1 - Another Day

Another day we may never understand God's reasons but he takes away the pain. If God is truly there which I fully believe then things happen for a reason and makes us question our faith. He gave me a question my heart pondered for months solution I could not find it made my faith waver makes us ask God "how could you" I learned if you look deeper the answer is easy to see if you look and find it the solution will rock your world. We give our hearts to Him and it may seem He doesn't care but deep inside he knows what's best even if it is unfair I know the Lord loves me I know the Lord loves you just take life in strides and believe in what is true I thank God for another day to love the ones I love. another day to find my way another day to live my life another day to change my world thank you Lord for another day. thank God for you are with me thank God for the times we share. I thank him for my friends and for leading me to you. every time one door closes two more will open for me. I open up my door and you were there for me I thank God for another day to be with you. I thank God thank him for life for letting me dance for letting me love for letting me laugh for taking my sorrow for giving me joy for letting me sing for bringing me to you I thank him for being there I know he is my life he is my world and my faith. I thank God with my whole heart for allowing me another day
