

Sad, Sorrow, Shy, Suffer, and the Sea

By kenchan

Submitted: May 25, 2007

Updated: May 25, 2007

a poem I thought of this while listening to Rose from TITANIC.

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/kenchan/45839/Sad-Sorrow-Shy-Suffer-and-Sea>

Chapter 1 - Sad

2

1 - Sad

Sad, Sorrow, Shy, Suffer, and the Sea.

To little child it's a moment to feel a release of the soul that is anxious to be released to freedom. That is what crying feels like with tears of sadness. They feel the dark grasping grudges that sink them to the dark underworld of the unappeased and forgotten. Betrayal and maybe a liking to revenge in tears of Anger. Then there is the rarest of all, the relief of one's safety, the true happiest moments in what we call human life that is experienced few if not never in a life time, the tears of Joy. It's ok to cry. It does not make you weak or a crybaby it means your freeing your self of the immense shock or pain you're suffering with at the time being. A tear is not just pure water coming out of your unique eyes it's the relief system that God made us have. When we lose someone or something we cry even when we don't and we might what to. Maybe we think of sad moments when we see something blue because we just think that it's down, it's the color of the ocean, TITANIC, or whatever you think. Yes the universe is full of emotions and this is one of many to be understood. Most humans misunderstand its power; it is good to feel the power of the sea of humanity.