

Mating dances:Inuyasha

By tohruxkyoxyukilover

Submitted: May 19, 2007

Updated: May 19, 2007

This is the first part of my trilogy Mating Dance. This is about Inu and Kag. Includes lemon in early chapter. Please read and review. Ja ne!!

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/tohruxkyoxyukilover/45701/Mating-dancesInuyasha>

Chapter 1 - sickness	2
Chapter 2 - finally	4
Chapter 3 - kidnapped by kouga!?	6
Chapter 4 - fears and shippos memory	8

1 - sickness

They were trudging in the snow for awhile now, thought Inuyasha. Kagome had started turning blue and purple from the cold. "I hate snow!" was all she kept saying. And all Inuyasha kept saying was, "Shut up you stupid girl!"

Inuyasha was walking for awhile before he realized Kagome wasn't following him. He couldn't smell her scent anymore. He retraced his steps and soon found her half frozen in the deep snow.

I have to find someplace warm or she'll die, thought Inuyasha. Before he found Kagome he had seen a cabin up ahead so he headed that way. Inuyasha had past the cabin about three times before he realized that it was under some trees. Before long he found it and said, "Hold on Kagome! We're almost there."

He kicked the door of the cabin open and looked around. It had one blanket, a fireplace (with logs), and a pile of hay. He laid Kagome on the hay and proceeded to wrap the blanket around her. He then looked in Kagome's pack for some dry clothes but everything was wet except a box of matches. He lit a fire and then moved Kagome closer to it.

Inuyasha looked at Kagome and saw that she was getting worse by the second. He wrapped the blanket more tightly around her and put her in his lap. Then he rubbed his hands up and down her arms trying to rub feeling back into her body. He looked again in her pack and found a book labeled `Health'. He flipped through the pages until he found the one with pictures similar to Kagome's condition on it.

"Hypothermia," Inuyasha read, "when you start to lose feeling in your body and goes into shock."

Kagome was starting to rock violently.

Inuyasha read on: Step one-take all wet clothing from victim's body.

Step two-warm them with blankets or anything you can spare.

Step three-if needed use body heat from your body to warm person.

Inuyasha read over the first part three times before he did anything. "I have to do this," he said, "if I don't she'll die." It's not like I haven't seen her naked before, thought Inuyasha, undoing her blouse. He saw that she had on something underneath her shirt and was relieved, but oddly disappointed. He then took off her skirt and noticed she had on something underneath that as well. Silly humans and all these clothes, he thought.

Inuyasha looked around for any other blankets, but he didn't find one. He got the one thick blanket and wrapped Kagome in it. He put his hakama around her too. Then he read the last part and thought he would do that if nothing else worked. He was not about to have a bruised face because he was trying to save her. But as much as he tried, Inuyasha couldn't make her warm enough. She did get some of her color back though.

"Inu-Inuyasha," whispered Kagome.

"What? Are you okay?"

"I'm fine, but you look like a popsicle. Come get in the blanket with me." Kagome looked in the direction of Inuyasha's voice. He was on the farthest wall away from her.

"No," replied Inuyasha. "You need it more. After all I am a half demon. Achoo! Achoo!"

"Well those sound like you're dying. So you either come over here or I go over there."

"Okay," Inuyasha relented, "although I'm only doing this because I didn't want you to get up." Then Inuyasha got up and said, "Kagome, turn around."

"All right, all right!"

Inuyasha started taking off his clothes and Kagome turned red, after all she was about to share a blanket with a naked Inuyasha! Inuyasha slid in behind Kagome. He put one arm under his head and another on his side.

“Are you comfortable Inuyasha?” asked Kagome.

“Hmph.”

“I guess that means yes.” Kagome muttered.

Inuyasha's ears picked up what she said though. “What gave you that idea?”

“Well, are you not comfortable?”

“Yeah, I guess so,” replied Inuyasha.

“I'm not going to argue over this with you, got it?”

Inuyasha looked at her, “I got it.”

2 - finally

After a few minutes, they fell asleep. Inuyasha's arm fell over Kagome's stomach, while Kagome was dreaming this...

