

The realm of nothingness (sonic story)

By kyuubi64

Submitted: February 18, 2008

Updated: March 23, 2008

tell your little buddies about it.

Provided by Fanart Central
<http://www.Fanart-Central.net>

0. Ages and character overviews (in the story)

Just in case your wonderin....

Main characters in story! (I'll add more as I go along)

Korono

Age-14

Created character mainly for this story. He has shining golden spines. The spines on his head spike upward, kinda like sonic when he is in super form.

A natural in combat and fighting and does surprisingly well in battles even though he has never laid a hand on a weapon before this story.

Hazard (this is the first time i made a sonic story thing without him as the main character)

Age-14 (in this story)

(check the story "my ocs for bio and my pictures for appearance. im too lazy to write it out)

Kaota the oza

age-203

adapts well to human society, and speaks modernly. He is considered to be about 14 in oza. very quiet and has enhanced senses.

Tala the bobcat

age-14 (in this story)

Tala777's character. check out her gallery and stuff for bio and pictures

Eclipse

age-14 (in the story)

FluffysPrincess2968's character. check gallery for information

Flash

age-15 (in this story)

FluffysPrincess2968's character. check gallery for information

1. Chapter 1

Korono was sleeping in his lonely apartment on the fifth story in his apartment building, in New York city.

Korono: snores

A large muscular being burst open through a door two rooms away. He brandished a huge sword and was dark blue overall in color. He wore black armor on his torso and long plates on his arms.(kinda like wonder woman) His wings were about twice his size and remained folded on his back.

It stepped heavily and slammed opened doors as he walked through the main hall, looking for something.

Korono still lay sleeping.

BAM!

The door to the room Korono slept in was slammed open with one swipe of the monster's enormous arms.

He breathed hard and gave out a grunt of accomplishment as he found what he was looking for.

Korono: Still sleeping

The monster tread over to the foot of the bed, nearly tripping over the junk on Korono's floor. As it reached it's destination, he raised his sword over Korono's body.

Korono: wakes up What the heck is that?!

Korono instantly realized that this thing was trying to kill him, and he rolled off the bed just as the creature's sword came in contact with his bed. It collapsed inward.

Korono: 0_0

The creature swung it's sword down hard to try to hit Korono and he stepped nimbly aside just in time. It's sword got stuck in the floor with a thud. Korono shot a lightning fast kick at it's chest and it staggered back a few steps. Korono didn't stop there. He sent a barrage of rapid kicks and punches and finished it off with a powerful kick to the face. It fell out of the window behind it and plummeted into the chaos below.

Korono: steps forward and looks out broken window

The creature fell and fell. But it recollected itself and flipped back over. It's enormous wings snapped open and it flapped furiously right before it hit the floor. A flurry of wind was sent at the ground and it soared into the the black sky above.

Korono: turns around Well I see it left it's sword here.

He pulled the sword from the floor with much effort and looked it over. There were a few scratches here and there but, overall, it was in great condition. He placed it in his dark closet and shut the door. He lay down on the cluttered floor and drifted off to back sleep.

2. Chapter 2

Korono stepped out the tall apartment building and walked into the street. The streets were empty and there was a strange atmosphere lingering in the air.

???: GRAWHHHH!!

The creature that had ventured into his apartment three days before, was now in the air, spiraling down aiming for where he now stood.

Korono: leave me alone!

Korono leaped aside and the creature slammed into the ground. A huge crater was imprinted into the sidewalk where it stood.

Korono: What do you want from me?

The creature lunged at Korono, and once again, he dodged. It fell onto the floor and it's anger went off the charts.

Creature: RAWR!!!!

Korono decided to fight back now. They both charged at each other with amazing speed. As they met halfway, the monster swung a punch at Korono's face. He ducked and sent a lightning fast punch into it's stomach. It was lifted from the ground for a second, and Korono could hear the air escaping from it's mouth.

Creature: RAWR!!!

The monster instinctively sent its huge fist into Korono's chest, and he went flying. He landed on the cement sidewalk with a thud. His vision blurred, and he saw the monster coming towards him again to finish him off. It ran up to him and jumped into the air with it's muscular legs.

THUD!

A medium sized sword smashed into it's flank, and it was sent flying away from Korono's body. A white and red flash leaped with eye blurring speed and smacked into the monster in mid air. In one hand, a sword was created instantly, and he brought it crashing down into it's heart. And all this happened before they even hit the floor. But, then the figures became cloudy and Korono slipped into unconsciousness.

3. Chapter 3

Korono sat up. The white and red blur he saw before was sitting in a chair on the other side of the room. He had spikes coming out of each side of his head and wore a black and white sweater and jeans.

Hedgehog: My name is Hazard

Korono: Mine's Korono. That name suits you.

