat' on the head.

She then proceeded to walk to school.

*****

“CLASS,” Miss Bitters hissed. “we will be having a new student in class.”

Everyone in the class sounded like animals. All except Zim and Dib, who were glaring at each other. Finally, everyone quieted down.

“Her name is, Kat.” Miss Bitters announced.

Kat looked around the room. `Hmm... these humans are filthier than I thought...' She then spied Dib. Her eyes went wide. `I've never seen such a gargantuan head before...it's the size of a Hippo, that head.' Kat thought.

“Hi. My name's Kat. I'm new here.” Kat said.

“Hello, Kat.” All the children said. Sadly, not in unison.

“You will need a place to sit.” Bitters said. “YOU! I'm just tired of you, you're being transferred!” She hissed.

The kid screamed, and vanished beneath the floor.

Kat walked over calmly to the now empty seat. It was in the row next to Zim, but two chairs back.

Zim looked back at her.

"Hmm... not near as ugly as the other humans... this one's kind of cute..." Zim thought. Immediately, his eyes went wide and he slapped himself in the head. "What am I thinking?! She's the enemy!!" He was mentally kicking himself now.

Miss Bitters continued with the lesson about how we are all doomed.

Kat sat there doodling, and reading. Zim kept catching himself looking back in her direction.

Meanwhile, Dib was watching Zim more intently. "Something's wrong here... the way he's acting...it's not normal!" He said out loud.

You could here his sister, Gaz, yell, "NITHER ARE YOU OR YOUR BIG HEAD!"

At lunch, Kat got what the other humans got... what looked to be like slim and garbage was dumped on her plate. She winced at the smell. She looked around for a spot to sit. There was a vacant table to her right. She went over there and sat down.

She started poking at the 'food' and moving it around. Gaz walked over and sat beside her.

Gaz opened up her lunch and started slurping a soda. Dib popped his head out of no-where. "Have you noticed, Gaz?"

"Noticed what, Dib? That your head is bigger, or your voice fills me up with a larger rage than ever?!"

She growled, and then continued slurping her soda.

“No, that Zim has been looking over at Kat, very often.” Dib said with suspicion in his voice.

“Whatever.” Gaz responded.

“What is this?” Kat asked when the `food' snarled at her.

“Trust me, you don't want to know.” Gaz said.

Kat picked up the tray like it was bio hazard waste. (It probably was) She walked over to the trash can and threw it away. When it made contact with the other `food', it exploded.

Kat's eyes went wide and she pulled out an Irken recorder. “Note to self: Cafeteria food. Might come in handy during world conquering.” She put it away quickly.

As she walked back to her seat, Zim followed her. With his eyes, of course.

“Gaz.”

“Oh.”

“What's yours?” Gaz seemed to force that.

"Kat." Kat said.

"Hmm." She sighed.

"School is pointless." Kat said narrowing her eyes.

"Finally, someone who understands me. I like you. You want to come over to my house and hang out or something?" Gaz asked in her scratchy voice.

"Sure." Kat said.

"My brother Dib might bother us, though." Gaz said opening one eye and pointing over to her left.
"That's Dib."

"Oh. He's in my class." Kat said.

"I'm sorry." Gaz said. To this, Dib turned around and glared at his sister.

"Zim's an alien, you know." Dib said pointing to Zim.

"What...? Who's Zim?" Kat asked.

Dib pointed out the green kid.

“Oh. So what country is he from?” She asked.

Dib sweatdropped and fell out of his seat.

“WHY DOES EVERYONE SAY THAT?!” He yelled to the world.

“Because we want to know.” Kat said sweatdropping. She and Gaz slid away to the convulsing Dib.

“He does this all the time.” Gaz said opening her eyes when she said `all'.

Kat groaned.

*****

Zim walked into his `house.'

“MASTER! You want waffles?!” Gir asked.

“No, Gir! I need to think...” Zim said to the little robot.

“Ohh.... OKEY DOKEY!! COME ON PIGGY!!” Gir said to his rubber piggy and ran off laughing hysterically.

Zim shook his head and took off his disguise.

“That poor, poor robot.” He sighed.

A/N: how was that?! Weeeeeeeeeehooooooooooooooooooooo!!! *laughs till head explodes* i'm hyper... yes...*with mouth full* who wants waffles?!

4 - Research, Music, and a BEST FRIEND

Disclaimer: I don't own any of em' except for the robot and Kat... and Elen owns herself, sooo... yeah... Oh, and I don't own Simple Plan, Avril Lavigne, or Maroon 5.

Ch.4: Research, Music, and a BEST FRIEND

Kat pondered while sitting at her ridiculously large computer. It was about 5 feet tall and long! (like I said, ridiculous)

"Hmm... I guess I should get to work figuring out what earth children do..." kat said to herself and typed in a combination of keys.

She saw video screens of what kids her age were doing. Most were watching TV. Others were hanging out at the playground.

"What's this?" She wondered. One of the older kids (around 13) was listening to music. Kat enjoyed this music very much. "I'll get that music and listen to it tomorrow to make myself look even MORE normal!" Kat said rubbing her hands together maniacally.

"All of the humans seem to have a.... friend with them... I must get a best friend as well..." She said regretfully. `But who...?' she thought.

Kat and Elen spent the rest of the day together hanging out. Finally, it was time to go home. Zim watched Kat and Elen laugh when they walked out of the building. "I should follow them to see what they do..." Zim said out loud to himself.

Zim followed Kat and Elen to Elen's house.

"Well, here's my place." Elen said. It was just like all the other places around, only this house was 2 stories and was a beautiful shade of _____.

"Nice house." Kat said looking up at it. "Wanna come and see my room?" Elen asked. "Sure!" Kat said cheerfully. They went up to Elen's room and Kat seemed to like it very much.

"Do you want to stay for dinner?" Elen asked. "Thanks, but I have a, uh... project to do, yeah..." Kat said.

Kat and Elen said goodbye to each other, and then Kat walked home. Zim, who was following all this time suddenly stopped. "What am I doing, STALKING her??" he said out loud to himself. He shook this thought off and continued on. He saw where she lived, or at least assumed that is where she lived. And went home himself.

When he got home, he found Gir rolling around on the floor with mini moose, who was squeaking. "GIR!!" Zim bellowed. "SIR!" Gir saluted and his eyes turned red for a moment. "I have found out where the Kat human lives, and I will observe more over the weekend." Zim said before he flushed himself down the toilet and went down to his base.

~`~`~` At Kat's house ~`~`~`

"TIBBY!!" Kat hollered. She then changed back into Irken form. Her SIR unit came out of nowhere and said, "YES MY MISTRESS!" Kat looked at her for a second and then continued. "I have failed to get the Earth music to bring to Skool today." She said hating herself.

“Oooh, some Cds came today...” Tibby said, but not stupidly like Gir. Tibby went to the kitchen and brought out some CD's. Kat eyed them. “...Perfect...” She said while rubbing her hands together evilly.

“BWAHHHAHAHAHA!!!” she laughed. Tibby started laughing too. Soon, the two of them were both laughing, but not manically. Just, LAUGHING. For no apparent reason.

“Ok, -sigh- Tibby, that was fun and all, but now I have to listen to this `music’.” Kat said and headed down to her base. All she had to do was press her antenna ring, and she was transported down to her base.

“Hmm... what first... maybe some `Simple Plan’...” Kat thought and then listened to all the CD's she got... for the rest of the night. YEEASH.

A/N: Well, there ya go Elen!! You are actually going to have an ongoing part. YAY!! *huggles* I luvs you!!

5 - Observing

Disclaimer: I don't own Simple Plan or anyone else, except Kat and Tibby. R&R OR ELSE; no cookies for you... XP

Ch. 5: Observing

~*~*~Saturday*~*~*~

Zim turned on his computer system that showed global images of some random kids and other people. "Hmmm..." Zim tapped his chin while looking for a video stream of Kat. Gir sat next to him eating popcorn that appeared out of nowhere.

