

Forever Wild, Forever Free

By spiritrain

Submitted: February 22, 2006

Updated: February 22, 2006

Just a poem I wrote about the problems with horse slaughtering.

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/spitrain/28748/Forever-Wild-Forever-Free>

Chapter 1 - Poem

2

1 - Poem

Forever Wild, Forever Free

Their hoofbeats can be heard almost all around the world

Across the marble white sand a stallion leads his mighty band

They run and run, a noble race contentment flashes across the horses face hoping at least now they can be safe

From the thing that wants to hear a dying horses final squeal

They run from the pound that wants to feed them to a hungry hound

The stallion breathes in the air praying that things will be fair

For Nature's children want to be

Forever Wild, Forever Free