Chapter 1 - Starlight; Starbright.

2

1 - Starlight; Starbright.

Starlight starbright... Won't you take me home tonight? Cause I need some place to stay just for a day or two. Or until I get back on my feet. I've had too much to take tonight. If it's not too much to ask, will you help me through the front door? Everything was a bliss. Soon it fell into a blur and I woke up here. In your arms. Somewhere far away from here, I bet they're wondering what I've done. They're betting I'm in some kind of mess again. I tore away from death again. But instead I passed out cold. Starlight starbright... Pick me up and take me home. I've gone through enough to say goodbye. If I sound just a little off tell me wrong from right. Clean me off and let me crash into another blank soggy dream.

Starlight starbright... Is it me or did you turn off the lights? I've had way too much down my throat and I think I might as well say it all. I know it sounds all wrong but tell me if my words are mixed and confused.

Starlight starbright... I just need somewhere to call home away from what I've been pushing through. I know, what I've done isn't anything right. I'm so done with ending up this way, more sick than happy in the end. Show me the right way for now, until I can stand on my own, until my convulsive shaking and sobbing is long gone. I know, waking up next to you is not exactly what I planned. But tonight I swear on my sanity, this has never felt so right. Starlight starbright... I'll leave love for what you've done tonight. I'm on my feet, and off I go, into another day of being silenced without you here. I wish I could tell you at my heart's content. But it all just seems so wrong... Starlight starbright... If I declare my love tonight will you swear to never tell? You're the only one that can pick me up when I fall again, pull me away from disaster and then... I'm dreaming, are you dreaming? Only time can tell. Starlight starbright... Take me far away from here. For all you've done for me... Your presence is all I need. My tears will run like gasoline again... I'm only sick, not happy. Thank you for getting me up on my feet again. Teaching me to breathe again. Starlight starbright...
