"You wretch you and your sister were too get wood for the damn fire tonight now go" "y-yes sir" elizabeth say as she rushes to get her sister out by the town's well. At the town's well "sister....sister" elizabeth yell as she nears the well and sights her sister. "huh....elizabeth what's wrong?" sarah says as she holds the bucket full of water in her hand and looks to her running sister. " gasp sarah come on lets take the water back then we must go get wood mister ivin says we must and we must hurry it's almost dark " elizabeth says looking to the sky to see the sun near setting below the trees of the forest. " huff that old rat again why can't he just go get the damn wood himself. maybe he'll run into Hessian the horseman of the dark forest" sarah says walking towards the house near the edge of town. " blush w-wha h-how... nevermind lets go you move to slow ." elizabeth says running to the house knowing here sister would follow. "hey wait up that's not fair i have a bucket of water in my hand!" sarah says running slightly as to not spill the bucket but enough to keep up with her sister as she talks to her " huff I thought you wanted to see the horseman or are you too worried he'd huff take off your neck?!" "shhh, don't let the villagers hear you huff and yes i want to see him i wouldn't mind him coming over and killing the damn idiot huff who so called adopted and took us in to his nice home" elizabeth says as they cross the bridge and sights the house. "sarah you drop the bucket off to the kitchen i'll get some horses for us and stay quiet i'll meet you at the edge of" elizabeth say before she rounds the house to the horses stables. in the stables "hmm... i'll get dagger and sarah can get starfire" elizabeth says as she grabs the horses and nears the edge of the forest. "elizabeth over here" sarah says near a old oak tree. "here i took starfire for you." "Thanks you know i love starfire let me guess you go dagger." "Yep you know he's my horse even if the old idiot won't admit it. Dagger just rides like a feather on the summers breath." the two sisters say as they hop onto the horses. "ok lets move 1 hour til dusk." elizabeth says as she heads into the forest. "It'll be cold tonight, it's winter, and were in the damn dark forest, got the horseman roaming the forest, it almost dark can we get any more sunk in mud or what?!" sarah says as she and here sister head to a dry part of the forest. On the other side of the forest "it's damn cold daredevil. Let us head to the dry part of the forest to get wood." Hessian the horseman says to his fateful horse heading to the dry side of the forest the wet winter snowflakes haven't touched as much. with the sisters "shhh sister i hear something..." elizabeth says laying down her pile of twigs and wood pieces. "wha" sarah tries to say before her sisters cups her hand over her hand "shh" elizabeth says pushing her and herself behind a tree as she spots a long black figure and a tall black figure walking in there direction. she notices the figures as a horse and a human both are covered in black but the human carrying weapons. "sarah it's the horseman." "who's there? come out now and i'll think about not killing you." the horseman says. "O' no he's.." sarah tries to say but is yanked out from behind the tree by her sister. "hm..Why are there two young lady out in the woods, it's almost dark, and things lurk in the forest at night" the horseman say looking from elizabeth to sarah and the putting the twigs he's collected next to daredevil's feet. "we are out collecting wood for our adopted father." elizabeth says trying to sound braver then she really is "hm..A grown man sending children out in the woods to get wood." The horseman says glancing to there horses hidden in the darkness of the forest. "yes, and we are not children we are 15 and I'd like for you to not look at our horses like that." sarah says moving to elizabeth's side. "hm... are you two sisters?" the horseman says interested that they would stand up to him. "yes, our parents were killed by a man we know not and now we live with the horse monger Jason ivin." Elizabeth says as she glances to the horseman's sword.

"hm..what think i'm going to kill you" the horseman says looking at Elizabeth's glance to his sword, "... " is both sarah's and Elizabeth's response. "Don't worry i will not kill you, how do you like this offer"the horseman says as he looks to the sister's. "I'll let you live if you help me collect fire wood for my campfire.....and i'll let you stay with me for the night and i'll let you leave in the morning when the weather is much warmer sound like a deal for you?" the horseman says picking up his firewood. "... sure why not it'd be great to get away from the wreched adopted father" Elizabeth says picking up her own pile of wood "come on sarah " is all elizabeth say before heading to the side of the horseman. " ' what the hell just happened' " sarah thinks joining her sister. well please comment on my story so far

"HM..call me hessian and what was your question?" the horseman says remembering his flash back. "ok hessian, i asked how long hav you been in thses woods?" she says angry but hiding it in her voice. "... about 10 years." he replys. "huh...." elizabeth whispers to herself as she has a flash back of her and her sister waking up in the forest to a square black cloth. "well....lets set up camp here." hessian says dropping his twigs at his feet. "hessian what is your horses name?" elizabeth says already layed down her pile and stroking the horses head.
