

Fighters of the Sun

By JohnJohnson138

Submitted: November 10, 2005

Updated: November 12, 2005

BoBoBo-Bo Bo-BoBo, Parco Folgore, Kanchome, Onpu Segawa, Pop Harukaze, and Goku form together as the Fighters of the Sun. They must find Cure Black and Cure White to fight Sherry and her Mamodo, Brago.

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/JohnJohnson138/22817/Fighters-of-Sun>

Chapter 1 - Beginnings	2
Chapter 2 - Discoveries and a Favor	4

1 - Beginnings

Fighters of the Sun

By John Johnson

Disclaimer: I am not the owner of any of the characters from various anime series. I do not know why, but still, I do not own them.

Beginnings

In those days when there is no early known history of existence, a man named BoBoBo-Bo Bo-BoBo, a master in hair martial arts, was sent to protect the Flying Horse of Queen Athena, which was destined to be set free by Parco Folgore and his mamodo, Kanhome. A young girl named Onpu Segawa was also trying to release the horse, while the martial arts fighter Son Goku and another girl named Pop Harukaze (Doremi's little sister) were to protect the horse.

Then one day, two villains, a young woman named Sherry and another mamodo named Brago, attempted to steal the horse, but Bo-BoBo and his friends thwarted them. However, they would not deter away from their plan. They decided to take over Queen Athena's kingdom of Saint Seiya without our heroes knowing. When Onpu found out about the plan, she told the others that the only way to defeat them was to find and call upon two legendary supernatural beings named Cure Black and Cure White, of whom she heard stories about. Therefore, Bo-BoBo, Folgore, Kanhome, Onpu, Pop, and Goku formed together to become the Fighters of the Sun.

The Fighters of the Sun were in Master Roshi's house where the veteran martial arts expert Master Roshi was to tell our heroes about Cure Black and Cure White.

"One, two, three, and ..." Kanhome counted The Seeds of Fate Athena gave them.

"Wait!" Pop said, taking the seeds away from him. "Don't play with those seeds! Athena said so."

"Pop's right, Kanhome; you wouldn't play with those seeds," Onpu agreed after Pop gave her the bag with the seeds.

"The Seeds of Fate may look like candy, Kanhome," Bo-BoBo said, "but they don't taste like candy, either."

"Hey, you guys, Master Roshi is about to tell us about Cure Black and Cure White," said Goku.

"Alright, I'll tell you about Cure Black and Cure White," Roshi said. "According to legend, Cure Black and Cure White were originally two people next in line to the Throne of the Moon. However, the council found out that they do not have the royal blood in them and they used their physical abilities instead of magical powers, so they exiled Cure Black and Cure White to a temple of their own on Highest Hill facing Saint Seiya; they are now protectors of the temple and the land. Those who tried to get to the Cure Temple on that hill cost themselves their lives.”

“Nice story, Master Roshi,” Onpu said, “but is there anything else you can tell us?”

“They have two mouse-like creatures who accompany them if they need them the most.”

“Thanks for the info, Master Roshi,” Folgore said. “Come, we must find Cure Black and Cure White before the sun sets.”

Our heroes are then set off to Highest Hill, so that they could find Cure Black and Cure White to help them protect Saint Seiya from Sherry and Brago.

2 - Discoveries and a Favor

Discoveries and a Favor

We now find our heroes at Highest Hill, where the Fighters were going to the Cure Temple where they will find Cure Black and Cure White to battle Sherry and Brago. Suddenly, Pop spotted something on a nearby pond.

“Hey, everybody, look!” Pop shouted. “What’s that thing floating on that pond over there?”

“Whatever it is we must bring it to the shore,” Bo-BoBo said. So the Fighters did so, but they found out that it was actually someone who nearly drowned!

“Goku, give this guy one of your Senzu beans,” Onpu suggested. Goku did as she said and once the stranger ate the bean, his eyes popped open.

“Oh good, now he’s awake,” Kanhome said, who was hiding behind Folgore.

“Where am I?” the stranger wondered. “And where is my straw hat?”

“Here’s your hat, sir,” Pop said, giving him his straw hat that she fished out of the pond.

“Uh, thanks.”

“Who are you, anyway?” Goku asked him.

“My name is Monkey D. Luffy, and I’m the future King of Pirates!” he introduced himself to the Fighters proudly. “Who are you?”

“My name is Bo-BoBo, and these are my friends Folgore, Kanhome, Goku, Onpu, and Pop. Together we are the Fighters of the Sun.”

“We were going to the Cure Temple to summon Cure Black and Cure White so they could help us battle Sherry and Brago,” Onpu added.

“How did you get here, anyway?” Folgore said.

“Well,” Luffy recalled, “I was with my crew looking for the One Piece as we always were and all of a sudden, a gust of wind carried me, my crew, and the Merry Go off the sea and I landed into this lake right in this hill, since I can’t swim because I ate the Gum-Gum fruit.”

“Boy, that’s one strong gust of wind,” Goku said.

“Hey, want to join the Fighters of the Sun, Luffy?” Kanhome asked.

“Alright, I’ll join your team,” Luffy said.

A few hours later, after Luffy joined the Fighters, our heroes have succeeded in finding the Cure Temple, despite the many dangers they faced.

“There it is, everyone,” Bo-BoBo said, “the legendary Cure Temple.”

“Now let’s go in!” an exited Kanhome said, but Onpu held him back.

“Wait! They must have put booby-traps inside that temple, so we go in with caution,” Onpu said.

“Good thinking, Onpu,” Bo-BoBo said. “Fighters, let’s move out!”

As our heroes entered the temple, two unknown beings were watching them from behind a rock. The first being had short brown hair and wore black clothing and the second being had long black-blue hair and wore white clothing. Both beings have a female appearance. Meanwhile, in the temple, the Fighters were still looking for Cure Black and Cure White.

“I wonder where they are,” Pop said.

“Maybe they left and they put in dummies,” Kanhome guessed.

“Very funny, Kanhome,” Onpu said.

Just then, the Fighters saw something move in the darkness.

“What was that?” Kanhome said.

“It could be a ghost or something,” Luffy replied.

“Alright, whoever you are, show yourselves,” Goku shouted.

From out of the shadows, our heroes then saw the two beings who were secretly watching them.

“I’m Cure Black,” the first being said.

“I’m Cure White,” the second being said.

“And together, we are Pretty Cure!” they both said aloud.

“We don’t want to attack you two, but you are Saint Seiya’s only hope,” Onpu managed to say.

“It’s too late for that now,” Cure Black said. “All the others before you have said that.”

“Tell us your names so that we won’t destroy you,” said Cure White.

“My name is Onpu, and this is Folgore, Kanhome, Pop, Bo-BoBo, Goku, and Luffy,” Onpu said. “Together we are the Fighters of the Sun.”

Both Cure Black and Cure White started to laugh. “It’s no laughing matter,” Bo-BoBo said. “Saint Seiya is in danger of being taken over by Sherry and Brago.”

“But we can’t go back to Saint Seiya because we don’t have the royal blood in us,” Cure White explained.

“We’ll get you two out of that temple, but on one condition,” Folgore said.

“And what’s that?”

“We need you to be incognito so that no one will know that you’re Pretty Cure. Understand?”

“We understand.”

“Good,” Onpu said. “Now let’s go back down to Saint Seiya.”