Hazard: smiles

Korono: Where.... am I?

Hazard: You're in a hospital. Two of you ribs were fractured when you took that hit. Sorry I didn't jump in sooner.

Korono: It's alright.

Korono looked around for the first time since he woke up. The room was pretty plain. There was a TV in the direction his hospital bed faced, and he was hooked up to a bunch of equipment. His side was bandaged up, and it throbbed in pain constantly.

Hazard: I see a lot of potential in your strength and fighting style. Have you fought before this?

Korono: No.... I guess not.

Hazard: Amazing. But I suggest you take this and keep it with you at all times, just in case another one of those monsters attacks you again.

He stood up from his seat and walked towards Korono. In a burst of light, a sword appeared in his hand.

Korono: Wow! How did you do that?!

Hazard: I forgot.

Korono laughed as he took the sword. He set it down right next to his bed and thanked him.

Hazard: I got to go. I'll come back in three days to see how your doing. To make sure your still in one piece, ya know?

Hazard was gone in a flash. Korono felt a sense of admiration at his amazing speed. There was also something about him that contradicted how young he looked.

Korono: thinks to himself Interesting.....

Korono lay back down and fell asleep.

4. Chapter 4

Almost a month later, Korono was free from the hospital. He carried his sword by him as he walked out and looked around as if another creature was going to come out of nowhere and attack him again. All was clear. He walked down the street in the direction to his apartment.

He inserted his key into his door and opened it slowly. All was cluttered as he had left it. He walked through his living room and down through the hall and opened the door to his room.

There were holes in the walls, and his valuables were thrown carelessly onto the floor. He was appalled. The same broken window remained. And a few black feathers floated right outside the window.

flap flap

He looked outside the window and saw a different creature flying away from his room. He turned away in anger and figured he would go after the creature to see what it had stolen. He looked in his drawer and searched for the necklace he almost always had taken when he left. It was gone. He clenched his teeth in rage and trampled outside with his sword. He hopped on the motorcycle that he hardly even used, because he believed that it cost too much. (Gas, maintenance and stuff)

SCREEEECH

He took off in anger after the monster, constantly getting farther and farther away. The monster turned it's head around and flapped harder. Korono sped up and swerved through traffic, and not stopping at red lights.

Behind him, he heard police sirens blaring. There was no stopping now. At least they couldn't catch up with him.

He showed obvious signs of persistence as he kept following it, even as it left New York city a while later.

The creature now showed signs of slowing as his wings beat down slower, and slower. Korono smiled as he saw the creature land in a tree to rest. He got closer and closer to the tree the animal perched on. As he approached, he stood up on the seat, and let his motorcycle's inertia keep him going. He was now seconds from the tree and he leaped onto the branch it sat on. Below, the motorcycle skid onto the ground.

Creature: I have no business with you!

Korono: I believe you do. points to it's hand, where necklace is

Amazingly, the monster spoke, but Korono couldn't care less right now. He moved further down the branch in an effort to take it by force. The monster whipped out a sword from his waist attempted to strike down upon Korono's head.

Korono immediately protected himself with the sword he held in his hand. As the steel of their swords clanged together, he made a twisting motion and sent the sword away from the monster's grasp. Korono kicked the creature from the tree in anger and it hit the earth with a loud thud. The ground vibrated.

Korono: NOW are you going to give that necklace back to me?

Monster: Whatever you want! Take it if you must! holds up necklace

Korono leaped from the tall tree and took the necklace. Strangely, he wasn't angry anymore, now he was more curious.

Korono: What's your name anyways?

Monster: Kaota

Korono: That's a weird name for a giant, muscular, winged creature.

Kaota: My mother named me that! She says it's beautiful!

Korono: Ok, whatever.

Korono: So, where were you going with my necklace?

Kaota: I was going to this big rip in the sky called oza. But it actually is above the arctic circle. I was supposed to bring that necklace you've got to our queen, but obviously, I can't return now, because I don't have that necklace.

Korono: And you never will return, because I'm not giving it back. What's so special about it anyways?

Kaota: Well, you see.... ummm, look at that diamond at the end. That glowy thingie you see inside.... our species thrives off of it to survive.

Korono Well, I can't go back to my apartment either because the cops are looking for me now.

Kaota: So I guess we've got to go somewhere..... coughs Arctic circle!

Korono: Well, it's better than nothing. I'll go talk to your queen once we get over there. And plus, I'm kinda curious about oza.

Kaota collected his sword from the ground. Korono got back on his motorcycle, and Kaota flew overhead. And with that, their journey commenced!

5. Chapter 5

Korono and Kaota's journey had gone smoothly so far. They were attacked by only three monsters since they began to go north.

