Chapter 1 - Inside Your Heart

1 - Inside Your Heart

Inside Your Heart

Alone
Inside this empty room
The stars are fading
There is nothing on the loom

Sleep now
Dream that the night will turn to day
The light is fading
You must chase the night away

Why is the dark
Able to overcome the light?
Why is the dark
Deeper than the blackest night?

Here in this room
So empty

Where is the night
That has gone?
What do you fear now?

Across the room
A bright sun rises
The day has come to light your way

The night has gone; the day is here
A beacon for you
Light is near

Alone
Inside your weary mind
The light is fading
You are always left behind

Hold close
To the memories inside
Your heart is aching
For the light you choose to hide

And you can give your heart light
Inside you

Where is the night
That has gone?
What do you fear now?

Across the room
A bright sun rises
The day has come
To light your way

The night has gone; the day is here
A beacon for you
Light is near
Inside your heart
