This song I wrote about when I get horrible migranes and how it becomes hard to really concentrate on anything.

Chapter 1 - Head Trouble

1 - Head Trouble

Head Trouble

Staring into the distant void

Not sure what the world quite means to me

Stuck in a trance and now I can't get out

Well, one more minute won't hurt me

Thoughts and sleep is a thin white line

Everything is crammed into my mind

...I want to drift away

Migraine head throb all through the night

Like a vampire to the sound and light

Give me a cure I can take no more

Soon I'll be looking down at myself

Thoughts and sleep is a thin white line

Everything is cramped into my mind

...I think I'll drift away
