The Sadness Within

By Uchiha-Sasuke02

Walking away from his past and into his future Sasuke takes one last look over his shoulder to say goodbye to everything and everyone who was and still is close to him in the instant that he looked over he saw Sakura running toward him with tears filling her eyes. As soon as Sasuke saw this he turned to face her and before he knew what was happening she was grasping him tight unwilling to let the past go and the future continue, the moment Sasuke understood what had happened Sakura had already started talking. Sasuke please I beg of you don't leave us don't leave me here all alone I know you don't feel anything for us but we all care about you please don't do this please. After hearing that Sasuke had to admit to her his feelings but because this was a situation he had hoped would never happen he wasn't sure how to deal with what he had to say. Sakura he started but then wondered how to continue looking for the right words to say but not finding them straight away, I do have feeling for this town and the people especially he pause not sure what the response would be. Taking a deep breath he searched for the strength to admit it to her Sakura I will especially miss you.

After hearing this, the shock over Sakura's face was one that could never be captured it was a face showing happiness of know this but also the sadness of knowing that he will no longer be there with a hint of understanding. Why Sasuke why must you go you can train here with us like in the past there is no need for you to leave us to leave me please rethink this while saying this Sakura tighten her grip around Sasuke holding him closer and closer but to add to her shock Sasuke returned the sign of affection wrapping his arms around her while saying in a whisper. Sakura I'm so sorry for all of this but I'm afraid that good things never last but I promise you once I have done what I must I will return if the village will except me and I will return to you, you are all that I with think of when I am gone and I will think of your beauty when I look upon the stars a night. After hearing this Sakura broke down in tears whimpering why now why didn't you tell me earlier why, why, why. Still clutching Sasuke she finally decides that it's time to say goodbye but before she does she make one last movement giving him a kiss farewell which stunned Sasuke. Even though he was shocked by the sudden kiss Sasuke didn't resist in fact he pulled Sakura closer to him slowly closing his eyes and excepting the fact that this may be the last time that he will see her in a very long time. Once they had finished in there embrace Sakura let go and slowly turned away and walked back to the village before she was out of sight of Sasuke she took one last look at her true love and then turned and ran the rest of the way. after watching this Sasuke felt a great loss in his heart which he hadn't felt before, his last farewell was shouting his undying love for Sakura after which he dropped his head turned and walked off into the night.

After walking for 3 days and 2 night's Sasuke started to wonder if he had made the right choice and the words that Sakura had said to him when he left kept wondering around in his head over and over. But every time it came into his head he shook it out and continued to walk the path that he though was true to his cause and would bring the vengeance that he had been searching for, but little did he know that he was being followed by an unwanted guest who would not only change the way he thought but also the way he felt. By the 5th day

Sasuke was tired and fed up the thought of returning was getting greater and greater with every step he took but suddenly he realised that he had been followed the moment he realised this he cursed to himself for being so lax and not paying attention to his surroundings. He called out show yourself scaring some nearby birds from the deep sleep, his voice echoed but no reply could be heard and for this reason Sasuke dropped his bag and prepared to fight but what happened next shocked and surprised him. For one reason was that it was not just one person but two and the other reason was that it was Sakura and Naruto the first thing that sprung into his mind was why did they follow me but he said nothing. The first word was spoken by Sakura who stepped forward with an upset look upon he face but not like the one from 5 night's ago no this one was more a search for forgiveness as if in some why what happened was her fault. The words that she spoke were I'm so sorry Sasuke Kun but we couldn't let you leave us after she said those few words she looked up starring into his eyes as if looking for a reason as to why all this had happened but not finding anything next to speak was Naruto who still seemed to have an angry look across his face almost as if he didn't want to be there but what he said didn't match his actions and those words were. Sasuke even though we have had our differences in the past let's not let that get in the way of the future come back to the village with us we told Kakashi sensei that you were ill and that we were looking after you but still that excuse will only last for so long after saying that Naruto drops his head and turning it slightly. after all this Sasuke finally responds by turning and opening his bag and taking out a picture of all three of them from when they first went out as friends, he looks deeply into the picture as if looking for what to say but not finding it he slowly turns to Sakura and Naruto and says just one thing thank you. Before Naruto and Sakura understand what's going on Sasuke knocks them both out without harming them too much and making sure they don't fall before he leaves them once more he kisses Sakura on the forehead and leaves his diary for Naruto and finally walking off swearing that this is the right choice and that there is no room in his soul for love or friendship and that until he does what must be done there won't be any room.

3 - The Secrets Of My Memories

The Secrets of My Memories

By James Roff

After his last encounter with his ex-team mates Sasuke couldn't stop thinking about them and the times they had together.

The more he thought about it the harder it became to move on and continue his path he had set himself, he remembered the times he spent running through the fields going out to eat together the pranks they pulled on their teacher.

While thinking about this he stopped in his tracks and looked over his shoulder as if looking back at his memories, with doubt filling him, Sasuke decided to take a break

, From his long trek. After an hour of rest Sasuke decided that it would be better to set up camp rather than continue his journey.

He stood up and walked into the forest to collect some wood to build a fire with.

Once he had collected enough wood he slowly started to walk back to where he was going to set up camp, when he got there he laid the wood down on the ground and walked over to his bag and took out a tent, and set it up ready for the night.

Once he had finished preparing his tent Sasuke turned around and started the fire

After a short while the fire was roaring enough to cook with so Sasuke crawled into his tent and rummaged through his bag and removed some food.

This consisted of Rice with a green pepper sauce after he had finished his meal he laid down on his back staring at the night sky thinking things over.

Before he knew it Sasuke had slowly drifted off to sleep, but almost as quick as he had fallen asleep he was awake again with a cold sweat trickling down and breathing heavily with fear filling his eyes.

It took a few minutes for Sasuke to calm down and start collecting his thoughts of the dream he had just had, he remembered the night this all started the night that his family his friends his clan had been cold heartedly slaughtered.

That was the night he had become alone and an avenger, he then remembered that fateful day when he met his team mates and their first day together and how he and Naruto argued for nearly a whole day, after remembering this Sasuke laughed a little to himself.

And the last thing he remembered was the moment that he was with Sakura,

That night that he left his friends behind him in search of power to avenge the ones he had lost, remembering this brought Sasuke close to tears closer than anything that had happened to him before the incident involving his clan.

In that moment he finally started to realise all the pain and suffering he had caused through his actions and through leaving, After all of this Sasuke vowed to himself and everyone close to him that he would return to the village and hope that he would be able to redeem himself for all his selfish actions.

After he had promised that as soon as day broke he would return Sasuke once again drifted off to sleep with the memories of his friends deep in his mind.
