

Carelessly Anywhere._

By Reigning_Fyre

Submitted: June 24, 2006

Updated: June 24, 2006

Title: Carelessly Anywhere

Rating: PG

Summary: I want to be near you. Why have they taken you from me when I want so much to see your face only one last time?

1. One-Shot

This has been spat out due to one of the most BEAUTIFUL songs I've ever heard.... E-mail me for it's link if ya want.~*+~Carelessly Anywhere~*+~Why does it hurt so much to remember something that I can't even know about? I search and try to find something that doesn't even exist anymore. The love I felt for him and he for I is completely destroyed by the society which we both would die for. Now we are kept apart by steel and magic. The hate that I feel for the people I used to love. It's so overbearing some days I feel like exploding and leaving the shards of my heart for someone else to clean up and then throw away with the day's garbage. I want you.I couldn't feel your skin or your hair for so long and now I can. But they won't let me and I'm so very angry. I want to drive all the tears from your eyes with sweet kisses and promises of never leaving you. They keep me away and locked so that I can't find you. I wonder if you look for me too. I can't believe it's been three years and I've not already died. Every second tears a little more into my crystal heart. Are you crying? Have you forgotten about me? I want to know if you still look the same or if you're even taller than before. I just wish I could touch you once more. But here I lay. Upon the stone table with my fake limbs removed in a cell to never be opened. They feed me through the ceiling for their fear of being seen by me. Who is my captor? I don't know. I was drugged and then dragged off and then beaten. I would endure it all again just to see your face once more and tell you that I DO love you. That I will ALWAYS love you. My precious brother, I'm dying here without you.