"Kagome, your eyes are so beautiful, just like the rest of you."

"Thank you Inuyasha, but I think your dog ears are more beautiful." And with that she started rubbing them.

"Oh, Kagome, stop! It's killing me. Ohhh! But it feels so good!" Then he started kissing her, hard and ferociously.

"Inuyasha!" screamed Kagome. Then she woke up feeling oddly warm and wet, but not the way you think. Inuyasha was licking her! And she was LOVING it.

Oh, I know this is wrong, but I don't want him to stop, thought Kagome.

"Oh Kagome! You taste so good." Then he stopped and looked at her. "Are you sure about this?"

"Yes, I trust you Inuyasha."

"Ok. But I hope you're completely sure about this." He then unhooked her bra or more accurately, tore it apart.

"Inuyasha," Kagome said breathlessly. She tried to cover herself up.

"No, stop. You said you trusted me right." She nodded. "Then I expect you to live up to your word." He looked down at her and kissed her gently to reassure her. Then he trailed kisses down her throat and onto her chest until he came to her breast. He drew one into his mouth, sucking lightly at first, then licking and nibbling a little. He did the same to the other one as well.

Kagome was breathless-literally. She couldn't believe what was happening. Inuyasha was making love to her! But she wasn't exactly protesting. She was urging him on, putting her hands on his head and pushing him lower. She wanted him to pleasure her EVERYWHERE!

"Kagome, you taste wonderful. I don't want to stop, do you want me to?" He stilled.

No! Don't stop Inuyasha. I've always wanted this. So don't stop!" Kagome said to him.

Inuyasha looked at her, and then parted her legs. He slid off her underwear and started kissing her left thigh all the way to her right.

"Oh, Inuyasha! That feels so good," Kagome said. She then felt his ears twitch against her leg. She looked down to find Inuyasha between her legs, his face inches from her core. "Inuyasha?" Kagome queried.

But he didn't answer, just bent down until his lips touched her. It felt as if she was on fire! Her legs buckled and tempted to close, but Inuyasha had his hands on them, holding them open.

Inuyasha was getting dizzy, Kagome's scent was overpowering. But he wasn't going to stop; he knew Kagome was about to climax. She was rocking beneath him, thrusting up against him. Her legs would have probably crushed him if he didn't keep them open. Just then he felt her go still and she came, her juices flowing, making him even dizzier.

Kagome felt Inuyasha leaning against her leg and got worried. She hoped she hadn't hurt him when she almost smashed him to bits with her legs. She got up, forgetting her nakedness. "Inuyasha, are you okay?"

He looked up at Kagome. He couldn't believe he passed out because her scent was too overpowering.

"Yeah, I'm fine. I think I just inhaled too much of your scent and passed out."

"In that case," Kagome seductively said. "It's time to repay your kindness." She leaned down and started kissing him. Then Inuyasha took over and coaxed her mouth open and inserted his tongue into her mouth. She could still taste herself on his tongue.

"Inuyasha," Kagome she said, while still kissing him, "it was my turn to pleasure you. So stop taking over!"

"Yes ma'am." He stopped. "Have your way with me."

"Kagome laughed. Inuyasha was acting different. If he was his old self, he would already be inside her. Kagome got on top of Inuyasha and started kissing him on his throat, his shoulders, and anything else within reach.

Inuyasha's hands itched to move. He wanted Kagome to be in command. He wanted to see what she could do. He wanted HER!

"Inuyasha," Kagome said between kisses, "what are you thinking?"

"I'm thinking that if you don't hurry, I'm going to flip you over and have MY way with YOU!"

"Then why don't you?" came the unexpected reply.

"I would but you said you wanted to be in control," Inuyasha said looking at the top of Kagome's head.

"Well, I want you to be control now. I can have my way later." And with that she gave him one last kiss and flipped herself over.

"Hmmm. If you want me to..." Inuyasha put his whole hand on Kagome's breast, and started rubbing it, hardening her nipples to a point. Then he got his other hand and put it between her folds, pushing it in and out. He felt her contracting around his finger, holding it in tightly then letting it go.

