1 - A date?!

Kay walked into school.

"KAY-KUN!" a cheerful voice cried. She blinked and turned and then gasped as an energetic blonde boy hugged her. She quickly realized who it was and hugged him back.

"Hi, Momiji-kun."

"Wie gehtes?" he asked. She smiled and ruffled his hair.

"Sehr gut, danke. Und du?"

"Sehr sehr SEHR gut." She laughed.

"Das ist...sehr gut." He smiled.

"I missed you, Kay-Kun. So did Kisa."

"I missed all of you too."

"Especially Yuki?" Momiji asked with a smirk. Kay blushed.

"I missed you all equally."

"Sure."

"Ugh, fine...I missed Kisa the most."

"HEY!" Kay laughed and walked down the halls to her locker. She then bumped into a girl with long brown hair and brown eyes.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" they said in unison and bent down to pick up her books at the same time. This involved in them bumping heads very painfully. "Ow!" Kay smiled a bit.

"Hi, I'm Kay."

"I'm Jo." They shook hands. "My whole schedule got changed and my locker and, urgh, very irritating."

"Aw man, that seriously sucks."

"Eh, oh well. I got out of two retarded electives."

"Which ones?"

"Don't ask."

"Ok, I won't."

"Well, thanks for helping me out-Oh my God."

"What?" Jo sighed a bit as a guy with spiky purple hair and dark eyes walked by.

"Hi Dark." He looked at her and smiled a bit.

"Hey Jo." He walked away. She sighed.

"He's so hot."

"...um...right. I'll just agree with you."

"Hey, hands off. He's got enough fangirls and I don't need more competition."

"Oh, I know that feeling."

"You like Dark too?"

"...no..."

"Oh, ok."

"Yeah...well..."

"Hey Kay." She blinked and looked to see Yuki approaching her. At first she smiled, then round the corner came Seto Kaba and her face fell.

"Oh boy."

"Hi Kay-Chan!" She spun to see Maria, Kristen, Cat, Alex, and Jackie walking towards her. She looked back and forth.

"Too many friends at once!" she exclaimed. Jo just looked at her confused. Yuki walked up to her.

"Um...hey."

"Hi." She smiled and looked around nervously. It seems like a crowd had formed. Yuki rubbed the back of his head.

"Listen, Kay. Um, I know I've only been here for about two weeks and we didn't see each other because of that snow."

"Yeah, I vaguely remember that week..." she said with a light blush." Seto, right there. Oh God...

"Well...I know this is sudden, but would you like to go out sometime?"

"What?!" Seto, Alex, Cat, Jackie, Maria, and Kristen all exclaimed. Kay just blushed REALLY red.

"I-I..."

Aaa
aaand, I'm gonna end here. ^^ Yay for the cliffiness.
Remember, this story takes place right after "Kay's Gotten Sick." dunno when I'll update, I'll try to get ungrounded.

2 - Who do I choose?!

Another short chappie. I want to try and get two up today that get to the point so sorry if it is short.

"I...I..." The bell rang. "...gotta go." Kay took off running down the hall and nearly fell over her desk in Oral Interp. "OW!!!"

Cat walked in to see Kay hiding her face in a book.

"Kay, what was the deal with THAT?"

"The deal with what?" Anzu asked as she walked in the room.

"This new kid asked Kay out and as soon as the bell rang she took off running."

"What? no way. Who is he?"

"His name is Yuki. I knew him when we were little kids."

"So why didn't you say yes, Kay?"

"...."

"Ohh, because of Kaiba?" Cat teased.

"NO! Heck no, heck no, heck no, HECK NO!"

"I dunno..."

"What's going on now? What does Kaiba have to do with this?" Anzu asked.

"Kay likes him."

"I DO NOT!"

"...her denial only proves it." Kay banged her fists on her desk.

"Just because someone denies something DOES NOT make it true."

"Then don't make a big deal out of this."

"I MAKE A BIG DEAL OUT OF EVERYTHING!"

The day passed by gradually. Kay avoided Seto, Yuki, and nearly all of her friends. She only confided with Tiffany, Duke, Jo, and Miho, who knew very little about all of this.