Zim began to get aggravated. "Rrrrrrr!! WHERE IS SHEEE?!?!" He bellowed.

"Who ya lookin for?" Gir asked jumping on Zim's head.

"I'm looking for Kat and- GIR GET OFF MY HEAD!!" Zim hollered.

Gir jumped down from Zim's head and stood looking at the screens. "Oh, this is my favorite show!!" Gir said and then hugged one of the screens.

"GIR!! We're looking for Kat, remember?" Zim asked his robot.

Gir's eyes turned red and he saluted again, only to resume blankly staring at the screens as his normal self.

Zim finally spotted Kat. "Ah, there she is..." Zim said. Kat was in her house, in human form. She was trying to figure out how to work her CD surround sound system.

"ACK!!" She yelled as she got zapped by electricity.

She narrowed her eyes at the machine as Tibby meowed at her in cat form.

"I KNOW THAT TIBBY!!" Kat yelled back at the cat. Tibby simply jumped off the couch and walked over to Kat, who was kneeling trying to figure out how some wires go together. "THIS MACHINE IS DOING THIS BECAUSE IT HATES ME!!" Kat screamed angrily.

Tibby eyed the wires and then meowed again. "Wha- Oh, of course!! How could I be so stupid!!?" Kat exclaimed. She put two wires together and then inserted them into a black box. The CD player itself blinked, 'Welcome! Please insert CD' on the screen.

Kat looked around her and then looked back at Tibby. "Tibby, could you go and get one of my CD's??" Kat asked her cat. Tibby let out a muffled meow. "What?" Kat asked bending down to her cat. Tibby let out the same cry. "Oh, fine." Kat said as she hesitantly looked around. "We aren't outside." She finished.

Tibby gave a meow of relief, and then shed the hologram disguise.

Zim blankly stared at the screen, watching the SIR unit run around the room yelling, "YAY!! LOOKATMEH!!!" Gir looked at the same screen. "Hey, lookie!! A new friend!!" Gir yelled happily. Zim looked at Gir, and then back to the screen. "How can this be? How can Kat have a SIR unit... unless..." Zim thought out loud as he watched Kat more closely.

“Come on Kat!! No ones here...” Tibby wailed at her master. “No, Tibby. If someone saw you, that would be ok. But if they saw me... well, that would be disastrous.” Kat said to her robot. “The blinds are down, the doors are locked, the only way someone could see ya is if they had some kind of satellite technology...” Tibby said scratching her head.

Kat sighed. “Fine.” Kat said. Kat pushed a button on her necklace. The hologram deteriorated away, leaving Kat in her Irken form.

Zim's mouth dropped. Gir looked at the Irken female. “Oooh... SHE'S PRETTY!! HIIIIII PRETTY LADY!!” Gir yelled at the screen. Zim didn't seem to notice. `She has green eyes... oh, and an antenna ring, too...’ he thought.

“Master?” Gir asked Zim.

“Yes, Gir?”

“Why don't we see any other Irkens with green eyes...?” Gir asked sticking his tongue out.

“Um, because, uh, well... I guess it's very rare.” Zim said to Gir.

*thinking* “Wow, Gir sounded intelligent for once...”

Gir then bounced on his head, yelling “WeeeeeeeHOOOOOO!!!” and then started to break dance.

Zim shook his head. “Oh, well.” He looked back to the screen at Kat.

(on the screen) “TIBBY!!” Kat yelled again. “Yeeeeeessss??” Tibby asked hovering upside down above Kat's head. "Can you please go get me a CD?" She asked.

Tibby thought a moment. "Hmmm... Ok." Then Tibby flew off upstairs.

Kat looked back at the system. "I hope you work..." She said to it. Tibby came back down with a CD in her hand. "Heeere ya go!!" Tibby said holding out the CD in her hand. "Thanks." Kat said and then put the CD into the tray. The tray went back in, and then the machine buzzed a bit.

"...Does it work...?" Kat asked out loud.

Zim stared at the screen waiting.

Finally, the speakers blared out the song, "Welcome To My Life" By Simple Plan.

Kat and Tibby were blown back into the wall by the wave. Tibby flew to the system, and turned down the volume, which was on the highest it could go. Kat fell from the wall and onto the couch beneath her with a WHUMP. She left an indentation of herself in the wall. "Unnngh..." She groaned as she struggled to get up. She sat up and rubbed her head. "At least it works." Kat said and then fell back onto the couch, listening to the music.

Zim sat back in his chair too. "She's... She's Irken..." Was all that came out.

A/N: BWAHAHAHAHAHA!! IM LEAVING IT AS A CLIFFIE!! SO I CAN MAKE YOU ALL SUFFER!!!
BWUAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!! *cough cough*

-ahem- yeah... R&R!! XP

6 - Volleyball

Disclaimer: Heey y'all!! Hey I uhm... don't own Zim, Gir, or anyone else, `cept Kat, Tibby,

Ch. 6: Volleyball

Zim sat on the couch up in the `house' level. "She.... She's Irken..." He said still in disbelief.

Gir jumped up and sat beside him. "Heeey Master!! What's wrong?" Gir asked tilting his head at a 90 degree angle.

Zim turned to his `bot companion. "Kat. She's... You couldn't possibly comprehend it, Gir." Zim said narrowing his eyes at Gir.

"Oooookaaay..." Gir said turning his head the other way. "TAQUITOS!!! He screamed running around the living room, then ran into a wall. He cracked it a bit, but then continued his rampage after getting in his dog suit and running out the door screaming about tacos and taquitos.

Zim sighed and shook his head.

~AT SKOOL~

Kat walked in and sat at her desk with a sigh.

Zim shifted his eyes to look at her, hopefully without her noticing. She didn't notice at all. That is until Ms. Bitters yelled at Zim for not paying attention at the lesson of Doom.

“ZIM!” Ms. Bitters screeched at Zim.

Zim shot upright in his seat. “YELLOW!!” Zim yelled as an answer to Bitters.

“Zim, I'm sure that you can avert your attention from Kat, FOR AT LEAST 2 MINUTES!!” Ms. Bitters eyed Zim as she yelled this.

Zim blushed and then stared down at his desk sheepishly.

Kat snapped out of her `little own world' to look at Ms. Bitters confused. Kat shrugged then went slowly got out a folder from her desk that had drawings and sketches in it.

Zim couldn't help but glancing over at her. He saw her take out a piece of paper with a light half sketch of a werewolf on it.

He leaned over slowly. “That's really good.” He said to her.

Kat glanced over to him. "Oh, yeah. Thanks." She said. She got out an artist pencil and started doing the other half of the werewolf.

~RECESS~

Zim walked outside with the rest of the filthy earth monkeys. He looked around for Kat. When he didn't spot her he began to get anxious. He finally spotted her under the elm tree, which surprisingly wasn't dead... YET.

He walked over to her. "Sooo..." He began.

Kat looked up from her drawing to look at him. She looked to her right and left, then pointed at herself. "Me?" She asked.

"Yes, you." Zim said to her.

"What?" She asked.

"Well, I uh... your new here, right?" He asked.

"Yeah..." Kat said like he was stupid.

"Uhm, well. I uh..." He couldn't spit it out fast enough.

Just then, some lady hurried over to Kat. "Are you Kat?" She asked cheery-like.

“Uhm, yeah...” Kat said taken aback.

“Oh, good!! Come with me!!” The lady said grabbing Kat's hand and pulling her away from Zim. Kat dropped her art stuff in the process of being pulled away.

Zim looked at Kat being pulled away, and then to her things lying on the ground. “Hmm... Better hold on to these things until she gets back... from... wherever.” He said out loud.

“ACK! Were are you talking me?” Kat asked walking along with the lady, who's name tag said “Lori”.

