1 - The Floating Blob

well you know the dreams. i was in my house. i was running from the big blobs that were made of lead and they would kill you if they caught you. i was running full speed through the kitchen towards the open garage door. (or so i thought) i ran out into the the garage and there the garage door was closed and blocked so no one could get through. i skidded to a stop and turned round to find the lead blobs advancing towards me and then all of the suddan i heard this peircing scream in my ear and i woke up. i looked around thinking hat i would find my older brother standing next to my bed but no what there was was a head shaped bob of blackness floating around mear my dresser then in the blink of an eye it was gone. it scares my till today. becuz that same day the same guy whose gunna give me artheritis in my hands was talking about a certain spirit that if you say its name aboiut 3 times in 2 minutes then it will come at night and scream in ur ear till you go deaf and i guess that what happend to me but i didnt go deaf, it was just a head that floated round. i know that dream was stupid but it was scary.
