1 - Metroid Prime: Eternity

Chapter A The War Begins

“The meeting will start after the President get here” said somebody in the room. I didn't care what he said. John and me are now Bounty Hunters, but like any other people in the room cared. We knew more about the suits we had on then the scientists in the room knew. The suit was called a “Transform suit” equipped with a Choose beam, Wish visor, Random Missiles, Miracle Grapple, and more. Each one of our suit were unique also. My suit was a “Space Time Continuum” suit and John's was the “Phazon Destructo” suit. All we would have to do is wait until the president arrived to get our first mission. I know for a fact that John was as excited as me. Suddenly the door burst open and I turned around to see if it was the president, and it was, but not in a good way. He was black from head to toe, with the exception of the blood-colored eyes. John and I knew it for a fact that the president was possessed by an Ing. He was holding a shotgun and when he loaded it in the room, a man walk up to him and said “Who in the world are you?” but before John or me could warn him, the Ing president had shot and killed him, and he loaded again and fired at me. Of course with the advanced suit, the bullets ricocheted off of me. I had no other choice but to shoot at the president before he shot anyone else, but unfortunately, we couldn't work our suit's because we never actually been inside of this suit before. We decided to take him on physically. I was the closest, so I took the initiative. I used my arm cannon to take out the Ing president, and I knock him out. The Ing within came out and exploded. After it did, a program appeared and possessed John and I. We were suddenly fused with the knowledge of the use of the suit and we were anxious to use them.

Chapter AA Practice

The next day, the president recovered from the Ing attack and told us to immediately start training. The scientists gave John and me individual assignments and we completed them with flying colors (ooooooooooooooooo, flying colors). Then we got our first assignment, which was to take out a group called The Killhoard gang, they had guns up the wazoo, but, after the shotgun blast I took, they knew that we wouldn't get killed. One of the scientists was, on the other hand, concerned, so he gave us each an Energy Tank, and our scanners started to read something.

Energy Tank acquired...
Increasing energy by 100...
Energy now at 199...

Then a short time later a jet arrived and took us to New York, our first mission was about to start, and I couldn't wait.

Chapter AAA The Killhoard Gang

After 3 hours of riding in the jet, we finally reached New York. We went on duty with no hesitation at all. Only after a few minutes after leaving the airport, we saw the Killhoard Gang surrounding a bunch of people. We could hear them from where we stood. Demands like ``Put the money in the bag and no one gets hurt" and ``All the valuables in this bag" and one other saying ``Everything that's valuable, don't sneak out on us!". We ran over and I shot one in the arm with the Ice beam, and his arm froze like an icicle. John moved all the defenseless people out and shot the baddys with the Liquid Nitrogen beam. They were perfect statues, but the guy with his arm frozen to the ground wasn't. I said ``Tell me were your boss is, and we won't kill you". He said ``No I'll never talk!". I signaled John to select a beam and shoot him unless he changed his mind in the next ten seconds. John chose the Phazon beam, but that is when disaster struck.

Chapter AE
Metroid Prime

Suddenly, there was a shattering of glass everywhere and, out of it all, stood Metroid Prime in Dark Samus form. He looked down at the Killhoard Gang member, brought up his gun, and shot him with an unknown beam and killed him. Then, he looked at us, and then jumped away, shooting everything in his path. We were about to chase after him when two Ing showed up. John and I both shot them with the Light Beam, except that I used True Light Beam, but it got the job done. I scanned the Killhoard Gang member and got readings of Phazonic substances within his body. I should have guessed. We chase down Phazonic readings and reports to trace Metroid Prime to an abandoned chemical factory. John scanned the building and brought up the sad report that dangerous chemicals were left behind in the factory. He also said that most of the chemicals combined together would create Phazon. This was bad, very bad. If Metroid Prime got his hands on more Phazon, the world may be in trouble.

Chapter E Dark Earth

We rushed into the factory to see Metroid Prime swirling different chemicals together in a huge vat. He looked at us and quickly shot his beam at us, and John and I were going in circles round and round, until we landed back into the factory, but not the same factory. This factory was much, much darker, indicating that Metroid Prime shot us here... and we really are a threat to him. John said, ``So this is Dark Earth. Luckily our suits are immune to the atmosphere."

Just then, an Ing came up from nowhere and swiped at me, knock me and my helmet to the ground. John quickly destroyed the Ing and went over to me and put my helmet back on swiftly.

I got up and took my helmet off again and said to John, ``The atmosphere in Dark Earth isn't that bad yet. The air is musty, but you could survive with your helmet off for a long while until Dark Earth has been here longer."

I put my helmet back on, scanned the atmosphere, and said, ``Yep, my scanners read that the atmosphere here is only 10% complete. It also says that When the atmosphere get to about 51% complete, that's when things get deadly, but I guess for now we're good." We started searching for a way out. John thought of shooting a wall and creating a portal. He attempted it, but failed. I brought up a map of the current area and saw something strange. I said, ``I'm getting strong energy readings from the far back of the factory. We should check it out".

We both headed toward the back of the factory to see the production of a Dark Metroid army. Run by a strange creature. I scanned it and found it was the Dark Metroid Queen. We had to act fast because she was she was using the strange energy source as reproduction and that energy was a Chaos Emerald!