During lunch, she ran off campus, past everyone and was out of sight before they could even stand up. She doubled over, panting, and called a cab. It came and took her to the museum where Ishizu was waiting.

"Thank you for coming, Miss Simms. We found the violet gem, but sadly enough, like you said, you do not know the yami who can be freed with that gem."

"Yeah."

"...are you alright?"

"Wha? Yeah, I'm fine."

"...you're lying."

"...why do you all keep doing that?"

"Well, I'm all ears if you need to rant." Kay sighed.

"Ok, this guy I liked when I was younger moved here. And he asked me out today."

"Mmm-hmm."

"BUT I'm in love with someone else. However, I don't know if I even have a shot with him, and I still kind of like Yuki, just not as much. So I don't know who to choose or what to even do."

"Wow, that is a problem."

"Yeah. And I can't tell any of my friends because if they knew who I was in love with they'd never let me live it down, and if it gets around school, I am literally going to be killed."

"Does this guy have fangirls?"

"How'd you guess?" Kay asked dryly. Ishizu smiled a bit.

"I'm lucky."

"What do you think I should do?"

"Tonight, take a long walk on the beach when the sun is setting. Make sure nobody goes with you. And just relax and think about it. You will figure out the better way to go." Kay smiled and bowed.

"Thank you, Miss Ishtar. Let me know when you find the other gems."

"I shall. Are you hungry, by the way? I was preparing to go and get some lunch." Right at the end of that sentence, Kay's stomach growled and she blushed.

"I will take as a personal yes." Ishizu laughed.

"Follow me."

Another day of school ended. Kay went home and changed out of her uniform. She had quit working at the fashion company because Seto paid her enough money for babysitting. She changed into a white tank top, a white jacket, and some jeans and sandals. Then she finished up her homework and ate a quick dinner.

The sun was starting to set when she left for the beach. It was such a beautiful atmosphere. The sky was orange and the water reflected the final ways of sunlight. Kay hugged herself and trodded slowly down the sand. She was completely alone, except for the distant sound of two or three seagulls and the slow tide.

She closed her eyes and remember her childhood with Yuki. The day they had first met.

Kay was running to get home and she rounded a corner and crashed right into a person.

"Ow!" They both fell over. She looked.

"I'm so sorry, I didn't see you." She helped him up.

"It's ok."

"Hey, my name is Kay. What's yours?" she asked.

"Um... Yuki."

"You're the first kid my age I've ever seen around here."

"I am?" She nodded.

"I just moved here. Want to come over and play sometime?"

"I am not sure..."

"Why not?" she asked.

"Um...well...you see..." She blinked. "...sure, I'd like to come play sometime." She smiled.

"Great. Let's meet here tomorrow at noon, ok?"

"Ok."

"See you tomorrow, Yuki!" she called, waving as she ran off.

Kay smiled at the memories of playing with Yuki flashed through her mind. She remembered when she had hugged him and he had transformed.

"Yuki?! Where are you?!" Kay cried as she dug around his clothes on the ground. She soon found a small, silver rat and gasped. "Yuki?!" He hung his head.

"So...now you know."

"You can talk?!" she squeaked. He nodded. "That...IS SO COOL!" He looked up at her in surprise.

"You mean...you're not scared of me?"

"Why would I be scared? I think it's cool."

"Well...last time people found out about me turning into a rat...their memories were erased..."

"Oh...well...can we still be friends?"

"You wouldn't mind being friends with someone like me?"

"Of course not. Yu're really nice. I like you, Yuki. I want to stay friends."

And so they stayed friends. Kay learned about the Zodiac curse. All was well, until...

Yuki was running down the sidewalk. He had overslept. Today of all days HE OVERSLEPT! When he rounded the corner, he saw the car starting to drive away.

"KAY!" She pressed her hands to the glass window and saw him. Tears were running down her face.

"Yuki!" He chased the car. She opened the window and threw something out at him. He caught it. It was a keychain made of blue and gray beads with his name on it. "Don't forget about me, Yuki!" she yelled out the window.