“Oh, well, you have been accepted in numerous things here, Kat.” Lori said.

“Liiiiike...?” Kat asked.

“Well, for starters, Volleyball!!” Lori said.

“Uhm, okay...” Kat said. “And the others?”

“Oh, well, uh... hmmm... oh, the play!!! Yes, the play at the Lied Center, you know, down town? The one entitled, “Up the Down Staircase”? You made a spot in the play!!” Lori said happily.

“Oh, cool...” Kat said smiling.

After a few more minutes, Kat was dragged into the gym, were some girls were chatting, in Volleyball uniform.

“Everyone, this is Kat.” Lori said peppily. (A/N: Uhm, I dun think that `peppily' is a word, but it is now!!

All the girls glanced at Kat and waved. They then took a double glance, and ran over to her. “Hey! I looove you hair!!” One of the blonds said. Kat was being smothered with love. “Uh, thanks...” She said.

She spotted a girl kind of, well, at the side lines. Kat walked over to her. “Hi. I'm Kat.” Kat smiled at the girl. “Hi...” The girl said shyly. “What's your name?” Kat asked sitting down beside her on the bleachers. “Molly.” Molly said.

Kat smiled. “Hey since I'm new here... do you want to be my friend??” Kat asked Molly. Molly lit up. “Would I?!?” She exclaimed. “You look so popular, of course!!” She added. Kat smiled and blushed.

The girls had an extra set of knee pads, shorts, and shirt in the dressing room. Kat went in and got changed.

Volleyball practice went pretty good, except Zim had to walk in when they were getting ready to do the `fun' thing at the end. The fun thing really varied. Sometimes they just sat around and talked, others, they got to actually do a game of Volleyball, just for the heck of it.

This time, they were going to play doge ball with the volleyballs. Zim walked in and looked around at all the girls.

“Hmm...” he saw Kat, and smiled. He waved. Kat didn't see him, so he jumped up on one of the bleachers and waved both arms in the air, as if flagging down a plane.

Kat was dodging balls one way and then another. No one could hit her, not even if they all threw at the same time.

“HEY KAT!!!” Zim called waving his arms in the air.

“Huh?” Kat asked raising an eyebrow at Zim surprised. She then got pelted in the head with a volleyball, and fell over backwards. “ACK!” She yelled. The other players laughed.

Zim glared at them and started to run to Kat. “Kat! Are you okay?” He asked kneeling down beside Kat.

Kat groaned and then sat up and rubbed her head. “Gah... that's a first...” She said looking around. “Yeah, I'm fine.” Kat said to Zim.

Molly came over. “Heh heh, sorry, Kat... Couldn't resist!” She giggled.

“Ah, so it was YOU...” Kat smirked evilly.

Zim got a funny feeling in his gut when she smirked. ‘Heh, she's really cute when she smirks...’ he thought to himself.

“Yeah, it was meh.” Molly said sheepishly.

Kat jumped up and chased Molly around the court. “You're gonna REGRET IT!!” Kat laughed evilly. “AAAAAHHH!!! I SAID I WAS SORRY!!!” Molly yelled to Kat.

Kat just growled and continued to chase Molly around. She gained fast, and then pounced on Molly. “Gah!!” Molly yelled as she fell to the ground.

Kat pinned her to the ground, and then just... SAT on her. "Well, hope you learned your lesson." Kat said with a smirk of satisfactory. "Yeah... NEVER try to outrun YOU." Molly said panting.

Kat looked down at Molly, who was face-first into the floor. She gave a sigh, and then got off her. Molly staggered up and looked at Kat.

"Whew... you'd make a good football player, Kat." Molly said smiling. "Yeah, I like to tackle people. So, since your one of my BFF's, be prepared to be glomped a lot." Kat smiled.

Kat and Molly both walked into the dressing rooms to change. When they came out, Zim was waiting on one of the bleachers. He jumped up and ran over to Kat.

"Hey!! That was pretty good playing." He complimented.

Kat was taken aback by the complement.

"Uh, thanks, uhm... Zim..?" She asked.

"Yes, I AM ZIIIIIM!!!" He exclaimed loudly.

Kat and Molly exchanged glances.

"Well, uh nice talking to ya Zim... Gotta get back to class." She said and hurried out of the gym.

Zim watched her go. `Hmm... I have to tell her that I'm an Irken just like her... but when?? Maybe invite her over after Skool... yesss... that's it.' He thought as he walked out and followed Kat.

A/N: R&R!! Remember to be nice...!! ^^ uhm, I don't own 'Up the Down Staircase', either... I was in that play this year though!! ^^ If any of you know what I'm talking about, I was cast as Elizabeth Ellis.

7 - Diamond

Disclaimer: hiya!! I don't own Zim, or Gir, or anyone except Kat, Tibby, Diamond. SO THERE!! BWAHAHAHAHHAH!!! -cough cough hack- hehehhheheheh.... ^^;

Ch. 7: Diamond

“CLASS!!” Bitters hissed. “We have ANOTHER poor excuse for a student joining us today.” She finished.

A girl walked into the room and stood there shyly. She had green eyes, shoulder length brown hair, with blond highlights in it, and she wore blue jeans, and had a red shirt with diamond sparkly shapes on it. She also had her ears pierced 3 times. Even her eyes shown like diamonds.

“Hi!!” She said happily. She looked around at the class. “I'm Diamond... You can call me Dia for short.” She smiled shyly.

Zim's eyes got big and he drooled a little.

“Wow...” He thought. He realized that he was drooling, and wiped it away.

Kat narrowed an eye at Diamond, and then smiled. “Dia?!?!?” She exclaimed.

Dia immediately looked over at Kat. "KAT!!" She exclaimed back.

Kat jumped up out of her seat by Zim, and hugged Dia. "Oh my gosh!! I haven't seen u for ever!!" She said happily.

`They know each other??' Zim thought. `Hmmm... she must be Irken, too...' his eyes got wide. `That means... that I don't have crushes on humans!!' he thought excitedly.

Ms. Bitters pointed to a seat behind Kat. Poonchy was in it. "SIT!" She screeched at Dia.

Dia looked confused. "Uh, someone's in that seat..." She said pointing to Poonchy.

"Oh, right..." Bitters said scratchily.

She hit a button on her desk, and Poonchy screamed and got transferred to the `Underground Classroom'.

Dia looked to Kat fearfully. "Will we die in this class?" She asked as she sat down behind Kat.

Kat only shrugged and turned back to the front.

Dia caught Zim looking at her.

"Can I help you?" She asked Zim.

“Uhhh...” Zim was confused, like always.

“Don't bother talking to him. He's an alien, you know. An Irken to be exact.” Dib said as-a-matter-of-factly.

Dia took a long look at Dib. ““You're crazy. Why is your head soooo big?” She asked Dib.

Dib's eye twitched. “MY HEAD'S NOT BIG!!!” He exclaimed.

Dia leaned away from Dib.

Zim glared at him. “Go away DIHB.” He spat his name. “You're frightening the girls here.” He said pointing to Kat and Dia.

Dib returned the glare. He walked over and sat at his desk, and started jotting down notes while glancing at Zim now and then.

Dia shot a thankful glance at Zim. “Thanks for uh... Making him go away.” She thanked.

Kat rolled her eyes. “It's not too hard to make someone who's paranoid go away, Diamond.” She said giggling.

Zim blushed. They were acting... cute. “Uh, no problem... Diamond.” He said blushing again.

Dia smiled again at him and then wrote something down on a piece of paper. She folded up the paper, and tossed it at Kat. It hit her in the head.

Kat turned around quickly while putting her hand on the back of her head, and found the note. She glared at Diamond, who returned at sheepish grin. Kat rolled her eyes and unfolded the note, reading it. Here is what was on it:

Kat,

Uhm, I think that green kid that sits near you likes you... he keeps glancing our way...