Korono: Do you see that? points at a giant bird like thing

Kaota: Yea, it's another oza.

Korono: Oza.....? I thought that was where we're going.

Kaota: "monsters" like me. Our species is named after where we live.

Korono: Ok.

They could tell that the oza was circling something. Then they realized there were actually three. One broke off from the rest of the group, and dive bombed something under the foliage of tree leaves up ahead. A girl screamed and a bolt of lightning struck the oza. It flew up again.

Korono: Let's hurry up and see whats going on. unstraps sword and holds it in one hand

Kaota: does the same yea

They emerged from the trees and entered a small clearing. A purple and white hedge-cat and a black echidna with yellow, lightning like streaks were in the middle, fending off the oza.

Korono: We'll help you!

Kaota flew up into the air towards the three oza. They immediately appeared twice as vicious as before and struck at Kaota with their claws. Kaota dodged and weaved through the multitude of attacks being sent at him, and stabbed one with his sword. It hit the ground and it's life was taken away in an instant.

Korono: I wanna fight!!

Kaota: Oh, sorry.

Kaota dropped from the sky and grabbed Korono's hand. He threw him up at the two remaining oza with amazing strength. Korono soared up and sliced the two oza in one wide arc of his sword. The oza both fell to the ground and ceased breathing. As Korono fell back down, Kaota caught him and placed him back onto the ground.

Korono: looks at the two strangers I'm Korono and this is Kaota points. What are your names, and where are you bound?

Eclipse. The female hedge-cat answered. The echidna declared his name was Flash.

Flash: We really aren't going anywhere.

Korono: You could join us, we are going to the arctic circle, a rip in the sky to be exact.

Eclipse: Interesting... speaks to flash

Eclipse: Sure!

Kaota: fills them in with their mission Why did those oza attack you?

Flash: Simply put, they were hungry.

They began walking, and Korono left his motorcycle in the clearing.

Korono: It ran out of gas.

Kaota: Ohhhh.....

6. Chapter 6

It was cold and bright. The water was freezing and the sky was a pale gray. Rigid winds blew across the barren, dry, ice. They were finally at the arctic circle and they could see a purple blue crack in the sky, clear as anything.

Eclipse: I'm cold.

Korono: Strangely, I'm not.

Kaota: Look above.

The group looked up. A mass of oza streamed out of the rip in the sky. An odious voice echoed through the rip in the sky.

???: There he is!

The oza directed their selves at the group of strangers.

Korono: What do we do?

Kaota: We will have to dodge through the oza and find our way inside.

Korono: We all can't come.

Korono and Kaota looked at Eclipse and Flash. They both smiled and politely claimed that they were fine with staying on the ground and fighting them off.

Korono: Are you sure?

Flash: Yes, we can handle it.

Korono: Okay. turns to Kaota Let's go.

Korono leaped onto Kaota's back and his magnificent wings began flapping. They rose off the floor. A hand darted out from nowhere and brought them back down.

???: You aren't going anywhere. The queen has promised to give me a little something in return if I give her that necklace of yours.

They all turned around. A tall black and blue penguin loomed over them. Kaota sent a punch at him before the blink of an eye. He caught it and smiled.

???: I don't think so.

A flaming chaos sphere came from nowhere and struck at the penguin. It was lodged deeply in his arm and he grunted in pain. He turned around and saw a white hedgehog with red streaks.

Hazard: I don't think so.

???: You bastard!

Hazard: My name is Hazard.

???: Hydro.

Hydro took the chaos spear from his arm and threw it onto the floor.

Korono and Kaota took advantage of the situation and hastily flew up into the air where the masses of oza still remained.

Hydro turned towards them, but another chaos spear flew right in front of his face.

Hazard: Don't even think about it.

Hydro: You seem like a worthy opponent. This will be an interesting battle. Fire versus water.

Flash and Eclipse stood in the background, still taking in what just happened.

Hydro and Hazard turned towards each other and the ice was blown around them. A fierce air was created and amidst all of it, there were a multitude of oza charging toward them.

Two long swords appeared in Hazard's hands, and Hydro drew a broad sword.

7. Chapter 7

Hazard and Hydro's swords clanged together and a huge shock wave expanded around them. They leaped back and struck again. This time Hazard and Hydro held their swords against each other, but that was what Hazard wanted. He struck with his free sword and Hydro took a huge leap back.

Hydro: That one almost hit me...

Hazard: I am supposed to be hitting you, right? Considering this is a battle and all....

Hydro: I hate sarcasm.

Hydro had a change in fighting style and suddenly, he seemed to take Hazard seriously. He was in front of Hazard with eye blurring speed and kept leaping back and striking with immense strength. But his speed was still slower than Hazard's.