"I won't Kay!" he yelled. The last thing he saw was her hand waving to him out the window and then the car was gone. He looked at the keychain in his hand and then walked home slowly.

Kay looked up at the sky.

"Is Yuki coming back a sign I should be together with him?" she asked.

Then her thoughts focused on Seto. When she thought of him, her feelings were so strong she felt like she would drown in them. Yuki make a slight tingle form in her stomach and it make her heart beat a bit faster. Thinking of Seto made it feel like there was fire and ice inside of her.

A burning feeling and a sharp jolt but it felt good. There was no way to describe how he made her feel. It was not simple, it was very complicated, just like he was.

Why did she love him? Not because he was rich or handsome, no. Because she saw the heart he kept hidden beneath the icy barrier. She had seen his more sensitive side. She had spilled her heart to him, and he had spilled his heart to her.

She knew he was not the cold, evil, ruthless businessman everyone saw. She was seeing more of what Mokuba saw; a brilliant, artistic, loving big brother who felt lost in the world like everyone else.

And she loved him, more than anything else in this world. Adelinda was not the only reason she was in Domino, the Kaiba brothers were her other reason. They completed her heart, which had been growing more afraid to really open up.

She was scared of being hurt and rejected. Kay had always been that way. When she was with Seto, although she was scared to admit how she felt, he made the fear seem to vanish along with the pain of the past.

But...it was time to face reality. He was perfect, and she was not. He had the affections of so many other girls. Girls far smarter, prettier, sweeter, and more talented than she could ever hope to be. Yuki was here and he wanted to go out with her. Maybe she was not even meant to be with Seto.

She was not willing to lose the awkward friendship they had. She wanted to be with him, even if that meant bottling up her feelings. She did that already. She bottled up sadness and pain. She could hide love too, right?

Kay sat down in the sand and looked up at the stars above.

What would she choose? The cold truth of reality or the possibility of real love?

DAMN that was corny. But I had fun writing this chappie. Now you know what happened in the past with Kay and Yuki. Let me see if chappie three can be finished today. If not, I'll post it as soon as Oma gives me more ocputer time. BYEZ! XP

"Yeah Mokuba?"

"Do you know what's wrong with Seto?"

"No, why?"

"He's been sulking." Kay shrugged. "...you seem happy?"

"Well, I got a boyfriend."

"WHAT?" It had been a week. Kay and Yuki had gone out and decided to be an official couple because...well...because.

"What's the matter?"

"You can't have a boyfriend! You and Seto are supposed to be together." Kay sighed and massaged her temples.

"Mokuba. Don't think because Kaiba and I are friends that we are necessarily going to start dating. I like your brother, but only as a friend. I'm still going to be around if you think me dating someone else means I won't have time for you."

"But I want you and Seto to get together."

"why?"

"Because he needs someone like you in his life." Kay smiled a bit.

"Mokie, your brother has so many girls who like him. And most of them are better than I will ever be. So if he wanted someone in his life, I'm sure he would have found her."

"Whatever..."

Kay sighed.

"I'm sorry..."

"Love just could not beat reality."

Not THAT was short. I dunno hy I wrote this chappie, really. But oh well. I hopw you liked it.

4 - Jealousy and Kisses

*"Your cruel device
your blood, like ice
One look, could kill
My pain, your thrill..."*

*I wanna love you but I better not touch
I wanna hold you, but my senses tell me to stop
I wanna kiss you but I want it too much
I wanna taste you but your lips are venomous poison
Your poison running through my veins
Your poison
I don't wanna play these games*

*Your mouth, so hot
Your web, I'm caught
Your skin, so wet
Black lace, on sweat*

*I hear you calling and it's needles and pins
I wanna hurt you just to hear you screaming my name
Don't wanna touch you but you're under my skin
I wanna taste you but your lips are venomous poison
Your poison running through my veins
Your poison
I don't wanna break these chains*

*Running deep inside my veins...
Poison burning deep inside my veins...*

*One look, could kill
My pain, your thrill..."*

*I wanna love you but I better not touch
I wanna hold you, but my senses tell me to stop
I wanna kiss you but I want it too much
I wanna taste you but your lips are venomous poison
Your poison running through my veins
Your poison
I don't wanna play these games,*

Poison.