~Dia

Kat got out her pencil and jotted down:

Dia,

How do you know he's not looking at YOU?? Hmmmm??

~Kat

She handed the note back to Dia when she acted like she was stretching. Dia grabbed it and immediately read it eager to see what her friend had replied. Dia read over the note, gave a puzzled look, and wrote something down, and handed it back to Kat.

Kat took it and read.

Kat,

Well, I don't know... but every time I glance his way, he's looking at you. Whatever...

~Dia

Kat rolled her eyes at this, and put the paper in her desk.

Dia got out another piece of paper and wrote on it, and folded it neatly. "Psst..." She said to Zim. Zim turned around to Dia. He gave a questioning look at her. She held out the note, and Zim hesitantly took it. He opened it up to read it.

Green-kid-that-sits-near-Kat,

I've seen you take quick glances at kat... do you like her?? Just wondering...

~Diamond

Zim blushed and quickly wrote down his answer.

Diamond,

I have no idea what you're talking about... but um... yes I do like her.

~ THE AMAZING ZIM!

He handed back the note to Diamond, while blushing a bit. She read it and stifled a giggle.

Just then, the bell rang excusing Skool. Kids made a rush jumping out of the windows, and running down the halls to escape another boring day of Skool. Kat walked out with Diamond.

“So, where do you live, Dia?” She asked her old friend while walking down the sidewalk. Zim casually followed.

“Right there! See?” Dia pointed to a light blue house with a white picket fence around the perimeter. In front were some very attractive flowers, and a few trees.

“Ooo... pretty...” Kat said stopping at the front gate with Dia by her side. Zim dogged behind a mailbox. Not that that would make a great hiding place, but hey.

“Yeah... where do you live?” Dia asked.

“Well, come on and see!!” Kat said while pulling Dia behind her by the wrist.

Zim gave one of his famous expressions, the one-eye-half-closed-while-other-is-bugging-out-look. He followed, even though he had already seen where Kat lived.

Kat walked up the few stairs there were, and opened the door. She walked in with Dia laughing about something that had happened a few years ago. Zim slipped up to a window behind a bush and peered in. He couldn't read lips that well, so he just watched. Kind of a waste of time, really.

Kat giggled again and pressed her necklace button. The disguise came off, and she stood there in Irken form. Dia pressed her diamond shaped necklace and her disguise came off as well. Diamond's green eyes shone like... diamonds, actually. Her antenna ring gold with real diamonds in it shone. Zim's mouth dropped when he saw that both of them were Irkens. He remembered seeing Kat in Irken form before, but now he proved his suspicions about Diamond being Irken.

Dia looked around Kat's living room curiously, and glanced out the window where Zim came into her vision. She gasped and pointed at him and Kat's green eyes grew wide with amazement at the so-called, 'Amazing Zim.' She pressed her antenna ring and came back into her human disguise. Diamond pressed her necklace and her disguise came on.

Kat immediately ran over and opened the door. Zim knew he was caught, so he had moved to her door step. Kat grabbed him by his collar and pulled him inside. She tossed him down on her couch while she and Dia stood glaring at him.

"Okay, you might have thought that you just saw aliens, but you didn't. you have psychotic episodes in which you see things that aren't really there." Kat said staring at Zim.

Dia leaned toward Zim. "Yeah, you didn't see ANYTHING." She said widening her eyes at Zim.

Zim just gave a wide grin. "But you don't understand-"

"Actually, I think that we DO understand that you're crazy." Diamond said.

Kat grabbed Zim by the shirt collar once more and headed toward the door. Diamond opened for her and she was about to toss Zim out on his can, when he all of a sudden screeched, "WAIT!! I'M YOU'RE KIND, TOO!!" he bellowed. Kat stopped in mid heave.

There was an awkward silence, and Zim continued. "If you just let me come in, I'll prove it." Kat set Zim down and stared at him. She looked at Diamond, who in return shrugged, and Kat looked at Zim suspiciously and then signaled for him to follow her inside.

A/N: CLIFFIE!! BWAHAHHAHAHAH I AM EVIL!! COWER BEFORE ME!! *LAUGHS MENIACLY* oh, and my BFF help meh right some of this story, u c Diamond is her in the story, so yeeeah....

8 - Zim's Alien Appearance

Disclaimer: I don't own anyone except Kat, and Diamond, and Tibby... although Tibby's not in this chappie... oh well... thanks for the positive reviews everyone!!

Ch. 8: Zim's Alien Appearance

Kat motioned for Zim to sit down on the couch. Kat and Dia exchanged glances, and then returned their attention to Zim. Kat shot Zim a skeptical look.

Zim grew nervous and shifted in his seat.

Kat gave him a look that said, 'well? Go on...'

"Eh... ready?" He asked.

"Yeah, go." Dia said already bored.

"What's your name again?" Kat asked narrowing her eyes at Zim.

“Zim. And could we close the blinds? I don't want anyone seeing anything...” He said glancing around.

Kat nodded and her and Dia closed all the windows and pulled the blinds. Kat locked the door also. “There. Now, continue.” Kat said putting her hands on her hips looking at Zim expectantly.

Zim took off his eye lenses revealing red eyes, and then removed his wig which revealed his antenna. He didn't know what to do next. “Uhm... Ta-da?” he said unsurely.

Kat and Dia's eyes went wide in astonishment.

Dia shook her head to get her thoughts back to normal.

“So, Zim; can I call you Zim? Yeah... not much of a disguise there, is it?” Dia asked putting her hands on her hips. Kat covered her mouth as she giggled. Zim felt blush creep across his face. “Eh? HOW DARE YOU INSULT THE AMAZING ZIIIM!!” he yelled jumping up putting his arms in the air.

“PFFFFTT...” Kat and Dia went.

“Hmmm??” Zim narrowed one eye, looking at them.

“GAHAHAHHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!” Diamond and Kat couldn't contain their laughter any longer. They each fell to the floor laughing until their sides hurt. Zim's arms swung down and made a squeaky sound as they swung back and forth.

Kat and Dia calmed down and sat up, still giggling. Kat wiped a tear away while sighing.

Dia pressed the button on her necklace and came into Irken form. Kat did the same. Zim saw the beautiful sight of Diamond and dreamily sighed. Dia gave Zim a weird look. "What?" She asked.

"Eh?" Came Zim's usual 'Eh'. He began trying his best to impress her. "I'm an unstoppable Doom Machine, you know. Want to destroy the humans?? And eh... go out with me...?" He asked meekly.

Kat and Dia looked at each other, and the expression they wore said, 'Did he ask what I think he just asked...?' Dia turned around to face Zim. Zim was blushing up a storm right now.

"...NO...Never in a MILLION YEARS!!" She hollered at Zim.

Zim wore a hurt expression on his face, and his eyes started watering. "But...But..."

"NO buts, Zim." Dia said.

"Her word is LAW." Kat said sarcastically.

Diamond's eyes grew large with a brilliant plan in her ingenious mind. She smirked evilly. She pulled Zim into a corner, while asking Kat if she could go get them a drink. Once into the corner, she looked Zim straight into the eyes.

"Okay, in the note, you said that you liked Kat, right?" Dia asked.

"Yes." Came Zim's response.

"Sooo, why don't you ask HER out?" Diamond asked Zim.

Zim's antennae perked up at this idea. "Hmmm... But what if she rejects me like you did?" He asked worriedly.

Dia shrugged. "I don't think she will."

Zim had a temporary burst in confidence that is, until Kat returned into the room with sodas. "Alright, here are your beverages, DIAMOND." Kat said sarcastically.

Diamond walked over to Kat, and returned the sarcasm. "Thanks, sweetie!! Here's a tip." Dia flipped a nickel to Kat, who caught it and exclaimed. "Oh my god!! A WHOLE NICKLE!! I'M RIIIIICH!!!"

