

the landing

By invaderzaty

Submitted: April 21, 2007

Updated: April 23, 2007

dib awakes with a start he had just heard a huge bang outside of his window.....what could it be?????

1. invader zatyr

Dib woke with a startle, he had just heard a loud whirring then a bang. He looked out of his bedroom window and saw a pile of burning metal. He was confused why was a pile of burning metal in his garden. Just as he went to go back to sleep he saw a green blur "zim!" he whispered loudly. He quickly changed out of his pajamas, grabbed his torch and ran outside. He saw the blur disappear behind his dad's car, he slowly approached where the blur went..... And before he knew it he was face to face with an angered irkan. It was obviously scared, it was shaking and trying to talk to Dib but because of it was scared it was mumbling in jumbled sentences. It was obviously the one who crashed it was covered in blood and had cuts and gashes across its arms and face. As Dib was gonna grab the gun out of its hand, a robot (like gir but female-looking) jumped on Dib's head and pinned him down to the ground. The irkan that was gonna shoot Dib, quickly ran back over to the burning heap and started clawing at the wreck with mechanical, spider-like "limbs". Then a gargled mumbled sound came from within the heap. The irkan with the gun picked out another irkan out of the heap with its "limbs". The irkan that came out of the heap said to the other "are you OK darlin?" "darling" Dib thought to himself maybe the one holding the gun is female. Just as he was finished thinking the robot jumped off and held him up like a wet rug. The female irkan walked towards Dib and said to him calmly "I'm your new next door neighbour zatyr and that male is zwaan and the robot is zari". She smiled then walked into her house.

the end

2. class

After his strange encounter he was determined to at least expose one of the irkans and their plan to destroy earth. He knew zim needed backup to destroy earth because he was too stupid to do it on his own. He woke up as usual and went down stairs to get his breakfast, gaz said hello with her usual grumble. Just as he finished his breakfast he saw the skool bus coming and rushed to try and catch it, he reached the door but the bus went he noticed two new kids sitting in the back of the bus..... He was suspicious, could they be the two irkans he met the day before?? He quickly chased after the bus but by the time he caught up with it he was at skool, nearly dying on the pavement the two new kids approached him and gave him some water he got up with a start. "you!" dib shouted, the two kids jumped back in shock "what?" they said in unison. "you aliens!!" he shouted again, the two kids looked to see if anyone was around then they grabbed dibs t-shirt "you tell anyone and you will pay the price of the universe" the female said then walked away, she turned then said "oh and by the way my skool name is ember and he is river". Dib was in shock how could such a small "child" pick him up. He slowly got up and walked to class. When he got there ms bitters was in the middle of introducing river and ember. River got seated next to dib and ember got seated behind him, he was surrounded. The bell rung and all the kids got out of their seats and shouted "recess!" river and ember looked confused so they just followed the crowd. Dib approached them slowly and cautiously he knew they had him overpowered he asked "are you here to help zim???", they looked at him then laughed, dib looked confused they stopped then said "are you joking?? This planet has many resources why would we waste them, zim would destroy this entire planet" then walked off laughing.

the end

3. zim!

After dib found out what the two irkans were doing he decided he should help. so he went home he had to gain their trust. So after skool he knocked on the door of the two irkans. Ember answered the door "what do you want big head" . "my heads not big!" he shouted in dismay. "ok what do you want???" she said in an agitated voice "I was wondering if i could help you on your mission?" he said in a hushed voice. she looked at him thinking if she should trust them "well.... ok but if you mess up you are out". dib thought about this opportunity for the moment he could trick them and get them caught or he could help them save earth.... He went home to think about what to do. As he went home he met gaz on the way he told her the whole story, she was slowly getting annoyed and picked dib up "i am on the last nerve dib one more word and i will choke-slam you into the next century!". Just as he had finished what he was saying zim walked past "zim!" dib said glaring at him, "now you will never destroy the earth i have a team now!" zim looked confused " a team???" who is it, your gerbils??? hahahahahaha!" "no, two IRKANS that are also trying to stop you, so now who laughing". "i am still laughing; Dib-human, like two irkans would try to stop me." The two irkans walked around the corner just as he said that. they told him and he stood there for ages; mouth open in shock;

the end