Hazard: Hmm... You are still pretty slow.

Hydro sent a crashing tsunami at Hazard with a wave of his hand, and it didn't seem it could be avoided. Or so, Hydro thought. He easily avoided the amazingly wide wave with his speed.

Hydro: You're the first person who has avoided that.

Hazard: This is kinda pathetic. I haven't even began to even put effort into my movements.

Hydro's anger seemed to invoke something inside him that made him stronger. A chilling, invisible aura of power crept along his body.

Hazard: Interesting.

Hazard knew this would increase his power as it did when he went into his super form. But all of this power came at the cost of energy afterwards. This is why he hadn't gone super already.

Clang!

Hazard parried Hydro's lightning fast attack. It nearly knocked him off his feet. And then, Hydro was behind Hazard. He sent another attack at him, and he barely blocked the attack.

Hazard found it was time to try harder, but not yet go into super form. He super charged his swords, and electricity and fire enveloped them. And he went on the attack. He flew at Hydro with amazing speed and slashed with his sword. Hydro evaded the attack and countered it with another blow.

Hazard ducked and kicked out at Hydro. He evaded once more and smiled.

Hydro: You cant beat me.

Hazard: We'll see about that.

Hazard's whole body was enveloped in an intense heat and electricity crackled around him. The ground underneath him was weathered away.

Hazard: Now see what you have done. You pushed me into doing this.

Hydro instantly struck at Hazard with his sword, but this time, Hazard was gone. Hydro looked behind himself. Hazard stood. Hazard ran at Hydro with blinding speed and held his sword out in front of him. Hydro barely dodged the attack this time. Hazard held out his free sword where he predicted Hydro would be. Amazingly, he actually stabbed Hydro. He was electrocuted and burned at the same time and the arm he was struck in was rendered paralyzed.

Hydro: OOOHH (Censored)

Hazard leaped back and concentrated hard on his next attack.

Hazard: This should end it...

He took in a deep breath and waved both of his arms in an arc around Hydro's recovering body.

Hazard: Chaos INFERNO!!

Everything in front of him was engulfed in flame. Yet, the aura of intense cold around Hydro kept him alive.

Hazard threw his two long swords, lightning bolts and barrage of chaos spears into the inferno. All of this, and a second hadn't even passed yet.

There was no way he could survive that.

Hazard: You can't escape it.

The attacks collided with one another inside the flame and literally exploded. Hydro gave an earsplitting yell which assured Hazard that it hit.

The fire died away and nothing remained. Not a corpse. Not any ice. Nothing.

Hazard sat down on the ice, exhausted.

8. Chapter 8

Korono: Behind you.

Kaota looked back and another oza was following him. He did a maneuver and was behind the oza. He made short work of it, and knocked him out with a swipe of his hand. The rip in the sky was only a few meters away now. The oza around him tried to prevent them from entering and lunged at them in the air. Kaota dodged and now the rip in the sky was in his grasp.

Kaota: We made it.

They entered inside and immediately, they fell from the purple sky. They plunged down and landed on reddish dirt. Korono spat dirt from his mouth and looked around. Oza was kind of like earth. There were pure white trees in the distance, and even farther away, it appeared like there was a city. But for now they were stuck in a desolate red desert.

Korono: Where do we go?

Kaota: points toward the city Over there.

They began walking towards the direction Kaota pointed.

Korono and Kaota entered the large city and tons of oza were poured out onto the street. They seemed to be shopping.

Kaota: Just keep walking.

They received stares from the shopping oza. Korono tried not to stare back at them as they rushed through the streets. But then, a tall oza turned around from a cart he was buying some meat from.

???: Kaota?! It's your brother Ralo!

Kaota: Leave me alone!

Kaota started to walk faster and Ralo followed.

Korono: You didn't tell me you had a brother!

Kaota: I would rather you not know about him.

Korono: Why is that?

Ralo: Did you bring it back?!

Ralo was now catching up with them. Kaota didn't answer.

Ralo: Answer me!

It was right then, Ralo found the glimmer of Korono's necklace and immediately yelled.

Ralo: The stranger has it!

Ralo stopped and flew in front of their faces. His hand darted out to grab the necklace. Korono blocked his hand.

Kaota: This way!

They ran into a dark alley between two giant, pointy buildings. Ralo followed. And then, Bam! Kaota turned around and struck him. He was on the floor holding his face instantly. Then, Kaota grabbed Korono and they made a right turn into another alley.

A blue bobcat with brown patterns on her fur sat using the wall of a building for back support. She was listening to her ipod.

Korono: Who-

???: Tala.

Kaota: Do you mind if we hide here?

Tala: Nah.

They sat silently in the alleyway.

