

Sailing Away

By OceanSoul

Submitted: April 18, 2009

Updated: April 19, 2009

A poem about long over seas.

Telling of tales

from ancient of days

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/OceanSoul/56109/Sailing-Away>

Chapter 1 - Sailing Away

2

1 - Sailing Away

Come
Call the ancient days for service
Reveal me new found waters
Travel across the setting sun
And again at the dawn
We will see you sailing to Orion

Sail way
Redeem yourself from grace
Save your scars
From lasting wounds
All heaven could not recount
Your selfless prayers
Sigh no more
And drown in deep mourning
Melancholy heard no more
Just sweet silence

Wait there silently
The ocean will carry you further
Let men drown in murky waters
Sweeping
Sleeping
Silently
Along the corners of the burning reeds
Dying
From what serpents carry to the deep

Heed the warning
Of what lurks in shallow waters
Drowning in hallow pools of black
Ocean pull drawing further
Let dock at the marina where you shall lose your wagers

Wept tears
Just quicken the drowning
Closed eyes
Dream of suffer
Keep your 9 lives close
They will keep you dry