1 - The fading landscape

The Fading Landscape

The Cold blue water litten up by golden streaks of light.
The undying land of green is the resting place for the young moose who had strayed so far from there beautiful evergreen home. The soft blue mountains fading away behind the rolling in cotton-soft mist vanish into the land of trees.
The mountain wise and all seeing, stretches just high enough to touch the clouds then plunge back into the darkened land The white mist floating across the sky like a puff of smoke hiding part of the light blue clear sky. Never to reveal its true identity. Beauty is found in this landscape or can darkness be hiding in this work of art, could it be hiding silently behind the undying land....maybe but we will never know...just like everything else in the fading landscape.