"Do they have a tunnel of love here?" Kay asked.

"No and I'm glad I never built one. The last thing I need is a bunch of love struck teenagrs making out on one of my rides." Kay spun to see Seto and Mokuba.

"Kaiba-kun? Mokie-kun?"

"What about the ferris wheel?" Jo asked.

"I'm getting that taken down. That's only here for the opening week."

"Well, let's hurry while it's still up, Dark." He blushed a little.

"R-really?"

"No, I'm just kidding around with you."

"Ohh, ok."

"Why? Would you not want to make out with me?"

"N-no! I mean, it's not that. I mean-" Kay sighed and sweatdropped.

"Jo, you're even more hopeless than me."

"And what does THAT mean?" she demanded.

"If you don't know than you will never discover the answer."

"...what?"

"I dunno. I just felt like talking in a sage voice." (XD)

"...ok then..."

"Right."

"Kay, why have you set us all up." She fell over.

"KRISTEN! Come ON! It's so friggin obvious! Ok, Yugi do you like Kristen? Of course you do. Kristen do you like Yugi? Absolutely. Now hook up, kiss, get married, have kids, and live happily ever after. The end. My job here is done." Kristen and Yugi were both blushing.

"KAY! What makes you think I like Yugi?"

"You mean you don't?" Yugi asked, looking a little disappointed.

"What? Wait, I DO like you Yugi."

"Really?" he perked up. Kristen blushed a little and nodded.

Kay snickered. "I'll let you two hook up in peace while I get us all some soda. Yuki, make sure they don't go anywhere." Kay walked away. Seto glared a little at Yuki.

Yuki, on the other hand, smiled politely.

"It's nice to meet you, Mr. Kaiba. Kay has told me so much about you?"

"Like what?" he asked.

"..like you're a really great boss and you are really nice. Oh, and how she admires you for being a genius and stuff like that. I think she idolizes you. And Mokuba, she tells me you're the best kid to babysit."

"Yup!" Mokuba said, smiling. Seto frowned a bit.

"Funny, because Kay does not often mention you, Sohma." Yuki shrugged.

"We've only been dating for a little while." Seto glared slightly, but not in a way that was very noticeable. Mokuba's watchful little eyes noticed it, however. "You have quite a nice theme park here, Mr. Kaiba."

"Thank you. It took a long time to design it and build it."

"I imagine as much." His fist clenched.

"Hi guys!" Kay greeted cheerfully. She handed them each a soda, including Seto and Mokuba.

"Aw, thanks Kay-Chan."

"Sure think, Mokie." She ruffled Mokuba's hair and he smiled.

"Well are we gonna ride some rides or what?" Jo asked.

"Heck yeah!" Kay said. They high fived. "Time to find the fastest, highest roller coaster imaginable."

"you're kidding..." Yugi, Yuki, and Dark all said.

"NO WAY!" the girls yelled. They ran off. The three boys sighed.

"So, Dark?" Yugi asked.

"Yeah?"

"Do you like Jo or what?" he asked. Dark blushed slightly and nodded.

"Mmm-hmm, but I think she likes someone else."

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, I overheard her talking to her friends that she's crazy about some guy."

"How do you know it's not you?" Yuki asked. Dark shrugged. Seto rolled his eyes.

"Listen to you pathetic morons, blabbing about love and crap. You sound so pathetic." Yugi frowned.

"Kaiba, surely enough you've liked a girl before."

"Nope. Never liked anyone. Romance is pointless, a waste of time and energy. It's also a distraction."

"Seto, you know you like-"

"I don't like anyone, Mokuba. At least, not like that."

"Can we hang out with Kay-Chan today?"

"Why?"

"...just...because."

"...fine." Mokuba smiled.