"Inuyasha," restraining herself from release, Kagome said, "I want you to come with me. Now!"

Inuyasha felt her need, so he parted her legs and entered her slowly. He knew that she was a virgin and there would be pain. He watched her register the pain.

"Inuyasha, will you please start moving? I'm getting kind of stiff," Kagome said painfully.

Inuyasha laughed, and then Kagome felt him moving. She went into rhythm with him so quickly; you'd think they'd been doing this all the time. Then the rhythm suddenly picked up. Inuyasha was close to coming, she knew because she was up there with him.

Inuyasha knew he was close, so he started getting faster and faster. He was afraid he was hurting Kagome though.

"Kagome," was all he could say, and then he came. He poured his seed into Kagome. He felt airborne for awhile then slowly came back down to earth. He pulled out of Kagome, lay beside her and pulled her into his arms. Then he put the blanket over them.

"Kagome, are you okay? I didn't hurt you did I?" Inuyasha asked after he got her settled.

"I'm fine Inuyasha. That was wonderful. I could do it again if I wasn't so tired," she said with a twinkle in her eye.

"Okay, you get some rest then," said Inuyasha, then he gathered her close and fell asleep.

They did a repeat of what you just read (with a few changes of course) a few more times that night and in the morning got fairly decent and went to meet their friends.

"Kagome! Inuyasha! Hey, where have you been? We've been looking for you," Sango said looking them over, and then she noticed their clasped hands and looked at Miroku. He was looking at them like they were crazy, which they probably were for all they knew.

"Kagome, you're positively glowing!" Kagome turned bright red, but kept her hand in Inuyasha's. "Is there anything I should know about?" questioned Miroku.

"Miroku, it's there business! So leave them to it," Shippo yelled at Miroku when Kagome blushed.

"Yeah Miroku!" Sango said after looking at Inuyasha and Kagome smiling at each other. She then whispered to Kagome, "You'll tell me later won't you? Please."

This went on for awhile. Miroku trying to get answers out of Kagome and Inuyasha (who didn't yell at Miroku even ONCE!) and Sango and Shippo trying to make him stop. But all through this Kagome and Inuyasha kept to themselves.

3 - kidnapped by kouga!?

What are you thinking about Inuyasha?" asked Kagome, rubbing his hair.

"Nothing. Why'd you ask?" he replied.

"No reason, except that you look like you were somewhere else. Were you thinking about Kikyo?"

"NO! What made you think that!" Inuyasha exclaimed, turning around to look at her.

"Because I was thinking about her," Kagome said, going quiet.

"Why?" Inuyasha said really low. "We don't have to worry about her anymore. She should understand that I chose you and not her."

"I know she SHOULD, but I don't think she does. She tried to kill you and me both a lot of times. I just don't trust her Inuyasha."

"Well you don't have to worry about that, I'll protect you," he said, gathering her close. "I'll protect you and the baby."

While they were talking they didn't notice that Koga had come up behind them (although Inuyasha should have) and when he was getting ready to say hello to Kagome he heard the last part of what Inuyasha had said. Then he stopped and ran back to his tribe. He couldn't believe they had actually had a baby together. He knew they liked each other, but Kagome was HIS woman. He had something in store for Kagome and Inuyasha, one that would test the strength of their relationship. Koga smiled maliciously.

"Kagome! Inuyasha! Hurry up and come here." screamed Shippo. "Koga was seen running from the village just a while ago and he was coming from here. Did you see him?"

"What! That bastard was here? Why couldn't I smell him? I should have been able to." Inuyasha said exasperated.

"Well Inuyasha, if you haven't noticed, tonight is the new moon," Kagome said looking at him. "You must be losing your powers."

"But it's only noon!"

"Myouga did say something like this I think," Shippo cut in. "Didn't he say when you're overcome by a lot of emotions, your powers will start weakening?"

Kagome and Inuyasha looked at each other, each knowing what the other was thinking.

"He must have heard what I said," Inuyasha said, breaking the silence. "Probably coming to see you and when he heard me, took off."