Zim meanwhile stood in the corner watching this whole episode of sarcasm. He then burst out laughing. Kat and Dia stopped there sarcasm to stare at Zim who was rolling around on the floor in laughter. Zim then accidentally did a summersault in his laughter fit.

Dia looked back at Kat. "Wow, he's really `fippin for you, Kat!" She half laughed.

Kat blushed slightly and replied, "Well, looks like he's showing off for YOU, Dia."

Diamond was stunned.

Zim suddenly stopped. "Well, actually, I was really flipping for you, Kat." Zim blushed.

Diamond burst out laughing and fell to the floor once again. Kat felt blush creep across her face. "Uhm, sure, you were..." She said sarcastically to Zim.

Zim walked over and pulled Diamond off the ground and asked politely to be excused. Kat nodded and walked back into the kitchen.

Zim had to shake Diamond to get her to stop laughing. When Dia finally calmed down, he began asking her a question. "Gah, I can't do it Diamond!! How can I ask her??" he asked on the verge of hysteretic.

"Just go up to her and say what you said to me, I guess..." Dia answered.

Zim slapped himself in the forehead. "But she'll think I'm a complete fool!! Give me another idea!! What have guys done in the past to ask girls out??" Zim asked desperately.

"Well, my boyfriend asked me out by inviting me to hang out, have a smoothie."

"Wait, you have a boyfriend?? Tell me...TELL ZIIIIIM!!" Zim shouted.

"Well, Dib asked me out today." Diamond smiled.

Zim's eye twitched. "WHAT?!?! BUT THE DIB-HUMAN IS THE ENEMY!!" He screeched.

Dia smacked Zim upside the head to shut him up. AND IT WORKED!! *gasp*

Zim rubbed his head, and then continued. "So, should I ask her to `hang out' or something??" He asked stupidly.

Dia shook her head. "You really don't know much about dating, do you?" She asked Zim.

Zim only shrugged. Kat walked back into the room. "Are you two done yet??" She asked sarcastically.

Dia slightly nudged Zim. "Go, ask her..." She whispered.

Zim blushed and hesitantly walked up to Kat. "Eh, Kat?" He asked blushing.

"Yes?" Kat responded looking to Zim. He noticed how sparkly her emerald eyes were.

"Uh, eh... would you want to... I dunno... hang out sometime?" he asked slowly. He then braced himself for a supposed kick or punch.

Kat blinked slowly and said nonchalantly, "Yeah, sure."

A/N: Heeey!! I hope you liked it!! Oooh Dib's gotta giiiiirlfriend!! BWAAHHHAHAHAHAHA!! Pleez don't flame meh for that. My BFF once again helped meh write this chappie, so some complements go to her!!

9 - Kat's First Date

Ch. 9: Kat's First Date

Zim sighed and immediately went into explaining. "Now, I understand completely about your choice, and- wait... what did you say??" Zim blinked.

"...I said yes..." Kat said slowly.

"Oh... Eh heh heh...VICTORY!!!!!!!!!" Zim yelled, and then blushed.

Diamond came up to both of them and put her arms around Kat and Zim. "Oh, it's a Kodak Moment!!" She exclaimed happily pulling out a camera.

Kat's eyes went wide. "What... Wait, Dia-" Kat was cut off by the camera's flash.

"Oh, you moved!! Here..." Diamond pushed Kat and Zim REALLY close together. Their cheeks were touching, and their antennae were almost tangled. "Say CHEESE!!" Dia said happily while snapping the picture.

Kat began seeing colorful dots everywhere. "Gah... look at all the pretty colors..." Kat said as she swayed back and forth dizzily.

Zim turned to Kat. "Kat? Are you feeling okay...?" he asked.

"Yeah, never been better..." Kat said as she was still swaying back and forth. She looked at Dia.

"You know, you should really warn someone before taking pictures Diamond... You too, Diamonds... twin...??" And with that, Kat passed out.

A few hours later, Kat woke up. She slowly opened her eyes to see Diamond standing above her.

"You know Kat; you really shouldn't drink so much..." Diamond said sarcastically.

Kat glared at Diamond.

Kat stood up slowly, but then fell back on the floor. Zim ran over and helped her up.

Kat glared at Zim. "Duntouchmeeeh!!" She said as she pulled back her arm. By doing this, Kat then fell over once more.

Diamond walked over and helped Kat up off the floor. When Kat was up, she glared at whoever it was helping her. "Now, I can't see, but if you're Zim, you better step on back..." Kat said warningly.

"Kat, I'm your best friend, so don't you be warning me, kay?" Dia asked putting her hands on her hips.

Kat looked embarrassed. "Sorry, Dia... Thought you were Zim..." Kat apologized.

Zim looked hurt. "What? Why don't you trust ZIIIIIIIIIM?!?!?!" He yelled up at the ceiling.

Kat turned to where she thought Zim was standing. "Well, I can't really trust just anyone right off the bat. You see a few years back-" Kat was cut off by Diamond tapping her on the shoulder.

"Uh, Kat? You're talking to a chair..." She said.

Kat blushed then turned around. "Oh, uh... Where's Zim?" She asked looking around, though she couldn't see that well.

Dia watched Kat randomly walk around the room, waving her arms to feel where she was at.

"Uh, he had to use the restroom." Diamond said as Kat ran into a wall.

Kat once again fell backward onto the floor. "I give up." She said flopping down on her back.

Zim walked into the room. He saw Kat lying on the floor, and then turned to Diamond. "Uh, why is she lying on the floor...?" He asked.

Diamond got another evil plan in her mind. A smirk crossed her face. "Uh, Kat had a heart attack, because she ran into the wall... and she's not breathing...!" Diamond said panicky.

Zim's eyes widened. "What?!?!" He exclaimed. "What should we do? We can't call the human medical force..." He said worriedly.

"Wait, you know CPR, right?" Dia said shaking Zim by the shoulders.

"Yes..." Zim responded.

"Well, then do it already!!" Dia said nudging Zim over to Kat.

"But, I don't know were to start..." Zim said worriedly once more.

"Well, you put your mouth over hers, and then breathe... got it?" Diamond said pushing Zim next to Kat.

"Yes, alright!!" Zim said. He knelt down beside Kat and did what Diamond instructed, putting his mouth over hers, and started to breath in air to Kat.

Kat was just opening her eyes when he was doing this. `Is he...KISSING me...?' Kat thought. Her eyes went wide and she pulled away from Zim gasping for air.

"WHAT DID YOU DO THAT FOR?!?!" She practically yelled whipping off her mouth.

"Eh? You weren't breathing..." Zim said confused.

"Yes I was..." Kat's eyes opened wide. "...DIIIIAMOOOOND!!!!" She yelled.

Dia sweatdropped and blushed. "Uh, heh heh... I thought you really were passed out or something... you didn't move." Dia said starting to back away.

Kat clenched her teeth tightly together. She balled her hands into fists and glared at Diamond. She then turned her attention to Zim. "Did you ever take CPR class?" She asked tilting her head to one side innocently.

Zim blushed. "Uh, yeah... it was standard for all Invaders to know..." He said.

"Well, then you of all Irkens should know that you have to CHECK FOR A PULSE BEFORE JUMPING TO A CONCLUSION!!" Kat said loudly.

Zim blushed once again. "Uh, erm... sorry." He apologized.

Kat calmed down quite quickly. "Uhm, uh... s'okay." She said shuffling around.

There was a moment of awkward silence. Dia smiled and walked over to Kat and Zim.

"Awww!! This is just too kewt!!" She said happily.

Kat looked at Zim, and Zim gave the same confused look back to Kat.

"KODAK MOMENT!!!" Diamond pulled out a camera from behind her back.

Kat immediately grabbed it from her and threw it out the window, which went up automatically, then came back down closed.

Diamond sheepishly grinned. "Heh heh... you know I can't help myself..." Diamond said clasping her hands behind her back.