9. Chapter 9

A few minutes had passed and Tala was sitting there, still listening to her Ipod. There sat an awkward silence in the air.

Korono: Soooo.... Tala, how did you get here?

Tala: I was kidnapped by a few oza because they believed something i had possessed something the thing they were looking for. After they discovered I didn't have it, they just threw me into the streets. But I see your the one who truly has it.

Korono: Yea.

Kaota: How long have you been here?

Tala: Only a few hours.

Korono: Would you like to come with us to go..... Where are we going again Kaota?

Kaota: To the queen oza's castle.

Tala: I have nothing better to do... so I guess so...

They all stood up and checked to make sure Ralo wasn't still there. They walked out of the alley way and left the city.

They entered another reddish desert and within about a half an hour, they could see the castle in the distance. But Kaota could see farther and an oza was searching for them, he inferred. He relayed this information to Korono and Tala as they got closer.

The oza saw them and darted over.

Korono: ummm... who are you?

???: General Daos. Would you be kind enough to hand over that necklace of yours?

Korono: How bout..... no.

Daos: Are you sure you would want to do that?

Korono: Yeah.

Daos unsheathed a sword he had clipped to a belt on his waist. Tala and Kaota looked at each other.

Korono: What are you planning to do with that sword of yours?

Daos: Take that necklace by force.

Korono unstrapped his sword.

Daos wasn't an idiot. He knew that either a truly talented swordsman, or a complete idiot would be this confident. Daos signaled behind him and three other oza flew over to his side. Tala whipped out a wand, and Kaota took out his sword.

Korono: That isn't fair.

A wave of sound exploded from Tala's wand. One of the oza was hit and got knocked out.

Kaota: 0_0

Korono: 0_0

Korono: How come you didn't tell us you could do that?! We could have just knocked out that Daos guy before he called over his little buddies!

Tala: What fun would that be?

10. Chapter 10

Korono side stepped again, avoiding another slash from Daos's sword. Koronos countered with a swing his sword and Daos ducked.

Kaota had it pretty easily as he dodged a swing of the oza's sword and punched him in the face. He flew unconscious about ten meters away.

Kaota: Hmm... boring.

Tala was also facing a pretty easy opponent, for he could barely hold his sword and was defeated in seconds. Kaota and Tala sat down and watched Daos and Korono.

Korono threw a kick at Daos and he caught it and tossed him at Tala and Kaota. He hit the floor with a thud and was flat on his back. Kaota and Tala just sat a few inches from his face and laughed.

Kaota: You're not gonna win like that.

Korono glared at him. But then his eyes caught three figures behind Tala and Kaota, holding their swords up as if he was going to kill them. The oza that Kaota and Tala knocked out were conscious again and were back for revenge.

Korono: points Behind y-! cuts himself off

Just millimeters from their heads, the swords stopped right in their tracks. Then, BLAM! the ground underneath them split open and lava exploded right at their feet. They were sent hundreds of feet into the air. Tala and Kaota jumped back and avoided getting hurt.

Kaota: 0_0

Tala: 0_0

Korono had obviously done it and was just as surprised as the others.

Daos: Oh no! The Queen must know!!

Daos flapped away to the castle over in the distance.

Korono: ummm... what a weirdo.

Korono got up and dusted himself off.

Tala: ...

Korono: Anyways...That was so COOL!!! The anger just exploded inside of me and then the ground opened and then... lava.... AHHHHHHHH!! that was so cool!!! runs around

Kaota: ummm... Korono...

Korono: You shall call me Lord of Ownage!!!

Tala: Korono...

Korono: Or twilight ninja! OR BOB!!! Or Supah Fly grand mastah Twili-

It was then the bodies of the three dead oza crashed down on his head.

Korono: EWWW!! screams like a girl (no offense to girl readers)

Throws off the bodies and rolls around in the dirt.

Korono: Get it OFF!!! EWWW!!!!

Kaota walked over to Korono's squirming body and picked him up. He held up his hand and slapped him really hard. He dropped him on his butt and walked away.

Korono: Ow.... holds face

Kaota: Shut up!

Korono: Yes sir. shuts his mouth submissively

Kaota: This explains why you werent cold in the arctic circle. You have the power of lava!

Tala: And by the way he split open the ground like that... he must have the element of earth also.

Kaota: Yeah! that too.

Korono: Now that we have that decided, can we continue getting to the castle, im getting tired of that annoying queen sending oza after me for my necklace.

Tala: Now that you mention it, why do you care so much about that necklace?

The three of them started walking again.

Korono: It all started when.....

