Chapter 1 - the me this is true

2

1 - the me this is true

You always seem to be looking out for me

Why do you?

You should not

I mean you should not even like me

You should just be like every one else

Just pretend like I am not even there

Because that is what every one else does

But for some reason you look out for me

Why is that?

Is it because you actually like me?

But how could that be possible

No one I know likes me

But are you different?

I hope you are

It gets very lonely by your self

But by the way you act to me you must like me

I hope that is true

I do not want to get my hopes up again

The last time I thought some one liked me for who I am

It was all a lie

She was just using me

She just needed a friend

She did not even like me

She was just using me

To get to you

But I hope you are not that way

I hope you are not using me

To get to someone that I know

But how could you

No one likes me or is my friend

Please tell me you are not

Please tell me that this is real

That you are not lying and just pretending

I do not think I could live any more if you were

If you just left me for some one else

Or were using me to get to some one

And then just left me

I would most likely die

I do not think I could live

If when you say that you are a friend

Or when you talk to me nicely

You are just lying to me

That you are not me friend

At all you do not even like me.