Kat just rolled her eyes. "So, where and when do you want to hang out?" Kat sat on the couch looking at Zim.

"Uh, I dunno... maybe the movies?" Zim asked nervously.

Kat thought for a moment. "Yeah, sounds cool." She said.

Dia forced a fake smile. "Be right back, kay?" She said to Kat pulling Zim away, not waiting for Kat's reply.

"GAH!" Zim hollered being dragged into the kitchen.

"What's wrong with you? I said go out for smoothies!! Movies are a date place." Diamond said to Zim like she was paranoid.

Zim gave another one of his famous looks, the one where one of his eyes is half closed while the other is bugging out one. (Let's just call that the EHCWOBO look...heh heh if you can think of something better, which I'm sure you are capable of, please tell me when you review. That would help my story a lot. Thanks!)

"But, I thought this was a date..." He said confused.

"No, it isn't!! It's a hang out. There's a difference, ya know." She said staring Zim down. Zim returned the glare.

"Well, she doesn't have a problem with it, does she? So everything's okay." Zim said satisfied.

Diamond slapped her forehead exasperated.

Just then Diamond's cell phone rang. She answered the phone. "Hello?" She asked into it.

"Hey, Dia?" It was Dib on the other line.

"Oh, hi Dib!!" Diamond said happily.

"Uh, smoothies aren't gonna work, because I just found out that I'm allergic to them... it's not very pretty... can we just go to the movies instead?" He asked nervously.

Diamond's face lit up. "Of course!! We can double-date with Kat and Zim!" She said jumping up and down a little bit.

"...WHAT?!?!?! BUT ZIM'S AN ALIEN!!" you could honestly hear Dib yelling and babbling away on the other end about how Zim's an alien... *sigh* what does Diamond see in this guy??

Diamond suppressed a laugh. "Don't be silly, Dibby. Zim's normalish... for the most part...." Diamond added quietly. (XD already has a pet name...)

"*sigh* whatever... so what movie do you want to see?" Dib asked.

"Hmmm... I was thinking "The Cave"." Diamond said.

“Okay. That's a horror movie...isn't it?” Dib asked.

“Yes. Don't be scared, though. But if you get too scared, just tell me and we can leave.” Diamond said sarcastically.

“...” was all that came from the other line.

“Heh, any who- what time?” Diamond asked.

“How about 7 tonight?” Dib asked.

“Sure. Well, I got to go. I'm over at Kat's place.” Diamond said.

“Oh, okay. Bye!” Dib said.

“Bye!” Diamond hung up and then sighed happily.

Zim's eye twitched. “That's just... WRONG...” He said shaking his head.

They both walked into the living room where Kat was still sitting. “So, what time will we go, Zim?” Kat asked.

“Uh...”

"Well, we can `double-date'. Dib and I are going to the movies at 7 tonight, so why don't you and Zim come along?" Dia asked.

"Uhm, yeah sure... that okay with you, Zim?" Kat asked.

"Uh, yeah, I guess..." Zim said shuffling around uncomfortably.

"Well, I got to go get ready for tonight!! It's only 3 hours away, you know!! Eeeeeee!!" Diamond squealed as she walked to the door. "See ya later Kat!" She said. "Come on, Zim. We can walk together." Diamond finished.

Zim nodded and followed Diamond. "Bye, Kat. See you around 7." Zim said blushing.

"Uh, yeah. Bye." Kat said also blushing. Zim walked out the door and followed Diamond.

~`~`~`~7 O'clock~`~`~`~

Dib walked up to Diamond's door with a red rose behind his back. He gulped nervously and rang the door bell. Within 5 seconds Diamond opened the door in her disguise and walked out onto the porch. "Well, how do I look?" She asked.

Diamond had on pink sequence halter top, and a black mini skirt. Her hair was pulled back in a French braid. Other than that, she still wore her boots, and her regular earrings.

Dib's eyes went wide. "You look... wonderful, Dia." He said almost drooling.

"Hey, are you okay?" She asked.

Dib shook his head fast. "Uh, yeah. Oh, I uh, got this for you..." Dib took out the rose behind his back and handed it to Dia. Dia's eyes lit up.

"Oh, Dib! You didn't need to do anything..." She said delicately holding the flower in her hand. "Hang on a sec." She ran back into the house and put it in a vase with water in it. She then came back outside. "Shall we?" She asked. They then started walking toward the movies.

~*~*~*Kat's house*~*~*~

Zim hesitantly walked up to Kat's doorstep. He gulped but reluctantly rang the door bell. He hid the red rose behind his back.

There was a humongous CRASH, and quick footsteps, and Zim could hear Kat yelling at her SIR, Tibby. The door then opened, and Kat stood there in her disguise. "Sorry about that... SOMEONE had a little accident..." Kat said throwing the word `someone' at Tibby.

Tibby glared at Kat in her disguise. "Mrrrow." Tibby purred in amusement at her master's distress. Kat glared and pulled a squirt gun from behind her back. She then aimed it at Tibby's head and fired. A cold jet of water spewed out from the `barrel' and made direct contact with Tibby's head.

"MRRROOOOW HIISSSS." Tibby hissed while retreating under the couch.

Kat smirked evilly and tossed the gun on the couch. She then turned back to Zim and smiled sheepishly. "She WAS asking for it..." Kat said walking out onto the steps, closing the door behind her.

"I uh... got this for you..." Zim said pulling out the rose from behind his back. Kat smiled as she took it.

“Oh, Zim! You didn't have to do anything...” She said. “Lemme go put this in some water...” She ran back into the house. She then came out, and that is when Zim noticed what Kat had on.

His eyes went WIDE. (And I mean REALLY wide!) He stared at what she had on. She had on a teal/green dress that shimmered every time she took a step, and she had on sandals that matched. Her hair was her normal hair, with purple streaks in it.

Zim looked at Kat again. “Kat...why you're...you're...you're...you're...” He sounded like a broken record.

Kat gave him a very strange look. “Well, uhm... thanks...yeah... that's a really great compliment, coming from you... yeah...” Kat said.

Just then, Diamond and Dib walked up the sidewalk. Dib stopped in his tracks when he saw Kat. “Whoa...” He breathed.

Diamond smacked him lightly across the cheek. “Hey...” Dib said rubbing his face. “I was just admiring the piece of art, but you're prettier.” Dib said blushing. Diamond smiled and kissed Dib on the cheek lightly. Dib then blushed more and started mumbling words that aren't real.

Kat rolled her eyes at Diamond and Dib. “Aw, come on, not in public!!” Kat wailed sarcastically.

Zim was still looking at Kat. “You're... you're...GORGEOUS!!!” He exclaimed.

Kat was taken aback by this. “Uh...thanks...” She said blushing up a storm.

There was another awkward silence.

“Well, we should get going if we want to make the movie.” Diamond said leading the way to the movies.

As they were walking, Diamond stopped and fell back to Kat. "Hey Kat? Can you walk by Dib and make sure that he doesn't walk into traffic like he did earlier?" She asked.

"Uh, yeah. Sure." Kat responded.

Dia whispered to Zim. "Hey, so do you know what you're gonna do at the movies?"

Zim returned the whisper. "Uh, watch the movie?" He asked.

"No, not that! I meant, with Kat...?" She asked again.

Zim shrugged.

"Well, what you can do is when the movie gets REALLY good you pretend you're yawning, and then put your arm around her shoulder. Kay?" She said.

Zim nodded. "Yeah. But why do I have to yawn?" He asked.

"Because if you don't, she will just move and not let you put your arm around her. Happens all the time." Diamond stated.

~`~Movies~`~

After they got there seats, the movie came on.

“Wow, we got here at the right time...” Diamond said.

The were seated left to right, in the order Dia, Dib, Zim, Kat.

The movie was pretty boring at the beginning. Zim could see this when he kept glancing at Kat. She had one arm on the arm rest supporting her head as she stared blankly at the screen.

