2

0 - YKYP2MMW

You know you play too much Megaman when:

---

- you act like your in pain if someone bumps into/touches you.
- you can recite the entire game's storyline.
- you scavenge your closet for clothes that resemble those of your favorite character.
- your non-Megaman fan friends hate you for sending them emails with Megaman related videos/pictures that you think are funny but they don't understand.
- you name your pet after a character from one of the games. *whistles* "Axl! Here boy! Com'ere Axl!"
- you've actually tried to wall climb.
- you've actually tried to dash, and to make it look realistic, you strapped smoke bombs to your feet and lit them.
- you still cry at scenes where Zero dies, even though you've seen it and know he comes back.
- you hum Zero's death theme at every funeral you go to.
- your cell's ringtone consist of a Megaman theme song.
- you think of Capcom as a god.
- you learn to play Megaman theme songs on several different instruments.
- the last game you bought was a Megaman game.
- you're trying to learn Japanese just so you can understand what the characters are saying when they jump or attack.

I might continue to add more.