"Now we have two problems; Koga and Kikyo. Maybe if we put them together, even if Kikyo's dead, we'll kill two birds with one stone," Kagome exclaimed. "Although, I don't think Koga likes Kikyo and vice versa."

"Kagome you know that won't work. They practically hate each other. We have to get rid of them or at least make them disappear for awhile," Inuyasha told them. "Come on let's get Miroku and Sango."

Inuyasha grabbed Kagome's hand and Shippo jumped on his shoulder, the three of them walking to Kaede's village. Kagome was far along enough in her pregnancy that sometimes you could feel the baby kick (you'll know why I put this in here later). So before they got to the hut, Kagome felt the baby kick, punch, and anything else you could think of. She stopped and put Inuyasha's hand on her stomach and before he could ask/scream why she stopped, he felt the baby kick.

"Inuyasha, Kagome? What are you doing?"

"Shippo, come here and see," Kagome said while watching Inuyasha lose himself completely to the wonderful feeling of parenthood.

Well, they were just there feeling Kagome's stomach when Sango and Miroku came looking for them, wondering what was taking Shippo so long. When they came upon the three (they had moved to the ground now, Inuyasha sitting with Kagome between his legs and Shippo in front of Kagome) they just stopped and looked at the way they looked like a family. Inuyasha the loving, sometimes jealous, husband and father; Kagome the caring mother and wife, who just adored her children; and Shippo the older son wondering what the baby would be like when it comes and thinking it would probably get everything it wants.

"Miroku, Sango! Come over here, don't just stand there gawking at us like we're crazy," Shippo said when he noticed them.

"Sorry! We were wondering where you were when you didn't come back," Sango said looking at them.

"Now we know what caught your attention," Miroku glanced at Kagome's stomach. To Kagome, "When is your baby due again?"

"In about two months actually. Why do you ask?"

"Because, I don't think you should stay in the feudal era any longer than you have to. We don't want Naraku knowing that you're pregnant now do we?"

"Miroku, you know that Naraku hasn't shown his ugly face around here in a long time. So why worry?" Inuyasha asked him.

"Because," Sango looked at him, "we don't want Kagome to get hurt...ever.

Inuyasha looked at Kagome, wondering what was going through her mind. Did she want to go back? If she did, would he let her?

"Inuyasha, you don't have to worry. I won't be in your way; I'll just stay in Kaede's village. Ok?"

"You don't have to stay Kagome; you can go back to your own time to insure the safety of our child. I won't let you stay because of me," Inuyasha grabbed her hands and then hugged her.

"That's so sweet! Inuyasha, I thought you were the "take charge" kind of guy, not the "sensitive, I actually care about you" shoot!"

They all turned at the sound of Koga's voice.

"What the hell do you want Koga! We have nothing for the likes of you!" Inuyasha jumped in front of Kagome, shielding her from Koga. Miroku soon joined him.

"Come on Kagome, let's get out of here," whispered Shippo, turning to Sango. "Help me get her up."

"I don't need help and I want to stay here and help Inuyasha!" Kagome protested.

Inuyasha turned at the sound of Kagome's voice and registered what she said. "Kagome, get out of here! I don't want you to get hurt!" When she didn't move he said, "Get out of here NOW!"

Kagome looked up and nodded. She would do anything for Inuyasha, even if it meant leaving him alone in a battle. Although she did know that Inuyasha was going to beat Koga like he did all the time. Shippo and Sango helped her up and she let them lead her away.

"Come back here Kagome, I want you to watch Inuyasha die! It wouldn't be any fun without you," Koga yelled after her. Then he ran and picked her up like a sack of flour. He started down the path he came from.

Inuyasha quickly ran after them. "You bastard! Put down Kagome and fight me like a man!" Damn, didn't he know Kagome was pregnant? He could harm the baby that way. He knew Koga didn't like him, but he says he loves Kagome, would he actually hurt their child? Inuyasha knew he couldn't risk it; he was going to kill him!

"Hey!" Sango, Miroku, and Shippo looked up. "Are ya'll going to help me or not?" Inuyasha looked back at them.