Dia reached her arm around Dib and tapped Zim on the shoulder, signaling Zim to put his arm around Kat. Zim did so, but *gasp* forgot to yawn. He put his arm around Kat while blushing, and she looked at him. “Uh, what are you doing...?” She asked.

Zim withdrew his arm and looked embarrassed. Kat rolled her eyes and returned her focus to the screen. She perked up when the team of hikers fell through the floor. She sat up straighter and smirked as she heard there screams. Diamond and Zim did this also. Dib was in the fetal position whimpering.

Dia nudged Zim and told him to yawn and stretch, and put his arm around Kat again. Zim nodded and proceeded to do so. He stretched his arms up a bit and `yawned' and then put his arm around Kat. She didn't even flinch. She just kind of moved a little ways toward him, and cuddled into him. Zim smiled and looked at Dia.

Diamond smiled and gave Zim two thumbs up. As the rest of the movie dragged on, neither Zim nor Kat moved. Actually Kat fell asleep, so she didn't know that Zim had his arm around her...

Kat slowly opened her eyes to find that she was cuddled with Zim, and that his arm was around her. She shifted, and he pulled his arm away.

~Walking Home~

On the way back, Dia was walking with Kat. "Hey, I saw you and Zim together... You two were so cute!" She said smiling.

Kat rubbed her eyes to get the sleep out of them. "Uh, yeah...I fell asleep. I guess I thought I was at home or something..." Kat said. Dia just nodded and fell back to walk with Zim.

"So what happened back there?" Dia asked.

Zim only shrugged. "I don't know..." He said sadly.

"Well, I talked to her and found out that she fell asleep, and didn't know that you had put your arm around her... that's why she moved." Diamond explained.

"Oh... so it wasn't me?" Zim asked hopefully.

Diamond sweatdropped. "Uh, I didn't say that..." She said rubbing the back of her head.

Just then, Diamond's cell phone rang. She answered it, and it was her SIR, Tang.

"WHERE ARE YOU!?!?!?! I WAS WORRIED SIIIIICK!!" Came Tang's voice, screaming on the other end. Diamond had to pull the phone away from her ear because Tang was screeching so loudly.

Kat turned around. "Dia, what's wrong?" Kat asked casting a worried glance at her friend.

“Well, I just got a call, and it's pretty loud... Wanna listen??” Dia said grimacing at the phone, erupting with sound.

Kat stepped backward, fearfully. “Uh, no thanks... Sounds like Tang's giving you the 3rd degree...” Kat semi smiled.

“Mmmmyep.” Diamond smiled back, with a hint of sarcasm in her voice.

~`~5 minutes later~`~

There was still loud yelling on the other end, and then it abruptly was silent. Diamond dared to put the phone up to her ear. “Uh, Tang?” She asked sweetly.

“...Yeeees...?” Came Tang's voice.

“We're almost home, so just calm down, Kay?” She asked.

“...KAY!!” There was a click, and the suffering had ended.

“Who's Tang?” Dib asked, clearly confused.

“Uh, little sister... the pain in my rear...” Dia half laughed.

They continued the walk to Diamonds house. When they got there, Dib walked Dia up the steps, and said good-bye. Just then, Dia turned around to Dib. "Hey, how `bout we walk Kat home?" She asked.

"Sure, fine by me." Dib agreed. They walked back down to Kat and Zim who were on the sidewalk. Zim had been blushing and shuffling around, because he was anxious. (For unknown reasons!! XP)

On the way back to Kat's house, Diamond nudged Kat. "Hey Kat... I have a good idea about what you should do when we get to your house..." Dia whispered to Kat.

"You mean, while were here?" Kat said sarcastically. They had arrived in front of her house as Dia spoke.

Diamond rolled her eyes. "Whatever... you should give Zim a good-bye kiss." She said slyly.

"...Okay...?" She said unsurely. "Why?" She added blushing.

"Because he deserves it!! He paid for your ticket, didn't he?" She asked.

"Uh, no... I know the ticket people... they got us in free... remember?" Kat said poking Dia on the nose.

~FLASHBACK~

Kat walks up to the counter. "Hey, Ben!" She said to guy at the ticket counter.

"Oh, hey Kat!!! Comin to see `The Cave'?" He asked while leaning on the counter casually.

“Yep. With some friends too!” Kat said happily.

“Heh, okay. Here ya go!! On the house!” Ben said handing Kat 4 movie tickets.

“Thanks!” She said gratefully.

“Can I get some Ultra-Sour-Gummy-Munkys??” Diamond asked.

“...Whatever...” Kat responded.

~End Flashback~

Diamond thought for a moment. “Oh yeah... Hey, I never did get my Ultra-Sour-Gummy-Munkys!!” She exclaimed.

Kat just waved it off. “You really need to get a life...” She said unlocking her door.

Zim walked up as Dia and Dib started to walk back to Diamond's house. “Eh...so did you like the movie?” He asked.

“Yeah...it was alright...I STILL like Freddy vs. Jason better, though..” She said opening the door and walking in. She then turned around, arm resting on the door to keep it open. Zim and Kat looked at each other for a moment, when Zim suddenly leaned into her and locked lips with her.

Kat was shocked when Zim did this, but surprisingly didn't protest. He pulled away quickly, blushing like mad. “EH...” He stared blankly at Kat.

Kat shifted around, eyes wide. There was an awkward silence. (There are a lot of those in here, haven't you noticed??)

Zim jumped off of the porch. "Well, uh see you at Skool tomorrow, Kat!" He called behind him.

"Eh, yeah... BYE!" She called after him, closing the door.

Zim happily blushed as he ran. "ZIM IS SO HAPPYYYYYY!!!" He exclaimed triumphantly running down to his base.

A/N: Eh...sorry `bout the wait...and the length...eh...don't worry, Diamonds not going to be in it forever...then the story will be good...heh... R&R!! *smiles*

10 - Dia's Goodbye and Tennis

I LIIIIIVE!! XDXXD sorry I haven't updated in like...FOREVER...I kinda forgot about it...and I couldn't think of anything to write! BUT NEVER FEAR- I no longer have writers block!! But I'm currently sick...ick...im coughing up a storm and I think I've got a flu...XP anyways....hope you like! ^_____^

Ch. 10: Dia's Goodbye and Tennis

Kat had actually just gotten out of her disguise and flopped down on the couch sighing. "Well...that was interesting...heh...." She said to her SIR, Tibby, who was still in cat form.

Tibby just glared daggers at Kat. Kat returned by hugging her tightly. "Aww you're so cute when you're mad at meeee!!" She said squeezing her.

Tibby just kind of lay there, with narrowed eyes.

Just then, the phone rang, and Kat quickly dropped Tibby, who landed on the floor with a "MRRROOOW" and a "HISSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSSS!!!!!"

“Hello?” She asked into the phone.

“Hey, it's Dia...” Dia said monotonously from the other end.

Kat blinked. “...what's wrong?” She asked.

“Well, it's...just that...*siiigh*...”

“Just get on with it!”

“...I'm leaving tonight...”

“...”

“...”

“...You're WHAT?!?!” Kat exclaimed into the phone.

Dia winced. “Well...I need to take care of some things on Irk...” She said sadly.

“...oh...okay then...um...say hi to all of our friends there, `kay? And...call often...” Kat said slowly and sadly.

“...yeah...no prob...well...I'll call you when I get there, `kay?” Diamond said.

“Yeah...bye...” Kat said.

“Bye...I'll miss ya!” Diamond said.

“I'll miss you too!” Kat exclaimed.

“...you could have just said it, not yelled it...” Dia said sarcastically.

Kat giggled. “Okay, okay...byez...”

“Bye...”

They hung up and Kat went down to her base to keep on constructing her current project. It was a laser cannon, capable of destroying 15 miles in one shot. The only thing was, it's beam was only about a foot wide. (XD fuuun...)

