1 - Two Days Left!

Chapter One~ Two Days Left!

By~NekoSayori<3

It's 6:00 am and i'm still up. I'm in my room watching my favorite late night anime episodes on t.v until I notice the time. I get off my comfy bed and prepare what clothes i'm gonna wear since it's a habbit of mine and walk into my bathroom. I begin to shower and that's all i'm gonna say. Instead of wasting the time let me introduce myself. My name is Sayori Shigami, a 13 year old insane girl. I have a light tan, long messy black hair with blue highlights, blue eyes, and a slim body. I normally wear punk and goth clothing but for important reasons I would dress 'classy'. I step out of the shower with a towel wrapped around me and begin to dress in a black tank top, black mini shorts, and wear my black converse. I would also wear a black choker and black and blue bracelets around my wrists. Yes you might think I wear to much black but hey, i'm just being myself. Now let me talk to you about my family. I have 4 brothers, two older and two younger. My parents aren't actually married but considered they are, I have lots of family members so I guess those are the only people i'll mention for today. As I finished and left my bathroom I noticed that it's only two days left till school. I hated it but was excited to since I get to have a fresh start and also i'm upset about my father's news that he told the family but i'll talk about that later. I lay back on my bed and close my eyes since I had nothing else to do and I was sleepy as hell. Tommorow I bet will be a busy day of spend.

Chapter Two~Day of Spend

I wake up from my 'nap' and walk downstairs to where my family was eating breakfast. Normally it would be loud but it seemed like my brothers were in bad moods so we really didn't talk much. After we ate breakfast my mom was taking me with her to buy some school supplies we're missing and other junk. We went to places like target, walmart, and I guess the mall too. When we returned home my brothers were doing well whatever brothers do and my dad was working in his office, which clearly meant my mother and I had to do all the damn work. We had to put all the things we bought where they are supposed to be put in, and trust me...alot of stuff we had to put away. After that we had to clean the house and I would babysit my younger brothers which one of them likes to pull my hair and the other just teases me and plays pranks. I hate them and love them all in the same time. I also remember that finally the day is closer...tomorrow is the day where kids return to school from their sacred summer vacation.
