

I'll remeber you for always

By invaderXgothgirl

Submitted: July 26, 2006

Updated: July 26, 2006

A sad poem I wrote while listening to 'My Immortal' By Evanescence.

1. I'll remember you for always

The sun doesn't shine so bright today

Grass doesn't grow so green.

The memories of you start to fade away.

Some can't even be seen.

Now that you're gone

She lies in her room

Thinking of your smile till dawn

But still she s surrounded by gloom

Some thought of you as a sister

Most thought of you as a friend

You were more to her

And now her heart won t mend.

She wakes up everyday

Running to your bed

Hoping to see it was just a dream

But each day sadness

Takes over the thoughts in her head

As she sits by your grave

For what seems like days

She lays down her flowers and whispers

I ll remember you for always