~`~`~`Skool~`~`~`

Kat walked into the classroom and sat at her desk by Zim. Today, she had fixed her hair so it was now ALL purple. (XD just like mine! ^__^)

Ms. Bitters slithered into class. “Okay class...Today we'll-EH!?!?” She slithered over to Dia's empty desk. "Where's the sparkly one?!?" She exclaimed.

Kat blinked. "...she moved..." She said plainly.

"...Lucky..." Bitters muttered. "Anyways-" She was interrupted AGAIN by the intercom person.

"Like, okay hi everybody!! Like, today the Tennis people will need to like; go out and...play...tennis...like YEAH!!" There were hi-pitched giggles from the speaker.

Ms. Bitter twitched. "...well...THAT was annoying....."

Kat raised her hand. "Um, Ms. Bitters?" She asked timidly.

"Yesss Kat?" She asked, narrowing an eye.

"...I'm in Tennis..." She said putting her hand down.

"...Er okay...GO NOW!" She said pointing to the door as you could hear locust chirps and buzzes.

Zim followed Kat with his eyes. "...Eh MS. BITTERS!!" He exclaimed jumping on his desk and waving his arms. He continued waving his arms until Bitters finally narrowed her eyes at him.

"What is it NOW Zim?" She asked irritated.

"Eh, I help out with the Tennis team; I eh...pick up there TENNIS-EEY stuff..." He said awkwardly.

Bitters widened one eye, and kept the other one narrowed. "...whatever...JUST GO!!!" She said pointing to the door. He lept off of his desk, and ran out the door without any hesitation.

"...well class...since we only have about...6 students here...due to the exploding-liver sickness that's spreading across the skool, then I guess we'll all go to the match...GO NOW!" She said once again pointing to the door menacingly.

Dib narrowed one of his eyes, but didn't say anything. He was kinda sad about Dia moving, but he didn't want to show it.

Kat meanwhile, was getting changed for the match with her other teammates. "Eh will we be playing doubles, or singles?" She asked as they walked out of the dressing rooms, and passed Zim and Dib.

"Um...dunno..." Elen responded.

Kat sighed. "Well, I assume we will be playing doubles...that's like the only thing we've ever played!" Kat said.

"Nuh-uh! We've played singles against the coach!" Brianna said in protest.

Kat rolled her eyes. "Yeah but the coach sucks..." She said quietly as they passed their coach, Ms. Manning.

Ms. Manning thought she was cool, but she wasn't. So that kind of explains the sitch here.

Kat twirled her tennis racket as they headed out to the tennis courts on the playground. The courts were the only thing looking new, since the Skool got new janitors.

Kat walked out there in her tank top, and her purple hair pulled back in a pony-tail. Her tennis shoes were black and grey and her ankle socks had little round puff things on the back, but it was black and it had the skull and crossbones on it. (I HAVE THOSE SOCKS! XP GO ME!! Hehehe)

Zim jumped up on the top bench and over looked the team as he watched them start. Kat was sitting on one bench, but it was the last one on the set he was on. He glanced around and slowly and cautiously walked down them until he sat behind her.

Kat was oblivious, talking to one of her friends, Elizabeth. "And THEN they were all like, WTF?!?!" She said laughing.

Elizabeth laughed too. "Hey do you remember that one time when you-"She was cut off by Kat.

"-put firecrackers in the bathroom and set them off!?!?" Kat exclaimed laughing.

Elizabeth was silent. "...that was YOU...?" She asked narrowing one eye. "But that was in the GUYS bathroom!!" She said paranoid.

Kat almost fell off the bench laughing. "I know! THAT'S THE BEST PART!!!" She said doubled over laughing, as was Elizabeth.

"I WAS going to say when you put that Tarantula in Ms. Wilbur's lunchbox!!" She exclaimed loudly. "Pfft!!!" Kat started laughing again. "That was at the OLD skool, though!!"

"As was everything ELSE!!" Elizabeth laughed.

They finally got a stern look from the coach, and they shut up. But randomly they still giggled. "We are SUCH delinquents..." Kat said sarcastically.

Elizabeth stifled her giggles as Angel came back from playing doubles with Priya. Kat looked expectantly at Priya. "Didja win?" She asked.

Priya didn't say anything, but nodded. The other team came off the field looking quite pissed. They were OBVIOUSLY preps; by the way they dressed in all pink and white.

One of them (a blond) was staring at Kat's purple hair and black outfit. She kind of whispered to her friend and pointed and they both giggled.

Kat turned her head to them glaring. "...can I HELP you?" She asked narrowing her green eyes.

They shook their heads, but one of them answered: "Where did you get you're hair done?" She asked.

Kat blinked. "...I did it myself..." She said.

"But were did you get the dye?" She asked

Kat smirked. "...Hot Topic...why?" She asked.

"Eh no reason..." She said. She then turned back to one of the other preps, Jessica. "Total loser alert; going Goth...I mean c'mon! Hot Topic is a goth store!!" She said loudly.

Kat was getting pissed now. She was still oblivious to Zim sitting behind her, him also getting mad.

~*~*~*~*~*~*~*

A/N: HHEHEHEH IM EVIL! I COME BACK FROM THE DEAD AND THEN LEAVE IT AT A CLIFFY!!
BWAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!! And I hope you're happy now Elen! You've mad ANOTHER appearance!!

11 - Tennis Match Throw-Down!

Chapter 11: Tennis Match Throw-Down!

Zim didn't say anything, but just glared daggers at the preps, who were currently laughing their selves silly.

Kat ignored them now, focused on the Tennis matches going on. Sort of, getting herself psyched up.

Soon, her name was called and she was playing singles against THE MOST PREPPIEST PERSON ON THE ENTIRE PLANET. Kat cocked an eyebrow at the girl, who was dressed from head to toe in white and pink. Even her fingernails were pink with sparkles in them.

The girl eyed her as they came over to the net and shook hands. "Eh...nice fingernails..." Kat said pointing to them.

"OH, thank you!" She said in a squeaky voice that just wanted to make you throw up. "Nice...eh...hair..." She said stifling laughter.

Kat cocked an eyebrow but nodded thanks. As she walked back to the serving line, she murmured. "Freak..." She then served the ball, it going as fast as a jet plane, landing in the place where it would be 'in'.

The prep dodged for it, but missed. "HEY! NO fair!" She whined. "You were trying to hit me!" She said.

"The ball wasn't anywhere NEAR you..." Kat said narrowing her eyes.

The prep, whose name was Becky, (ick...*shudders*) glared at her. "Like, whatever...Let's just get on with it..." She said flipping her blond hair back.

Kat rolled her eyes and the game went on. In the end, Kat won, 6-0. When she walked off of the court, she rolled her eyes once more. "That was too easy...I feel bad for winning..." She said to Elizabeth.

"Ah don't worry... 'Twas decided before you even walked out there..." She said patting her on the back.

Kat nodded as Elizabeth offered her water. Kat shook her head. "No...I barely had to move around out there...That was less work than stretching..." She said. Becky on the other hand, was panting under a few umbrellas, while her 'followers' fanned her and poured water into her mouth and down her neck.

Kat smirked at her slightly. "I think she just joined for the skirts..." Kat murmured, referring to the tennis skirt that Becky had on. It was pink and white.

Elizabeth laughed when she saw the skirt and immediately covered her mouth. The announcer called her name up. "Aww...gotta go play...wish me luck, Kitty!" She said 'ruffling' Kat's hair.

Kat scowled. "Hey!!!" She laughed fixing her hair.

Kat walked outside and went home, followed by Dib.

A/N: heheheh MORE CLIFFIES...sort of...XD what will Dib do?? Stalk her? Tackle her?.....Throw an ice cube at her head?!?! Weeeelll....you'll all have to wait!! BWAHAHAHAHAHA!!! XD
