"Just the Other Day" is one of my best poems, I think. It doesn't tell anything about me like my other poems. I can't explain it, really.

Chapter 1 - "Just the Other Day"

1 - "Just the Other Day"

"Just The Other Day"

Woke up in the night
From a dream about you.

Nothing in sight,
And nothing to do.

Looked at the clock,
About a quarter to two.

Me to say,
"Just the other day..."

Lay back down,
Wishing for your voice's sound.

Thinking about you,
all the things in you I'd found.

Then a tap at the door stopped everything,
A few more steps after a few more dings.

Me hearing you say,
"Just the other day..."

Looked at the clock,
About a quarter to eight.

Hate to make you wait.

Grabbed my jacket walked out to with you.

So little time, and so much to do.

We'll make time,

It's not a crime.

We'll make a dime,

And stop and say...

"Just the other day..."