11. Chapter 11

Two dark red, clawed hands grasped the tear in the sky called oza and ripped it farther. The face of a creature, similar to a dragon, poked out from the sky and observed its surroundings. Around it, the oza cleared away and made room for its enormous stature. In a blur, the creature dropped from the tear and its wings snapped open and held it in the air. The creature looked a lot like a dragon, except the only difference was that it was about as big as a thirty story skyscraper and that it was feathered. Hazard was directly underneath the creature, knocked out from exhaustion of fighting the oza that constantly came out nonstop. As if the monster sensed his energy, it dived down with its mouth agape, dropping at hazard.

A bolt of fierce lightning shot out a and sent the creature spiraling down into the icy water. Smoke rose up from the water.

Flash: That was unfair. He's unconscious.

The water where it fell started bubbling, and then boiling. A huge flame broke through the surface and a geyser of hot flame was shot out. As the flame died away, the creature hovered in mid air.

???: You fool! How you think you can defeat me by yourself?

Eclipse: walks out from behind a mound of ice he isnt by his self!

???: HAHHAHAHA! I can sense power levels. You two wouldnt pose a challenge to me!

A bolt of lightning and telekinetic energy were shot through the air at the dragon creature. The creature blew away the powerful attacks with ease and laughed again.

???: patheti-

Flash got behind the distracted creature in an instant and sent another bolt at its head. It dodged the attack barely by doing an aerial flip and smacking flash down with its tail. As flash plunged down, the creature sent a deadly, hot flame at Flash's rapidly falling body. The flames licked greedily through the air and just as they barely touched him, Eclipse shot through the air and caught him, so fast that neither of them got seriously injured by the flames. But hazard was in the path of the fire and was still unconscious. The fire struck down and engulfed hazard's body with intense flame. The ice in the way was melted instantly and the water boiled with temperatures about 3,000 degrees. Flash and eclipse gasped at the sight they just witnessed.

Flash: 0_0

Eclipse: :0

Hazard was still unconscious and it didnt affect him at all.

Flash: GOOD LORD!

Hazard floated on the water as it returned to its icy temperature. Then, hazard woke up and yelled.

Hazard: Hey! that water is cold!

Hazard leaped onto a large sheet of ice.

Flash: 0_0

Eclipse: 0_0

Eclipse looked at Hazard.

Eclipse: You just got hit with a burning hot flame, and then you got boiled, and all you could think about is the temperature of the water?!!!!!!!!!!

Hazard: uh, sorry? I guess that has something to do with the fact that my element is fire. Other fire has no effect on me, yet really cold things are like this water is intensified.

Flash: Interesting.

???: YOU! points at hazard YOU'RE THE ENERGY I SENSED BEFORE!

Hazard: Can someone explain this to me?

Flash: points at the creature He's the enemy.

Hazard: Ok! my power hasnt returned completely yet though. And-

???: RAAH!!! dives down at hazard

Hazard's eyes turned a piercing yellow color and a strong aura burst outward from hazard. The creature was stopped in its tracks as it ran straight into hazard's arm. The enormous creature was stopped by a fourteen year old, with one arm! The ice underneath Hazard cracked and a shockwave of energy was sent hurtling through the air. A flame multitudes of times stronger than the creature's exploded from his palm and the monster was instantly incinerated.

Eclipse: I thought your full power wasnt returned completely yet!

Hazard's eyes turned red once again and his aura dissipated. He smiled.

Hazard: It still hasnt. that was about 3/4 of my real power though. It's the attack that hit me while ago that recharged me a bit. But not by that much, that was a pretty weak fire attack.

Eclipse: wow. If that's not your full power, then how much of your power did you use on hydro?

Hazard: About half, i didnt want to waste it all on that loser when i had to fend off the oza right after. But at the end of the fight i tried a bit harder.

Eclipse: 0_0 you sure are an interesting person.

12. Chapter 12

Tala: So that necklace was a family heirloom that was passed down from your parents before they died?

Korono: Yep

Kaota: Who killed them?

Korono: Im not exactly sure..... wait! It could have been that annoying queen! You said she needed it.

Kaota: It's possible.

Korono's irises fluctuated into a fierce red color as anger flowed through him.

Korono: That has to be it!

Tala: Keep your voices down, we're entering the castle.

Korono's irises reverted back to normal as they opened the door.

Tala: Whoa.

Marble statues lined the walls and on the far side a spiraling staircase went up far up above their heads. Suddenly, Korono's eyes turned red again and a strange power unlike any other started to flow inside his body. His vision was twice as sharp as it was before and he felt way stronger. He knew he could feel an aura start flowing from his body. A new power was beginning to awaken inside of him. And then, it was gone. He changed completely back to what he was before without any trace of what just happened. Kaota and Tala were too busy taking in their surroundings to notice Korono's transformation.