"Uh-oh." They all looked at one another. "You know something's wrong when Inuyasha starts asking for help. Come on, let's hurry." Miroku said in haste.

4 - fears and shippos memory

They all ran the way Koga went and soon came across some very thick fog.

"What in the world did this fog come from? I don't remember it being here last time we came by," Sango said. Then out of nowhere there came this explosion and they were split up. Sango to the west, Miroku to the east, Shippo to the south, and Inuyasha to the north; they didn't know what hit them.

Sango didn't know where she was. The last thing she heard was a big explosion and then they were all blasted. She sat up. Where were the others? Then she saw them; they were standing beside the well waving Kagome goodbye. She must've been dreaming. She smiled and got off the ground. "Hey you guys! Why did ya'll just leave me on the ground?"

They looked at her with such hatred that she recoiled from the force of it.

"What are you doing awake? I thought I knocked you out for at least two hours," Miroku said with contempt.

"Yeah. You weren't supposed to wake up until we buried you," It was Inuyasha who said this.

Sango couldn't believe it. Her friends hated her; she didn't think such hatred was possible amongst friends. But she guessed she was wrong.

"Well since you didn't stay on the ground like you were supposed to, we're going to have to get rid of you the fast way; just like I wanted to. Shippo turn into a bow for me please," Kagome looked at her with angry eyes.

Shippo used his fox magic and said to Kagome, "Gladly."

Sango looked up in terror then she felt her mind being carried away.

Miroku saw Sango in the bed, naked except for the sheet as much as he knew. Then he heard her soft whisper to come here. He walked as in a trance. He knelt down to where he could kiss her and then he did. It didn't feel right, he thought. Sango was cold, she felt like she wasn't even alive. Then he felt her stab him in the stomach. He looked at her and saw the glee in her face as he fell back.

"Sango, why?" Miroku's face contorted in pain. "I thought you liked me at least a little bit. Why'd you stab me?"

"Because you felt on too many girls."

And that's the last thing he heard before he saw eternal darkness.

"Shippo! Come on! You're so slow." Shippo's twin sister called to him from where she was standing on the bridge.

"Yumi, come back over here. That bridge is rotting and isn't safe. I'm going to tell mom and dad." He turned around and then he heard the ripping of a rope.

"YUMI!"

"Shippo! Help MEEEEEE!" Yumi was hanging on by her tail (she couldn't use her fox magic because she lived with her mother and her mom thought she was too young.)

"Yumi! Hang on!" He turned towards his house. "Mommy, daddy! Yumi is stuck on the bridge. I can't help her."

Their parents ran out and saw Yumi on the bridge. "Yumi!" Shippo's mom just started going crazy.

"Yumi, hold on. Don't let go of the rope!" She turned to Shippo. "How could you let this happen? You're her older brother."

"I didn't mean to mom. She just ran out there. I told her to come back, but she didn't listen." Shippo ran to his dad, at least he'll believe him.

"Shippo, how did this happen?" His father looked down at him. "You were supposed to be watching her."

"I WAS watching her. But you know she's faster than me; she ran on the bridge before I could tell her not to."

CRASH!

They both turned around, not wanting to look, but knowing they had to.

"YUMI!" Shippo ran to the now destroyed bridge. "Mama! Yumi! Come back!" Shippo sat down and started crying. He couldn't believe his mother and sister were dead. It just wasn't possible. He looked at his father. "What are we going to do now?"

"Oh Inuyasha! I thought you were going to leave me with Koga. What took you so long?" Kagome kissed his cheek and his fangs.

"Uhhhh... I don't remember. Kagome what are you doing?" She was now undressing him. She already had his shirt off.

"What does it look like?"

"Where's Koga? I know he's somewhere around here." Inuyasha started looking around. He took Kagome's arms off of himself even though he didn't want to.

"Is that all you think about? Beating up Koga?" Kagome got up. "Hmph! Then you can stay with him for all I care." Then she just disappeared.

"Kagome! Come back! Damn!" Inuyasha cursed himself. What was Kagome's problem? She's the one who wanted to get rid of Koga and Kikyo.

