1 - Intro

Who are you? Why are we here? How did we get here? Where is here?
You will soon meet your fate.

“Luigi. Wake up. Your pancakes are going to get cold.” Mario said pushing Luigi. Luigi just seemed to roll over and moan. “fine. But if you don’t have the pancakes in your hand in 5 minutes, I’m eating them.” Mario said walking out of Luigi’s room. “fat pig.” Luigi said to himself, sitting up. He yawned, and rubbed his eyes. He didn’t want to get dressed, so he just got off his bed, and went to the bathroom. Luigi looked in the mirror. He pet his bedhead of hair, and stared at his unruly mustache. He took his bright green toothbrush, and Mint flavored toothpaste, and tried to brush his teeth. He spit his toothpaste gunk out of his mouth, and rinsed with some water. He wobbled out of the bathroom, not caring about his hair. He found his way to the kitchen. His eye’s catching on Mario, who was standing near the table, sipping some coffee. “I wondered if you were going to show.” Mario said drinking his coffee, and smiling. Luigi blew some hair out of his face, and grabbed his pancakes, with a fork, and headed for the couch. He sat down, and flipped the TV on.

Anti-Cosmo who was in a whole different world, and dimention. Was sitting on his bed, reading a book about, ‘101 different ways to torcher people you know.’ He smiled at every different way he read, knowing he could do all these to Nega-Timmy, his annoying evil ruler in training, godchild. “this is boring. Watching you read is not amusing, or fun in any way. Can we blow up some houses or, something?” Nega-Timmy asked. He was sitting in front of Anti-Cosmo’s bed, full of bordem. Anti-Cosmo looked up from his book. “like I said 2 seconds ago. No. you have to learn to be patchen, and find other things to do.” Anti-Cosmo said starting to continue reading. Nega-Timmy sighed.

“don’t you think that you should have a, like servant with super powers too?” Tucker asked, toying with some weird gaget that his friend’s parents made. “they’re GHOST powers.” Sam said annoyed. “hey, take a chill pill Sam. And yeah, I would love a servant with powers.” Danny said sipping on a smoothie. Sam crossed her arms, frowning. Danny seemed to always have to stop what he was doing, and save Amity Park from ghosts. He had a hard life for a 14-year old. Sam and Tucker were his best friends, and his partners in saving the world. “what do you want to do?” Tucker asked. “I dunno.” Danny said shrugging, sipping his smoothie. “how ‘bout we go to the SuperMarket?” Danny asked, getting up from his chair. “sure.” Tucker said, turning his head to Sam. She smiled.

A little blue creature pulled a yellow one out of the water. The yellow one coughed a little, and shook itself dry. A whistle played in the background. The creatures ran towards the sound. “ok, everyone’s here, right? I’m not missing any Pikmin?” Olimar, the leader of the pikmin, and the one who blew the whistle, was gathering half of the 100 pikmin. Louie, his partner, was gathering the other 50. Louie, he couldn’t find the last little white pikmin, and it would be dusk any minute. He blew his whistle running around with the other 49 following him. “white pikmin!” he yelled. He looked behind every rock, around every flower. One of the little green pikmin tapped him. He pointed over to where a black one was standing. “you mean I’m missing a black one?” Louie asked his pikmin. An orange one called from the back of the group. “it would appear so! All the white ones are here!” the orange one yelled. Louie sighed. He whistled, and the black one walked to join up with them.

Meghan and Gillian were playing a video game. Meghan found it quite depressing, because they had to destroy an evil villain. Which reminded her of Anti-Cosmo. Gillian found it fun, and amusing. Eventuly, Meghan stopped playing. "why'd you stop?" Gillian asked. Meghan looked the other way. Seeming sad, lonely, and alone. "oh. Does this remind you of... him?" Gillian asked, pausing. Meghan nodded. Gillian looked down at her bed. "I'm sorry." She said looking back up. Meghan shook her head, her eye's closed. "I'm going inside my house." She said poofing into her little ferret home. Gillian watched her walk in, and continued her game, when Meghan was not in sight.

2 - The First SuperMarket Visit.

Danny and his friends walked into the supermarket, breathing in the air of foods, and school supplies. And everything in between. "I always loved Supermarkets." Tucker said smiling. "I'll be in gothic clothing section." Sam said walking off. "electronics, find me if you need me." Tucker said running off. Danny seemed to just want to check out the food. He found his way to the fruit section, and found a bunch of foods he never even heard about. Like Grapefruit, and blood orange. Who would name anything that? He asked himself. He laughed to himself about it. He bought himself some olives, bananas, and oranges. Three of his favorite fruit, things. He seemed to feel like he should find Sam first. He found his way into the gothic section. "Sam? Sam... Sam?" he called, holding his grocery bag. He found Sam looking through depressing black, dresses. "Sam?" he asked walking up. "huh? Oh, Danny!" she said flipping the dress she was holding behind her. "I know that's a dress Sam. You ready to go?" he asked smirking. Sam put the dress back on the rack. "yeah, lets go get Tuck." She said joining Danny to find Tucker. "Tuck!" "Tucker!" the two yelled in the aisles. "what?" he asked popping his head from a different aisle. "are you ready to go?" Danny asked. Tuck nodded, joining the two. "did you guys have fun?" Danny asked, exiting out the door. Sam and Tucker nodded. Danny smiled.

3 - Memories

Meghan sat in her house, boreder than bored. She sighed and scanned the room. TV, no. computer, no. Rover, no. books, n-. Meghan jumped off her bed. "what is this?" she asked herself, pulling a binder off her little bookshelf. She blew some dust off the cover, and ran her fingers down it. She felt sadness creeping up in her. It was a binder full of pictures, and notes, and letters that she and Anti-Cosmo wrote to each other. She carefully opened it. There was the letter that Jorgen wrote her about meeting with Cosmo.