Then they all took a better look at the staircase. There were about 300 steps and Tala and Korono couldn't waste that much energy on stairs just in case they needed to fight the queen everyone spoke so highly about. As if Kaota read their minds, he gestured for them to get on his back. He opened his wings and flapped up for the queen's room.

Out of nowhere, Korono got a headache way worse than a migraine and his irises changed color again. He felt strength surge from his body and he felt more powerful than he did at the entrance. But the headache only worsened as they got closer to the queen's room. And then, it was gone again.

They stood at the door and marveled at how nice the door was. It had a knocker carved into an oza and the whole door was even taller than Kaota. Then, the door snapped open and Daos emerged.

Daos: Can I take care of it?

A ghostly female voice emanated from the room.

???: Go ahead.

CLANG! A shower of sparks came crashing down as Korono blocked Daos' lightning fast sword attack. Daos kicked out at Korono and he leaped back. He landed on the staircase railing and lunged off at Daos. He stepped back and kicked at Korono in mid air. He was sent crashing into the queen's room. His head hit a wall and he started bleeding badly. His vision blurred and Daos charged at him again. He blinked and Daos already had his sword over Korono's head, preparing to give the finishing blow. Korono's head hurt badly once again. Daos had his sword slicing through the air, at his head and then..... power.

A black aura exploded from Korono and Daos' sword flew from his hand and thudded into a wall. He staggered back and a look of surprise broke out from his face. Korono's vision was better than a hawk's and his fighting instincts took over.

Daos dropped to the floor. dead.

Korono stood over daos' body with his sword lodged deep inside his heart. He killed him without even realizing it. He pulled the blood stained sword from the dead body and was very surprised. The amazing power he just had was gone.

Tala and Kaota were just as shocked as Korono was. And just then, a female Oza emerged from the other side of the room. He didn't even notice she was there.

???: I am queen Omina.

13. Chapter 13

Flash: We're not going anywhere by trying to keep off these oza. They have near unlimited numbers and we aren't taking them out fast enough.

Hazard: I agree.

Eclipse: So what are we gonna do?

Hazard: I think we should go to oza.

Flash: How are we going to do that?

Eclipse: OOO!! OOOO! i just developed a new mind controlling technique we can use to control an oza and fly it up into that rip in the sky.

Hazard: Oh Yeah! (like the cool aid man, lol)

Omina: Well, I see you have hidden powers. I can fully awaken them if you give me that necklace of yours.

Korono: No!

Omina got in front of korono and tried to rip off the necklace. It wouldn't budge.

Omina: Well it seems I can not take it from you while you are wearing it.

Omina stepped back and smiled, showing her razor sharp teeth.

Omina: Well I guess i will force you to give the necklace to me.

Kaota looked at tala.

Kaota: He can't fight her by his self. She is way to strong.

Kaota stepped forward and Omina turned to Kaota. A golden sword appeared in her hand.

Omina: Do not interfere.

She thrust her sword into Kaota's chest and he fell onto the floor. Tala ran over to his body and checked for a heart beat.

Tala: He's..... dead.

14. Chapter 14

In pure rage, Korono relentlessly slashed at Omina. She blocked every hit and countered with her own lightning fast attacks. The golden sword slashed through the air, aiming at Korono's side. But strangely, he felt his power spike up whenever the sword came near him and he dodged all of the attacks.

Omina: Interesting. This means I can't injure you with this sword.

Omina's arms glowed white and she threw the sword into a wall behind her. She thrust her glowing arms at Korono in short jabs and Korono couldn't dodge, nor could he strike back because she was way too fast. Where was this power when he needed it? He urged his self to transform but nothing would work.

Tala was still in disbelief at the fact that Kaota was killed to sudden and mercilessly.

Omina leaped back and made a slashing motion with her arms. Korono was instantly paralyzed and excruciating pain came from the places where omina struck him.

Tala couldn't watch this happen to another one of her friends. She took out her wand and sent an explosion of music at omina. She dodged it and the wall behind where she once stood collapsed and she stood behind Tala. She seemed as if she was going to kill her and Korono was helpless against her once again.

Why? Why won't you help me? I need to save my other friend. Please, whatever you are, I need your power. Korono thought to his self. But still, nothing happened.

Omina's arm was about to slice through tala's body and kill her for interfering but, someone saved her. Hazard kicked at Omina and she staggered back a few steps. Flash and Eclipse were also there and they were eager to help.

Omina fought on par with hazard but that was without her sword. She grabbed the golden weapon from the wall and thrust it at hazard. He held up his huge sword in an effort to block and a shower of sparks fell.

CRACK! Hazard's sword broke and Omina's sword kept going at hazard. Flash sent a lightning bolt at her and she moved out of the way swiftly. luckily, he was also saved. But not for long, omina punched flash and hazard in the stomach and they both coughed up blood. Tala and Eclipse sent their strongest attacks at her but she dodged them once again. Where omina was exploded and the glass windows in the room broke.