Everything went blank. When Inuyasha woke up, he was tied to a post with his arms spread out and all he could see were two people who looked really familiar.

They looked at him. "Ah, so you're finally awake." The speaker came forward.

"Koga!" Inuyasha looked at the other guy, except it wasn't a guy, it was Kagome! She looked like Kagome, thought Inuyasha, but she isn't acting like her and he KNEW Kagome. Then he got it. "Kikyo, what are you doing with Koga? I thought you hated him."

"Inuyasha, hate is a strong word. I hate you, but I just don't like Koga. How did you see through my disguise anyway? I thought we looked just alike."

"I saw through it because Kagome doesn't act like a dog! And I don't believe Kagome would betray me on purpose."

"You're right Inuyasha," Koga spoke up. "She wouldn't do it on purpose, but what if she wasn't in her right mind?"

Just then Kagome came walking out of the fog. "How are you Inuyasha? I thought you wanted to kill Koga; why isn't he dead yet?" Kagome sidled up to Koga's side and put her arms around him. Inuyasha looked at Koga as if he wanted to rip out his insides and feed them to his friends.

"Kagome, do you still love Inuyasha? If you don't, I'll take him," Kikyo said walking up to Inuyasha.

"He's actually very nice when you want him to be. Isn't that right Inuyasha?"

"As if! Get away from me Kikyo. Even if Kagome doesn't love me anymore," he took a deep breath, "I still love her."

Silence erupted then suddenly there was a loud scream.

"INUYASHA!"

They all looked at Kagome. She was running at Kikyo and with the strength she had, she tackled her-or more accurately-she punched her and she disappeared in a puff of smoke...

"Whoa! What a punch!" Inuyasha was still tied up, trying to rip away his bonds. "Can you help me Kagome?"

"Inuyasha, did you say you loved me?" She was trying to cut his bonds off. "I think that was what broke the spell; your proclamation of love."

"Well, don't let it go to your head." He looked at Koga. He was trying to get away. "Now that you know that nothing will get in the middle of our relationship, you're gonna run away?"

"No," Koga looked panicked. "I was going to go inform my men of my whereabouts."

"How bout I tell them for you?" Inuyasha didn't let him answer. He punched Koga right in the jaw and he disappeared in a puff of smoke as well.

"Were they even real? Koga doesn't usually act like that." She looked around. "Where are the others?"

"I don't know. They were here when I came to rescue you. I think there was this big explosion and we all split up. Come on, let's look for them."

They finally met up with their friends and when they did they heard the weirdest things.

"What do you mean I stabbed you because you felt on too many girls? You can feel on monkeys for all I care." Sango punched Miroku in the arm playfully. "Of course, if you get too friendly with them I just might put my boomerang against that thick skull of yours."

"Right! I'll keep that in mind."

Shippo looked at his friends. They were all so happy; they didn't know what kind of pain he was in. They didn't have to relive their sister's death. Over and over again. He got up and started walking away.

"Shippo, where are you going?" Kagome asked, looking at him walking away. She turned to the others.

"Did ya'll do something to make him upset?"

"No, they didn't!" Shippo threw over his shoulder. "I just want to be alone."

"But," Kagome started, but Inuyasha stopped her.

"Let me handle this," he said.

"Okay." Inuyasha was acting all fatherly like; it was a nice change.

Inuyasha ran after Shippo. "Hey, what's wrong? What happened to you?"

"Nothing, just leave me alone." Shippo walked faster. "You wouldn't understand anyway."

"How do you know that? I probably have gone through what you have. Just tell me what that is."

"Inuyasha, have you ever lost anyone you loved very much, not counting Kikyo?"

"Well...." He almost lost Kagome a million times, would that count?

"Yes or no Inuyasha?"

"Would losing Kagome count? Although I haven't lost her, she's been taken from me a lot of times."

"No, but that would be a start. You see, I lost my sister in an accident. I was supposed to be watching her, but she was faster than me and she ran on the bridge before I could stop her." Shippo started crying.

"Hold on, don't start crying on me. Start from the beginning."

"Okay, this is what happened....."