So, they all hung out. The girls mostly rode the big roller coasters. Kay rode more than anyone. She did not get the least bit sick. Jo felt dizzy after a few of them and Kristen almost got sick.

Soon, it was getting late.

They walked to the park exit. Yugi fiddled with his thumbs.

"Um...Kristen?" She stopped and looked at him.

"Yeah." Yugi was blushing like crazy.

"I-I've been wondering. W-would you like...to go out on a date sometime?" he asked.

Kay squealed. "Finally!" Kristen blushed too and she nodded.

"Uh-huh." Yugi smiled and kissed her quickly on the cheek. Kristen hugged him and he hugged her back.

Kay swooned and Yuki caught her.

"You ok?" She smiled up at him and nodded.

"Yeah. I've just been waiting for Yugi to ask Kristen out since the first day of school."

"I see." Dark and Jo smiled at the couple.

"They're so cute!" Jo said. Dark nodded.

"Yeah. Almost like little kids."

"Well, I should head home."

"I can drive you."

"OK. Bye guys." Jo and Dark walked away.

"I'll bet twenty bucks they make out."

"Mmm-hmm."

"Do you guys want us to drive you home?" Mokuba asked. Seto glared daggers at him for offering.

"That'd be nice."

"Actually, my grandpa is picking us up." Kristen nodded.

"Ohhh, I SEE!" Kay said, smirking. They both blushed.

"Don't get the wrong idea!" they yelled in unison. She snickered.

"Whatever."

"Yuki, Kay? Yout wo need a ride."

"If it's ok."

"Seto?"

"...whatever."

"That's a yes."

"Bye Yugi, bye Kristen." They walked away with Seto and Mokuba then went in the limo.

They pulled up outside of Kay's apartment.

Yuki and Kay both got out.

"Bye you two."

"Bye!" They drove away. Yuki walked Kay up to the steps.

"You sure you want to walk home?" she asked. He nodded.

"It's fine."

"Ok. Goodnight, Yuki."

"Night Kay." She kissed him on the cheek. Then he surprised her by leaning in a gain and brushing his lips to hers. She closed her eyes and started to kiss him back.

Then, she heard a car door slam and pulled away to see the limo speeding off and her purse dropped on the sidewalk. She bit her lip as she realized what had just happened then walked slowly to retrieve her purse.

"I...should go, Yuki." He nodded and she walked into her apartment then ran up the steps and into her room and started sobbing into her bed.

What was she doing? Everything was getting messed up! Her friendship with Seto and Mokuba had nothing but tension now! Would SOMETHING go right please?

HUZZAH! My update. I hope you liked it as much as a I think I did. WHEE!

5 - Anger and Hate, Love and Regret

At this point, it's almost been another month. February was just around the corner.

Kay and Alex had their lunch off campus.

"So, how are things with you and Yuki?" Alex sked, sipping some of her Sprite.

"Great. Thanks for asking." Kay smiled.

"And...things with you and Kaiba?" she asked.

"What do you mean?"

"You two seem to be avoiding each other." Kay's eyes saddened.

"I don't know...he and I have hardly spoken in a month. Ever since we went to the theme park. I...I think he's mad at me."

"You know what I think?"

"What?"

"I think he's jealous."

"Alex-"

"Just, hear me out. Ever since you and Yuki started dating, Kaiba has been very irritable and sulky."

"Alex, I do love him, like a brother. And I think he loves me like a sister. He might just be worried I'm dating the wrong guy or it will interfere with me babysitting Mokuba."

"Kay, quit lying to yourself. You like him, I know you do. I've seen the way you look at him. And the way you smile when he's around you. I swear, when you and Kaiba are together, you are happier than ever. You like him, Kay, more than you like Yuki or any other guy on this Earth."

"You can think whatever you want, Alex."

"I know it's true." Kay stirred her straw in her drink.

"It's not."

"Well, what if I date him?"

"Huh?"

"Well, he is good looking AND rich."

"ALEX! THAT is so shallow of you. There is more to him than looks and wealth."

"Ohhh? Like...what, exactly?"