Meghan,

You will be assigned to your first god child. You will meet with Cosmo at Fairy Wand Avenue. There he will show you around Fairy World, and then hand you over to me.

Don't be late!

Jorgen

Meghan remembered that was the first time she talked to Anti-Cosmo. A tear ran down her face. She looked at the next page, it was a Fairy Photo. The long collom of 4 pictures took up the whole page. She laughed at the pictures, and turned the page, filling herself of her memories.

Anti-Cosmo scanned his bookshelf for something to read. His eye caught on a large binder, sitting on it's side. He walked over to it. "eck. Dust." He said poofing up a feather duster. He lightly dusted the top of it, and picked it up. "Meghan." He said dusting the rest of it, and poofing away his duster. He opened it. "the letter Meghan got." He said running his navy blue fingers down the page. His eye's turned to the other page. "and The Fairy Photo." He said laughing under his breath. He turned the page again. "and our first date." He said smiling. He continued looking threw he and Meghan's memories.

4 - A Girl and her Evil Lover

Gillian had told Meghan that she was heading to the park, and was going to play with her friends. Gillian walked to the park, and met up with Josh. "hey Josh." She said waving to him. Josh was hanging upside-down, from the monkey bars, eating ice-cream. Gillian scoffed. "you are SUCH a show-off." She said crossing her arms. Josh smiled, and got off the monkey bars. "I know." He said smiling, and licking his ice-cream. "hey guys, guess what I brought?" Ellyssa said walking up, flipping out 5 books. "death note." Gillian and Josh said sighing. Ellyssa smiled. Timmy came ridding a bike. "hi guys." He said smiling, taking his helmet off. "so whatca guys wanta do?" Timmy asked. Josh shrugged. Gillian looked at Ellyssa who was reading.

Nega-Timmy found Anti-Cosmo. "can you poof me near Gillian?" he asked walking up. Anti-Cosmo looked up. "you know she hates you." He said trying to read his book. "I know. But still. You're my fairy god pare-" "will you please. Just, shut up. I am trying to read my book, and your preventing me from doing it!" Anti-Cosmo shouted, cutting Nega-Timmy off. "I see, your unleashing your anger from seperation, on me." Nega-Timmy said smirking. "wish granted." Anti-Cosmo said throwing Nega-Timmy his wand. "well, how do I use it?" "figure it out." Anti-Cosmo said buriring his face in his book. "um. I wish I was with Gillian!" he said waving the wand around. The star fell off. "it broke." He said stareing at the broken wand. "fix it." Anti-Cosmo said, not looking up from his book. Nega-Timmy sighed, and picked up the star.

Gillian sighed of relief that Nega-Timmy still wasn't here. She smiled while she sighed. "what are you smiling about?" Josh asked. "what? Oh, nothing." Gillian said, looking at Timmy. He nodded. He knew what she was thinking. He was also glad that Nega-Timmy wasn't here. Gillian wondered what it would be like if she never met Nega-Timmy. Hey. She could wish for that. Well, not right now though. She just wished that he would stop stalking her. "Oh, Gillian." Ellyssa said looking up from her book. "yeah." Gillian said turning towards Ellyssa. "me and Timmy came up with a commercial for your situvation with Nega-Timmy." She said. Gillian was supressed that she knew who he was. "ok, let me hear it." She said. "$5 for the 'go away'" "$15 for taxi ride away from him." "$100 dollars for the fake hospital act." Ellyssa and Timmy said. "having a evil little kid stalk you, priceless." The said simotamusly, and laughing afterwards. Josh laughed too. Gillian shook her head, smiling. "I wish it was priceless." She said smiling.

"your stupid wand, won't, go back, together!" Nega-Timmy shouted, trying to shove the stare back onto the stick. "well, make it go together." Anti-Cosmo said not looking up. Nega-Timmy frowned. "this is just stupid. You are unleashing your stupid feelings, on me. You should be talking to Jorgen or whatever about this stupid matter, cuz you are stupid!" Nega-Timmy shouted, shoving the broken wand on the floor, and pointing at Anti-Cosmo. Anti-Cosmo slowly pulled down his book. "oh, you asked for it." He said glareing, grabing his wand. Nega-Timmy instantly wished he didn't say that. Anti-Cosmo poofed his wand back together, and twirled it between his fingers. "you ready?" he asked, smirking. Nega-Timmy shook his head slowly. "well then, too bad!!!" Anti-Cosmo shouted shooting a black star at Nega-Timmy. He flew and hit a bookshelf. He landed on the ground, unconcius. Anti-Cosmo smirked and laughed.

5 - Just a Normal Day for Olimar

“Louie!” Olimar shouted up the ship. “get out of the ship!!!” he screamed. Louie was fast asleep, even at a 90o angle. Olimar frowned. “fine.” He said, marching over to the red pikmin onion. He brought out 12 pikmin, and ran to the yellow onion. Brought out 12 yellow ones. 12 blue ones. 12 purples. 13 whites. 13 blacks. 13 green. And 13 oranges. He commanded them to climb up the ship, and wake up Louie. Red, yellow, blue, purple, and white climbed up the ship fastly. The 13 green ones split up to make 26, and climbed up shortly after the others. The black ones, after standing there crossing their arms, flew up after. The orange ones, didn’t want to put their books down, and they didn’t have the strength to climb. They eventually got the cockpit open, and started attacking Louie. Eventhough, they eventually might wake him up, they were destroying his spacesuit. Olimar whistled. They came running down, and Louie fell out of the cockpit. He woke up when he hit the ground. “AGH!” Louie screamed at the sudden impact. “you awake?” Olimar asked, leaning over Louie. Louie rolled over onto his stomach. “I hate it when you do that.” He sighed.
