1 - The Confession

Yukina lay still and motionless on the cold ground of the forest where he had left her. She shivered in the cold and as the memories of just a few hours ago flooded her head again, tear gems started to fall.

Kazuma Kuwabara volunteered to walk Yukina home and said that going through the woods would be shorter. Being the naive girl she was, and trusting him with her life, she followed him into the deepest and darkest area that he could find where he had pinned her against a tree and kissed her roughly.

She had tried to scream but he had punched her and slapped her, calling her cruel names that stung her heart. He had, without hesitation, ripped off her kimono and brutally raped her and left.

And there she still lay. Tons of tear gems lay scattered around the forest floor. She no longer had the will to even stand up and walk home to her brother. She didn't have to...

He had heard her screams coming from the direction of the forest. Sensing her demon energy close by, Hiei ran to a clearing and gasped at what he saw. His sister was as still as a stone, laying under a tree. She was nude, and he could see the cuts and bruises all over her body. Her eyes were blank and her face was emotionless.

"Yukina!!!" He ran to the still form and lifted her head. "Yukina, who did this to you?!" he asked in an almost yell. She opened her mouth, trying her best to speak, but no words came from her. Hiei became even more worried. He picked her up bridal style and teleported to their home.

When they got home, Yukina attempted to speak again, but she spoke so quietly Hiei had to strain his ears to hear her. "B-brother..." He stroked her cheek, asking calmly, "Yukina please tell me who did this to you." Her eyes welled up with tears as she said, "I-it was... Kazuma..."

Hiei gasped at her reply. Never in a million years had he expected that baka to do something like this to anyone, much less his true love. He growled deeply, getting more pissed each second he thought about that bastard that had done this to his Yukina. The ice maiden slowly lifted her hand and stroked her brother's cheek. "I'm sorry, brother... I really trusted him... I never thought that he would..." Hiei gently placed a finger over her lips silencing her. "Don't even think that this is your fault. I'm just sorry that I'll have to kill the poor bastard." He slowly rose to his feet, Yukina in his arms, and asked quietly, "Do you want to take a bath?" Yukina nodded her head slightly and with that, he walked into the bathroom.

Hiei turned on the hot water to fill the tub. He realized that he had to get in with Yukina because she needed help washing because she was so weak. He pulled off his clothes. Yukina blushed slightly at his naked form, shaking her head to rid her mind of such thoughts. But she knew she couldn't deny it. She would tell him tonight. She had to.

Hiei turned off the water and picked Yukina up gently. He eased into the hot water, being careful not to burn his sister. She immediately clung to him. He looked at her with a puzzled look, then realized that the water had stung the cuts on her body. He strokes her hair. "I'm sorry that I didn't come sooner... I'm so