"Like the fact that he's the smartest guy you'll ever meet who is very artistic and creative. And he's sensitive, kind, passionate, romantic-"

"Somebody's in love." Kay automatically blushed.

"No! I am not!"

"Kay, I'm not gonna tell anyone. You can trust me, I'm your best friend." Kay closed her eyes and bowed her head, face red.

"...fine...I do love him, more than I ever loved anyone. At first I didn't know what it was, but I felt strange around him. And...as I got to know him more, I just started feeling stranger and I finally know why." She looked Alex in the eyes. "I...just love him." Alex smiled softly but her eyes were sad.

Kay covered her face with her hand and shook her head.

"But...there's no hope with him. Now he hates me, and I don't even know why."

"Kay, he does not hate you. Maybe he's jsut worried right now, about you dating. It's something new. Maybe he's bad at accepting change." Kay looked up, tears running down her cheeks.

"Think so?" Alex nodded.

"I really do." Kay wiped her eyes.

"...maybe I should break it off with Yuki. I like him, but more like family than someone to be romantic with. And he's moving away in a month."

"Why not stay with him until he moves?"

"Yeah. He was my childhood sweetheart after all. And I admit he's a nice boyfriend. Thanks Alex."

"No problem." Kay hugged her.

"Well, we should probably head back to school."

"Yeah."

She asked for a suite and went into the large room. It was a lovely suite. She sighed and dropped her bag. Well, this was her home for the weekend. And nobody would bother her.

Her need to regroup was really high. Kay fell back onto the bed and sighed. She reached into her bag and took out a picture she had of Seto and Mokuba. It brought tears to her eyes.

"I still love him..." she said sadly. "I'm sorry for whatever I did to make you hate me so much, and I wish I could undo it." She hugged the picture to her heart. "I'll keep you two close in my heart..." she whispered.

"Maybe I should have called Alex and told her I was leaving for the weekend..." Kay said. She rolled over and took the phone and dialed the number.

A few rings, and then a sleepy voice answered.

"Hello?"

"Hi Alex..."

"Kay?!"

"Yeah."

"Oh my God, where are you?! Mokuba came over here looking for you."

"I'm sorry. I'm going to be out of town for the weekend."

"What?!"

"Sorry, Alex. I just need to be alone for a while."

"...well, ok. Thanks for calling me. Want to talk to Mokuba? He's spending the night."

"Sure."

"Ok, I'll go and wake him up."

"Alright."

"Kay-chan?"

"Hi Mokie-kun."

"Kay, please don't go away. I'm sure Seto didn't mean what he said."

"He sounded pretty serious to me."

6 - Reunited

The weekend passed by slowly. Mokuba went home to the mansion but Seto was not there.

He had no idea where Seto was. Kaiba Corp was closed for the weekend, according to the employees.

Alex offered Mokuba a place to stay for the weekend and so Mokuba stayed with her. It was pretty gloomy weekend. Nobody really felt like doing much at this point.

Kay rode the train back to Domino late on Sunday night. When she walked into her apartment, Mokuba was sleeping on her couch. She blinked and then smiled at him.

"Mokie?" she whispered, shaking him a little. He slowly opened his eyes.

"Kay!" He jumped awake and hugged her. "You're back! I missed you, Kay-Chan."

"Aw." She hugged him back. "I missed you too."

"Kay, I can't find Seto anywhere. He's gone. None of the Kaiba Corp. employees even know where he could be."

"Don't worry, Mokie, we'll find him. Hey, tomorrow I'll help you look for him after school, ok?"

"Ok..."

"Where have you checked?"

"The mansion and I went to Kaiba Corp. but it was locked. It's been closed since Friday."

"Wow...this IS serious. Did he go out of town?"

"I don't know. I don't think so. He would have told me." Kay sighed.

"Well, we should get some sleep."

"Ok."

"Want to sleep in the guest room or do you want to sleep with me?"

"Can I sleep with you?" Kay nodded. She changed out of her jeans into some sweatpants and left on her T-shirt. They both crawled into bed and she hugged Mokuba comfortingly.

"Good night, Mokie."

expression. The only differences in their faces was their bangs and the younger girls' lack of the scar Kay had.

