

The scientist

By alichino

Submitted: July 24, 2006

Updated: July 24, 2006

I have decided to put up a poem rather than a story...so yes this is a poem. A poem dedicated to the great Hojo and Vincent who sadly doesn't end up with a good ending.

1. The Scientist

A gun shot rang out through the mansion,
His wife gave a look of surprise,
As hojo stood there cackling,
Over the man he did despise.

His wife was shocked with his actions,
Screaming out loud from the sight,
For Hojo glanced up at the beauty,
She return the look with fright.

He regained his usual posture,
His laugh replaced with a snide,
He was happy with his destruction,
The bloody body he now eyed.

He fiddled with his glasses timidly,
They caught the glare of the dim,
"Listen here Valentine!" He cried,
"This is yet another sin..."