

Falling Backwards

By krazykitsune14

Submitted: December 11, 2003

Updated: December 11, 2003

This is some random poem I came up with... It doesn't really make sense, so don't try to understand it...

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/krazykitsune14/1120/Falling-Backwards>

Chapter 1 - Falling Backwards

2

1 - Falling Backwards

In a world of candy canes and paper cranes the sky is green and no birds sing
Where blood flows through rivers like wine and tears become the dragon's spine
The morning clouds pour acid rain and wait for night to come again
Pain is a weakness from within a tortured soul
Sitting in an upside-down room of clocks and mirrors
Viewing outside the window where the earth is gone
Spinning in squares; I'm falling backwards
Stop me before I wake up and have to face the light beyond the veil
There's too much darkness; I can't see anymore
Time is ticking; it won't wait for you to rescue me
Hurry, I'm slipping through the black demon's mist
Grab its wings; don't let it get away
Stab through the surface as the silver bells chime
Blood floating in the sky as golden raindrops fall from hell
The signal's gone; your time is up and back to the beginning you return
I fade and reform again; my body is melting like ice
Burn the ashes, torch like flame and listen to the fallen angels sing
Death is stalking you, for you have failed
Life shall be repeated as I sit here in my upside-down room
A deaf ear listening to the frozen clocks on the wall
Tick tock your time is up
The mourning doves shall laugh at you as I sing my hollow song