1 - chapter one: resurrection

mixed worlds

written by: Jewel

A/N:....this is going to suck typing...my bro deleted microsoft word from my compy...so I have to write this on word pad bah! anyways if I have any wrong spelling, dont kill me!

Disclaimer: I do not own final fantasy 7 or 9!

chapter one: resurrection

the city of the ancients. the lake in the middle of the city, it was raining as if the clouds were crying. two hooded people were standing near the lake, a man and a woman. they both looked at the lake, the grave where the last of the cetra was putted in.

"the time has come." the man said. the woman looked at him. he continued talking;"the cetra will have another chance...beginning with its last." the woman nodded and stared back to lake.

"then let's complete this mission." the woman said. "so we can go home...together again."

they both raised one hand and aimed for the lake and said their spell;"we the keepers life and death, offer the last of the cetra who is resting here a new life." a green glow came from the lake and a woman emerged from the lake surface. her pink dress was torn. the waves that the lake were making pushed the woman to the shore. here breathing was hard. the two hooded people sat by her side. the young woman opened her emerald green eyes and looked at the ones who brought her back to life. they couldn't be younger than 16, both of them. the man had sapphire blue eyes and blond hair and the woman brown eyes and black hair. "who...who are you?" the young woman asked. they both looked at each other and back to the woman and replied:"we are the ones who restored you back to life." they gave her a hood to keep her warm and the man made a fire. "but what are your names?" the young woman asked.

the man looked at her and pulled off his hood so his face was more to be seen. "my name is Zidane Tribal, also known as the angel of death." then he looked at the woman who was sitting next to him. she introduced herself as well. "and my name is Garnet till Alexandros, they just named me as the angel of life." the young woman nodded and looked at the lake, her former grave. "my name is Aeris" she said and looked back at the two people. "Aeris Gainsborough." she looked down. her brown hair falling over her face. they spend the night there near the lake, so that Aeris could regain her strength. the next morning they left, the three of them, on their way to midgar.

A/N: I know short chapter...but it will get better...and besides...Aeris wasn't the only one who got brought back to life...hehehe

2 - chapter 2: the city of the night

chapter 2: the city of the night

A/N: it takes place one year after Advent Children. and I dont have any idea how old Denzel is O.O so dont kill after traveling thru the sleeping forest and took a boat from bone to the shores near Midgar, they finally arrived. they were now in Midgar, the city of the night and they just arrived at the old church Aeris used to visit and where her flower bed grew. Aeris sat by her flower bed, happy that the flowers were still growing good. Zidane stood against a pillar and Garnet sat on one of the church benches. "you know...this is where I first met him" Aeris said.

she stood up. Zidane pushed himself away from the pillars. "you have been talking about him since we left the city of the ancients." Zidane said. "is he that special?" Aeris turned around to face Zidane, Garnet stood up also.

"yes he is special...the way his eyes look...is special." Aeris replied. Zidane just shook his head and leaned back against the pillar. "he must sound really nice." Garnet said with a smile. Aeris smiled also. "he is...at least...I think so." said Aeris. "and he reminds me of my late boyfriend." Zidane pushed himself away again. "well let's go meet this friend of yours" Zidane said as he walked towards the exit, the girls followed him. they walked thru the midgar slums and reached the sector 7 slums, where the 7th heaven bar stood. they stood in front of it. "it is the best we putted our hoods on...we dont want to make any trouble." Zidane said and the girls nodded. they all putted their hoods and their faces were covered by the shadows. they entered and the bar wasn't that full, there was a young woman standing behind the counter, long brown hair and brown eyes. a man with raven black hair and red eyes sat in the darkest corner of the bar. at a table sat a big guy black guy with a gun arm, a old kind of guy with a cigaret and a stuffed cat, who seemed to be moving by its self. a dog type of being was lying in the other corner, its tail looked like it had a flame on its tip and with fire red fur. and last but not least a blond man was sitting at the bar, looking pretty depressed. Aeris, Garnet and Zidane sat down at an empty table. a young boy came from behind the counter, he was pretty young and he had brown hair. "...can I get something for you?" he asked. Zidane was the first who spoke. "some water will do fine for me." he said. Garnet ordered some water to and Aeris ordered some milk. the woman behind the counter found it pretty weird that someone ordered water and milk in god damn bar. after the boy gave them their drinks a unpleasant silent followed. the dog like creature noticed something from under Zidane's hood. namely his tail, but that was what the dog like creature knew at the time. he snooked up to it and without thinking just bit it. Zidane jumped up with a yelp his hood flying off. Garnet stood up to, and her hood slid off her face. because of all the commotion Aeris's hood slid off her face also. the dog like creature letted go of Zidane's tail and looked at Aeris. "Aeris!" it said. everyone turned to look at the group, the woman behind the counter letted glass accidentally fall from her hands and shattered on the floor. the man from the counter looked at Aeris also and couldnt not believe his eyes. soon almost everyone in the bar said: "Aeris!" in a tone of disbelief.
