Setsuko-chan: It's actually one of my friends weird things ((She just kind of blurts odd things out... --; )), please comment or flame whatever, randomly talk I don't care! Days pass as the monster grows feeding on my fears. I scream your name, but you don't answer. I've always feared you'd hate me, the monster starts to eat. Munching away, that fear is no more. I don't seem to care now, that it's gone, you don't matter anymore, You are no more. Cancer, has taken over my family, that was always a nightmare of mine. Crunch! I'm drifting slowly away from reality, the monster growing larger with every bite. I don't care anymore, my family dying, I don't care. No one listens. Why? I don't know I don't care! People hate me but I don't care anymore. My life has gone completely wrong, but I don't care. Some say that I've slipped into a new skin, not the once cheerful, joyful little girl I used to be. Yet a young Apathic Monster, never to express, but to sit staring. A blank expression upon my face, never talking, always staring, my fears are all gone, my happiness too. What has this monster done to me. I wish I could cry but the tears just won't come. I've lost my friends, my family, my sanity.
