1 - Chapter I

Given To Those Who Deserve

Chapter I

Sometimes, I feel as if I am alone.

Like, no one cares for me&

Things are always like this, they always were. Even as a child&

My parents left me when I was just a newborn. I was left at my grandparent's house as my parents ran off doing drugs. At least that's what my grandmother told me&

My childhood wasn't as great as some would think.

I was the only child without any friends, and never really wanted to socialize. People only thought that I was a social butterfly because my grandmother lied to everyone.

Sometimes, I think of myself as an outsider.

Nothing can be changed from that&

During school&I was made fun of. No one ever wanted to know me&

The real me&

Later on, in high school, I decided to be the loner that I truly am&

I didn't fit in, I dyed my hair from its natural blond to black, wore baggy sweatshirts all of the time, and dark clothes&No one would come near me now.

I went to college to study law, and after that, trained to become a detective. That worked out nicely. But, I went through school at a very young age. I advanced in everything.

I went through elementary school by the age of seven, I completed junior high and high school by the age of fifteen, and finished college and detective training at the age of eighteen.

My name is Emi Toshiko; I m twenty and the lead detective at the station on the KIRA case.