Omina: This is getting ANNOYING!

Omina prepared to fire blasts at everyone in the room it looked like. He arms glowed even more and the room was covered her blinding white light.

PLEASE! IM BEGGING YOU! Korono thought at whatever gave him his power.

Then, blackness. More like a void of blackness. But as it cleared away, Korono stood, his black aura spiraling around him, fiercer than ever before. He ran at Omina, so fast he was invisible to those around him. The ground cracked and broke beneath him as his feet hit the ground.

CLANG!

Omina barely blocked his attack. The blades locked together and Omina struggled to stand up. Korono put more pressure on his blade and Omina flew back.

And then, the real fight began.

15. Chapter 15

Omina came back at Korono. She slashed upwards with her sword and Korono easily stopped her with his own sword. He kicked her in the stomach and she shot backward, coughing blood. Korono followed and sent her flying faster and farther with another kick in the stomach. Omina broke through the wall and fell off the side of the tall castle. Fortunately for her, she opened her wings and glided in the air, bleeding and breathing hard. Korono leaped from the broken wall and sliced at Omina. She left herself wide open and he was sure this would kill her. He put all of his power into the final shot and CLANG! A strange aura blocked the hit and left her unharmed. Then, it spread out all along her body like a white colored flame. Korono stood in midair, flying.

I can fly too? I love this transformation. Korono thought to himself.

Omina grew stronger. Now she could put up a better fight against Korono. She held her arm up and a white beam shot out at Korono. Korono did the same, except the beam he shot was jet black. The attacks collided and exploded sending them both back a little bit. Korono flew at Omina and sent a bombardment of relentless attacks at her. She always blocked them or dodged them and shot her arms out trying to use the same technique that caused Korono's paralysis. But it didn't work, and now neither of them were getting hit by each other's attacks and it was getting tiring with every attack. Korono needed to find a weakness, or another one of his strengths. Then he remembered the fact that he could control lava and earth.

He flew back and made a raising motion with his arm. Lava erupted from the ground and Omina sliced through the lava, parting it in half and avoiding being hit.

Omina: That won't work on me. Neither will your element of earth.

How did she know about that?

Korono searched frantically for another way to defeat her and remembered. The sword. Every time it got near him, he was faster and stronger. But how do I get it? he thought to himself.

Korono leaped in front of Omina sending another slash at her. As Korono expected, she blocked with her sword and their blades locked together. Korono leaned closer towards Omina's blade and then he felt stronger. He grabbed the sword and pulled it from her grasp with ease. Now Omina was done for.

Korono searched deep down to find the instinct that took over and killed Daos without realizing it.

The golden blade sliced into Omina and emerged through her back. But she was still alive.

Omina: You.....

The killing instinct took over again and Korono thrust his remaining sword into Omina's heart, and her breathing ceased, and her body grew limp. She plunged to the ground. Although the battle was over, he still had this killing instinct and split the earth open and Omina fell through.

The ground closed and Omina's carcass was crushed.
I didn't mean to do all that..... He thought inwardly and flew back to the castle, where his friends were.

16. Chapter 16

Korono: So this is what the queen probably used to make that rip in the sky? holds up sword

Hazard: Thats what we think.

Korono: OH CRAP! I just remembered, earth is still under attack! we have to go!

Flash: How do we get there?

Korono: Like this.

He slashed at the ground and a huge tear appeared. Everyone marveled at his ability to learn how to use the sword so quickly. They jumped through.

All of the oza stared down as the five heroes stepped through another tear, except it was in the ground.

Korono: Stop!

All oza turned and looked at Korono's magnificent sword and immediately obeyed.

Korono: Go back to Oza please.

They all flew up into the rip in the sky obediently. But before they left, they all spoke the words:

Yes, your majesty.

Korono: Umm... that was easier than I thought.

Tala: What are you going to do now?

Korono: They need someone to lead them. Im going to oza to lead them as their king. They really aren't bad creatures, its just that they are really obedient and always listen to their current ruler.

Eclipse: How did you know that?

Korono: I have no idea. But I'm still going to oza.

Tala + Eclipse + flash: But it's really- hazard cuts them off

Hazard: Well that's cool, just visit us a lot.

Korono: Okay, sure.

They all gave their farewells and parted ways.

That may have been a bad ending but, guess what! There's gonna be a sequel, yay! expect the first chapter to be submitted between today and wednesday. yay! thank you for reading, and have a good day. A jolly happy old day. Have a good day while im sitting here BORED AND INSANE! RAAH!! GRAAAH! RAWR!!! people inject me with a tranquilizer and drag me off to the house for the ultra insane