

Masked Angel (poetry)

By SoloWolf

Submitted: June 1, 2006

Updated: June 1, 2006

i was bored...just had watched Phantom of the Opera... and i like this one... dunno why...

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/SoloWolf/34334/Masked-Angel-poetry>

Chapter 1 - Masked Angel (poem)

2

1 - Masked Angel (poem)

Where will you hide? In fear that no one will love you, you hide your face in shame. Beneath that's mask is a childish innocence. You envy what is a sin. My fated words rollick in your head. Do you see it true or just a lie? You watched me from the heavens, my child, you are blind. Light nor dark. What do you really want? You lust for a different sin, it's told in your eyes. Will you reject this? Will it haunt you if not told? Speak my masked angel, tell me of your duration. "One touch is all I linger for." is what is mellowed. Love, devotion? Don't say I don't care for your life, your reality. A ramping chaos in a hushed world. Without your mask, I shall not see your outside beauty. Do you believe me? Angel, you've seen my morning, you've seen my night. It's no different. Behold angel, the world is a masquerade of paper faces and rich colors. Unique yet all in the same. Worry not child, you're just part of the parade.