The air was chilly and moist Spring was here but everything was wet. Florida went outside to check on her pets. but these weren't ordinary pets. The hydra was asleep the kelpie was sheltered but she wondered if the griffin and her chicks were faring well in this weather. She entered the cave as she entered she noticed the griffins weren't there, she ran down the tunnel to her relief they were safe in depths of the cave. She headed back to the entrance there she saw her friend, Tara, Tara greeted Florida " how's Tiffany faring this weather could harm her chicks" asked Tara "I just checked they're fine" replied Florida "good, you can barley see in this weather" commented Tara. "We should get going a battle is about to start" said Tara " got it" Florida said. When they reached the island everyone was already preparing. " Hope you're ready" said Tara " I am" replied Florida. As they reached the shore dragons with cargo were taking off and they both hopped on. Upon reaching the other shore Tara and Florida twisted their necklaces which released the creatures they held, a giant snake and a dragon. When they landed Tara collapsed because of the pressure and her fractured leg but that didn't hold her back. The enemy kajites charged and they clashed with extreme force. Tara relied on her dragon to get to the city with many others including Sara, she made the creature holding necklaces. In the midst of the battle Daren found his friend, Clyde , on the ground Clyde told Daren to give the leather bag he had to his daughters that were captured five years ago when they reached the city because his leg was broken. Daren continued his way to the city where the dragons had the cargo holds for them to put the island's captured inhabitants on to take them back to the main island, they do not know the original name, as they finished the dragon flew back to the island as well as everyone else. Florida went to her old house that was rebuilt after the flood. Soon she would move her pets back here where they would be safe. After a while Clyde and Daren entered Daren's house with their daughters close behind. Sara came over " What a great day, we also got new snow on the mountains" Sara said. " lets go annoy the boys" Said Florida " they're guys " said Sara "does it matter?" replied Florida. Later on, " have you noticed the jails are more like houses, its like a compliment" said Sara " yea, its different" replied Florida". Tara was beside Florida. their long, black hair blowing in the wind " we should get to the forest its getting dark " Florida said suddenly they got three pomegranates and Florida's white dress then headed for the forest. They reached a hill, Florida had her white dress on, she walked to the top and started singing softly "ooo ni ni ooo ni ni " as she did so unicorns started coming out from the bushes and started eating the pomegranates and Florida slid off the loose coverings on their horns and put them in her basket then Tara and Florida headed home. The next day was the competition were the residents battle to see who's best. But I need to tell you about me some or you'll get confused first I'm actually one of the best at this competition I won last year's. The area is clover shaped one person is on one side the other on the larger portioned part the scoreboard is opposite of the onlookers. First Sarah and Florida were against each other Florida threw a large sphere and Sarah reacted by ducking but it was to late she was knocked into the extra heavy water and then walked up the ramp depressed. Next was me and Sasha , Sasha threw her sky diver even so it missed by an inch and came back, I dodged it and it backfired on Sasha. This is a really long competition so I'll just list the winners, me, Florida, Sasha (not Sasha Kalico), Sierra, Kevin, Aveira, and Terry. Each of the winners get a crystal skull each is different, but then a griffin crystal skull rose in front of Jessica, who was originally blind, she was surprised, she also knew she would be in the next round tomorrow. Jessica started training with Sasha, when they finished they rode a giant snake to their house Sasha told Jessica that David Kalheart began this competition when he fought against Jaden kimare this battle was real not like today Jaden was David's enemy. Jaden captured David's daughters, David got his daughters back one of which was blind like David, both regained their sight. Her name was Lillian and she's still here today she also won one of the competitions and stopped entering after that. " does that have something to do with me"? Asked Jessica " yes it does" replied Sasha.[br]

"Lila hurry!" "We need to get out of here now!" "lets go to the caves" Lila manages to say while going full speed "behind those pine trees" replies Casey "What was that?" asked Sarah "that was a wolf like no other, he was raised as a sled dog but just as his father had done he left, and intends to do what his father was not capable of, to overtake the island." said a voice "my name is Sasha" they then heard as a white tiger stepped out. "Follow me and you will be safe, we have to get to the island before he does but we must also find the rest of the resistance, we broke up when that wolf badly hurt my sister, Lisa". And the quest began.[br]
