Little Girl, Mom and Dad:poem

By BlackPaint

Submitted: November 20, 2006
Updated: November 20, 2006

A random poem I amde up when I was bored its pretty sad
maybe it'll jerk a few tears from you who knows

(sorry if this is like anyone else's poem! I didn't mean to!)

1 - Little Girl, Mom and Dad

Little girl, felt so sad
Little girl, treated so bad
Little girl, this wasn t your day
Little girl, she ran away

Little girl, she was so bold
Little girl, out in the cold
Little girl, where s your sweater?
Little girl, she left a letter

 Mom and Dad, you never thought I would Mom and Dad, I m gone for good
Mom and Dad, don t try to find me
Mom and Dad, I don t want you to see

Mom and Dad, I know you cared
Mom and Dad, all those memories we shared Mom and Dad, the bad times you loved me through Mom and Dad, I loved you too

Mom and Dad, tried to find
Little girl, had lost her mind
Mom and Dad, were shocked to see
Little girl, under a tree

Little girl, she was so numb
Little girl, next to her was a bottle of rum
Little girl, her eyes are shut
Little girl, you have a single cut

Little girl, you were so nice
Little girl, now you re ice
Little girl, you were hurt weren t you?
Little girl, your lips are blue

Mom and Dad, they held her tight
Mom and Dad, so full of fright
Mom and Dad were ready to cry
Mom and Dad, she s going to die

Little girl, had no life
Little girl, so full of strife

Little girl, so close to death
Little girl, muttered with her final breath

Mom and Dad, you are so blurry
Mom and Dad, please don t worry
Mom and Dad, I know I m going to die
Mom and Dad, goodbye

Little girl, she passed away
Little girl, nothing left to say
Little girl, laying in her bed
Little girl, now you re dead

Mom and Dad, they loved her so Little girl, they ll never know
Mom and Dad, so sad their daughter had passed
Little girl, you re happy at last