Her clothes were pretty old and a little ripped up. Kay's hand dropped to her side.

"Adelinda?" she managed to say. Adelinda nodded and smiled. Kay ran over to her and hugged her, crying for about the millionth time that week, but this time crying out of happiness. "Adelinda, Adelinda. Sie sind schließlich rückseitig. Danken Sie Gott, den Sie sicher sind. Mein kleiner Schwester."

Adelinda hugged Kay back. "Ich vermißte Sie, Kay." Kay held her out at arm's length.

"Wie erhielten Sie zurück hier, Adelinda?" she asked. Adelinda pointed and Kay looked to see Seto standing there, watching them.

"Herr Kaiba speicherte mich."

"Kaiba?" Kay said. Adelinda nodded. "Wartezeit hier, bitte." Adelinda nodded. Kay walked over to Seto. "Hi."

"Hi."

"Kaiba...how in the world can I ever thank you for bringing Adelinda back?" she whispered.

"Accept my apology. I didn't mean what I said to you, Kay." He sighed. "I honestly don't know why I said all of that to you. I guess....I was upset and venting out my frustration on you."

"Frustration? Have you been having problems at work?" she asked.

"No, no. Please, don't worry about it. Anyway, I don't know if you are still interested, but I still want you to babysit Mokuba. If you don't want-"

"Yes!" she said quickly. "But I have one condition."

"Which is?"

"Adelinda is going to be enrolled in Mokuba's school. Roland picks up Mokuba, right? Can he pick up Adelinda too?"

"Of course."

"Then it's settled. When do you need me, boss?" she asked.

"Tomorrow afternoon." Kay saluted.

"Done and done." A loud squeal filled their ears. "Sounds like Alex found Adelinda. Better go and make sure she does not hug her to death. Alex!" Kay ran back over.

Seto felt himself smile a little. Something was wrong with him. Was she a witch casting some sort of spell on him? Or was it something else?

Well, he was pretty happy she had forgiven him. And lucky. Admittedly, he wondered why she had forgiven him so easily. Oh well.

And....the sappiness continues. Oh well. One more chappie to go.

7 - Love Wins in the End

Kay's eyes fluttered open and she groaned and hit the off button on her buzzing alarm clock. She yawned and sat up.

"Kay-Chan!" Adelinda ran into her room and jumped on her bed to hug her. "Good morning!"

Kay smiled and hugged her back. "Good morning to you, Addy-Chan. I'll go and get breakfast started. What would you like?"

"Waffles."

"Waffles it is." Kay got out of bed and went into the kitchen. Well, today was the day. She had to end it with Yuki.

For the past week, she had not been able to look him in the eye. Her heart knew it was not right to be with him. Even if the chances of her and Seto being together were zero to none, she just could not be with someone else.

She did not love Yuki, and it was not worth it to lie to him. He was her friend, and she knew that was all he would ever be to her. Kay twisted her hair up in a messy bun, applied her make up, and put on her uniform.

Well, time to go. She walked with Adelinda to her elementary school where Mokuba was waiting.

"Hey Mokuba."

"Hi Kay. Hi Adelinda." She smiled at him and he blushed a little. "Well, first day of school for you is here, huh?"

"Yeah. I'm a little nervous."

"Don't worry. I'll be here to help you out."

"Keep her out of trouble, Mokie."

"Can do." Kay smiled and kissed Adelinda on the cheek and hugged her.

"Have a good first day."

"I will. Good luck with Yuki, Kay-Chan." She sighed and stood up.

"Yea,h I need luck." ^ she walked away. Mokuba was confused.

"What'd she tell you?!" Kay asked, looking a little panicked.

"About you and Yuki." Kay sighed with relief.

"Oh, ok."

"You ok?"

"Yeah. But I guess breaking up normally puts you in a glum mood...at least, I'm gonna assume so. He was my first boyfriend."

"Really?"

"That so shocking?"

"Mildly. I thought, for some reason, you've had a few boyfriends." Kay shook her head.

