If you were to walk on glass

If you were to call my name

I would come and patch your wounds

I would reply to you

If you were to rip out my heart

If you were to burn it in flames

If you said you were sorry

I would forgive you

If you were to take advantage of me

If you were to make me look like a fool

If you turned to me for help later on

I would help you

If you were to kill me

If you were to steal every possession I ever had

If you wee to love me

I would still love you

If you were to lie to me

If you wee to betray me

And think that I would take you back

I would take you

But only to let you go

Not because you hurt me

Because you hurt yourself

And I wont let anyone hurt you

Not even you

But I would take you back later

When you understand

You are my one and only love
