Chapter 1 - iora	2
Chapter 2 - rage	3
Chapter 3 - angelic	4

1 - iora

healing:

they have the ability to heal from major wounds from a simple scrape or cut to broken bones and lost limbs within 2-5 seconds. if they lose a limb it will grow back. due to the accelerated cell repair and growth they are both physically immortal and biologically immortal. any major injuries that should have killed any other species won't kill ioras.

speed:

ioras can run up to 3000 mph, 100 meters in 0.34 seconds. if they really concentrate they can use instant transportation, allowing them to travel long distances in seconds (teleportation).

strength:

can lift up to 100 tonnes with one hand and their tail can hold 300 tonnes.

abilities:

they are capable of learning and remembering anything that they haven't learned before and remembering them without thinking about them. they are unaffected by elemental powers such as fire, water, earth and wind. have enhanced senses like sight, sound, smell, etc.

they have time manipulation abilities, which are dangerous for even them to use because (even being immortal) it can damage their cells to a point that they don't regrow, also changing the past can have difficulties in the future.

they have the power of flight using air manipulation.

they have a 1.5-2 meter long prehensile tail. white fur covers their entire body they have long fox-like ears, usually pretty tall, over 5' 8".

hybrids:

ioras can reproduce with any other species but the child born will have characteristics of the iora like the long tail, heightened senses and abilities, strength, healing and speed. if they are a hybrid e.g. joel, syris, tai, they will also have characteristics of their other species like for example, tai, if he was full iora, he would have white fur, but since he is half lion he has yellow fur with lion-style tuft of hair on the end of tail.

2 - rage

healing:

the healing factor of an iora in rage mode is alot faster than that of a normal one. in rage mode the healing is almost instantanious, taking only 1 second to heal and 10 seconds to regenerate major wounds that would take normal ioras maybe hours to heal.

speed:

rage ioras can easily run up to 10,000 mph, but cannot stop themselves when they want to, meaning because of their rage they have no control over themselves

strength:

abilities:

ioras in rage mode only know destructive powers such as their main elements (earth, fire, water, wind and lightning). also because of their rage they are not in control of these abilities at all, for example someone with the element of fire could creat a flame so hot it could burn the atmosphere without even thinking about it or feeling the effects of it. their sharpened sences fall dramitically because of their rage.

appearence:

they are the standard size and weight, nothing changes except their eyes change from whatever colour they were to a red colour with their pupils becoming a black slit

3 - angelic

healing:

the healing factor in angel mode is relatively the same as rage mode, if anything slightly faster and more productive. severed body parts heal faster in this mode and skin in particular becomes tougher.

speed:

on this level they are capable of almost instantaneous speeds, from one point to another faster than teleporting there. bordering speed of light.

strength:

strength remains unchanged from rage mode.

abilities:

senses are sharpened, elemental ability becomes more powerful, flight is possible due to wings. senses and speed combined to provide an almost 'omnipresence' power. telepathy becomes more powerful, allowing them to control even kill others with it.

appearance:

3 of the most prominent changes would be that the fur on their bodies, no matter what colour it was before, changes to a bright white colour, large angel wings appear allowing flight and aerial abilities and their eyes change from red to light blue, almost white retaining the black slit.

to date only 1 iora has ascended past rage mode to angelic mode: Tai.
