

Blood, Tears, and Darkness

By DameonUzumaki

Submitted: January 27, 2007

Updated: January 27, 2007

Sakura was placed in another group when a student was killed. Replacing Sakura's place, a new student. She is about as old as Naruto. Naruto gets more focused with something he wants to protect. Sauske loses his focus when he meets her.

1. Meeting "Her"

Naruto and Sauske waited eagerly to meet their new team mate. "Has to be better than Sakura..." mumbled Sauske as he messed with his headband. "Yeah, but when I call her!" Naruto yelled. "You can't call somebody, Naruto. Especially if you haven't met them yet. Such a loser..." Sauske huffed. "Ha! Face it! Your jealous!" Naruto yelled back. Sauske grew angry. "I am not!" They started a scrap, when the door slid open. Revealing a girl.

"This is your new team mate. Sauske, Naruto, this... is Dameon." Kakashi said politely. Sauske looked at her suprised, he couldn't take her eyes off her. "You three can take the time to get to know each other," Kakashi said cooly. "I'm off to read..."

"Alright Sauske..." Naruto hinted. "You can leave now!"

"What?!" asked Sauske. "No way!"

"Hello," the girl said quietly. "My name is Dameon Kankiho. You guys are ninjas of the Village Hidden In The Leaves too?" she asked. "Yeah..." dribbled Sauske. "You'll have to excuse my friend," Naruto said as he pushed Sauske aside. "He's an idiot." Dameon giggled. "Hey! If anybody is the idiot, it's you Naruto!" Sauske yelled as he tackled Naruto. They started the scrap they had left off when Kakashi had entered.