1 - My epic search.. please read!

I'm looking for someone that i knew a very long time ago.. she stole my heart online and I lost touch with her for over two years.. she played an online RPG game called runescape, she was really the only reason I ever logged on past the horrid updates. She always drew different things to show me on this site.. this is the only website I can remember of that I hope she still visits.. and its the only way i can hope to find her again.. this is my story.. and my mission. I really hope you'll help me find her and tell her I miss her. If you have ever played runescape, and the username "Double oh 12" strikes any remembrance to you, please PM me, immediately! and if not, please spread my story through this site, every little bit helps. If you have ever, truly missed someone, you will. Thank you so much!!
