

Just a little something

By sofiadivine

Submitted: August 24, 2006

Updated: August 24, 2006

I have just been in a writing mood. So here is a little something from the heart.

1. Just a little something from the heart

From the heart, some speak.
When does the heart start speaking?
Is it when the brain stops thinking?
Is it when you are in love?
Is it when you are in pain?
Is it when you hurt?
Is it when you lose someone close?
When is it?
I say it's always.
The brain always thinks.
The heart always speaks.
You see a smile on someone's face
You see someone crying,
You see someone in love,
You see someone living life to the fullest.
Every one of those little ways,
The heart speaks.
We don't see it that way though.
We are raised to think the heart speaks only in love.
However, the heart always speaks,
We just have to learn to listen to it.
It takes time,
It takes practice.
But in the end, the world is a better place,
When our heart shines through us every day.
However, when you are in love,
You dedicate yourself to one person.
Your heart and theirs become one.
And you are one forever.
True love comes once in a life time.
When you find it, hold on to it for life.
Never let it go, for you won't find it again.
When true love is found we are the luckiest person alive.
We can't stop smiling.
We can't stop been cheerful.
We can't stop looking forward to the future.
So yes the heart speaks louder during those times.
However remember, Always Speak from the Heart.
Don't let your brain do all the speaking and all the working.
In the end your heart will always be the loudest.