"Nope! I've been single for most of my life. I don't like the idea of dating someone just because of physical attraction, which is how most people start. I want to like them for them."

"Ah, I see. So...why did you break up with Yuki?"

"Well...promise you won't let it spread?"

"Cross my heart."

"I love someone else." Seto felt his heart stop in his chest.

"You do?" he asked, trying not to sound defeated. She nodded.

"Yeah...whenever I'm with him...wow." She put her hands to her heart. "He's everything I've been looking for." Seto tried not to show his dismay.

"Well...I'm happy for you. I hope it works out for you and him." She sighed.

"I don't think it will."

"Why?"

"A lot of other girls like him. And all of them are so much more beautiful and talented than me."

"I find that hard to believe."

"What?"

"Nothing."

"Ok."

"Kay, don't waste your time comparing yourself to other girls. It's a waste of time."

"You sound like you talk from experience."

"Ok, I'm keeping your secret, you keep mine."

"Done."

"I am talking out of experience." Her eyes widened.

"No."

"Yeah. I like this girl, and couple of other guys like her and she was dating someone else. At first I compared myself to her boyfriend, but it only made me angry." Kay gasped.

"So THAT'S why you were frustrated the other day." Seto nodded. Her heart sank. She automatically thought of-Minako. She had started dating a guy. Seto liked her. Well, what was there to be expected? Although Kay could not stand Minako, she admitted that Minako was very beautiful and made the blonde look plain.

"Kaiba, you can beat out anyone you want to."

"I'll take that as a compliment."

"I think I know who you like...and you can beat out her boyfriend."

"I...can?" he said, very confused. Kay nodded.

"Minako is nuts about you."

"Minako?! Ew, no. I can't stand her."

"What? I thought-"

"Oh, no. She's such a snob. The girl I like is much sweeter and way more beautiful." Kay blinked. Ok, NOW who was he talking about?! She concluded that she did not know the girl.

She took his hand and kissed his knuckles. "There, that's for good luck." He blushed a little.

"It...was?" Kay nodded.

"My mom always used to kiss our hands for luck."

"I see." Ok, was it natural for skin to burn a little in a spot where someone's lips touched it? "Well then." He took her hand and kissed the back of it. "Good luck to you too."

She smiled but a pink was starting to paint her face. "Thanks."

"HELLO!" Alex said, hitting Kay on the back. Unfortunately, she hit her bit too hard and Kay and Seto hit heads and blushed bright red then jumped away. "Well, you two sur look like you're getting cozy."

"Wha-" Kay blushed even redder, if that was possible. "NO! It's nothing like that!" she cried, waving her hands.

"Sure, whatever. But it's time for you two lovebirds to stop making out and go back to school."

"WE DID NO SUCH THING!" they both yelled.

"Aw, calm down. You know I'm just messing with you." Kay sighed and went to pay her bill and then the three walked out of the restaurant. Kay's face was still red.

"I cannot BELIEVE Alex pushed me like that. I swear, I think I accidently KISSED him. Aw man, not the way I wanted my frist kiss with him to go down, but better then nothing. And...he was so adorable the way he was blushed. Wow...Seto and...wait, Seto? Aw, it's my thoughts. I can call him what I want. Seto and the word adorable in the same sentence. What a change...but he is so cute when he blushes."

She smiled to herself.

"I see how he and Mokuba are related. They can both be so cute."

"C'mon, Kay. I'll race you back to school."

"You're on." Alex and Kay took off running. Seto watched them go and lightly touched his mouth. When Alex had hit Kay, her mouth hit his, but only for a minute. This had been their second "kiss." The first was when she had been sick, and here was the second.

But...he had to admit, she was pretty cute flustered. And besides, those two kisses were probably the only ones he'd ever have with her. Well, at least he had something to remember. He needed to get over this girl. She was making him soft, and that was not how he was supposed to be. She was jsut another girl, simple enough to forget.

But a little voice in his head chided, "Liar."

And so the romance continues. ^^ Well, the next story is when the Yamis will be freed from their items/Hikaris. How great is that? Here's the story link.
