

The realm of oblivion (sonic story)

By kyuubi64

Submitted: March 22, 2008

Updated: March 28, 2008

*sequel to the realm of nothingness. tell your little buddies about it.
*

*if you want your oc's in it, ask. but the farther along I progress in my story, the harder it will be to fit them in.
*

READ THE STORY THE REALM OF NOTHINGNESS BEFORE YOU READ THIS!

0. Age explanation

Korono the hedgehog
16 years

Hazard the hedgehog
16 years

Eclipse the hedgecat
17 years

Tala the bobcat
16 years

Flash the echidna
18 years

Alex the hedgehog
17 years

Saber the wolf
14 years

1. Chapter 1

The air shimmered and distorted in an alleyway between two skyscrapers in New York city. Then it collected together to create a gray disk and a tall teenage hedgehog emerged. He brandished a long katana and he seemed way older than he looked. He stepped out of the portal and walked out of the alleyway. Crowds of people passed him on the sidewalk and it seemed as if no one even noticed that he was there. He merged in with the people walking down the sidewalk and eventually turned into a larger alleyway.

He reached into his pant pocket and pulled out a blue glass orb. He dropped it onto the floor and the glass shattered. A ghostly red smoke blew out of the broken orb and came together to form a creature with the appearance of a pterodactyl and a fish. Overall, it was blue streaked with red and it had a long sharp tail and large wings.

Creature: Yes Alex?

Alex: You need to bring me to someone.

Alex, the teenage boy's name was. His voice was strong and bold and it never wavered or showed hesitation. The creature, called Skai, spoke back with a deep, bass voice.

Skai: Where?

Alex: I will give you directions as we go.

Alex climbed onto Skai's wide back and Skai unfolded the wings he kept against his body. Strong wind blew outward as he opened his large wings and he flapped them slowly. His wings were about twenty feet in wingspan, and Skai didn't need much effort to fly

Nearly a day later they reached their destination in the arctic circle and flew up into the open gash in the sky leading to Oza.

2. Chapter 2

Korono alone walked in the red colored desert. He wore a loose cloak and carried his sword on his back. Normally he would be accompanied by oza who insisted on keeping him safe but, he wanted to venture out to a nearby city and buy some things.

He looked up and saw a strange silhouette coming towards him. As they neared, a boy jumped from a creature's back and smiled at Korono.

Korono: Alex?!!!

Alex: Yep, it's me.

Korono: I thought you were dead!

Alex: Now why would you think that?

Korono: You just disappeared and I haven't seen you since I was 10! That's a whole six years!

Alex: Your sixteen now, eh? And your getting taller too.

Alex walked over to Korono and compared their heights. Korono was just at his chest. Korono pushed him away and laughed. Then he got serious all of a sudden.

Korono: What do you want?

Alex: It's amazing that my little brother is a king of this whole world.

Korono: Answer my question, and how did you know that?

Alex: I know lots of things about you, news travels fast where I live.

Alex seemed to insist on avoiding answering Korono's question.

Korono: Where do you live?

Alex tapped an invisible wall between them and another portal opened. Korono looked inside and saw a peaceful gray city, rounded buildings everywhere and tall, clawed animals walked through the streets.

Korono: Where is that? What is that?

Alex: It has no name and it is the place I was raised and trained.

Korono: Who raised- Wait! You're trying to change the subject again. Why are you here?!

Alex: I can't avoid it, so I might as well tell you. To make a long story short, I need your help to defeat someone. It's a large beast stronger than I am, wreaking havoc upon the world I just showed you and I came here to recruit you and anybody else who is willing to help.

Korono: I know a few people who might help.

Alex: Another thing, I also need your help because the creature has followers that are about as strong as you were when you defeat omina. Im not sure about how strong you are now but I think you might need a bit of help.

Korono: It's been two years since that happened. Im way stronger than I used to be, even when I transformed into my alternate form.

Alex: I've heard a lot about that, people say you destroyed omina when you transformed. But I doubt you are stronger the monster is.

Korono: I see.

Alex: Gather who you believe is strong enough to help and bring them where we stand now.

Korono: I understand.

Korono sliced the air behind him with his sword and stepped through the portal leading to earth.

3. Chapter 3

Korono: We're ready.

Alex: Let's go.

Alex created a portal and their group stepped through. It consisted of the normal group who went to oza for the fight with omina, (kaota, korono, hazard,tala,flash and eclipse) with the exception of Kaota who sadly was killed by her merciless hands. They all met up where Korono said he would at dawn. Alex and Skai rested there and waited until they came. Now they were here and they were about to leave.

Alex tapped open a portal and they stepped through and they were in a desolate, gray mountain valley.

Alex: This is what I want us to do: We split up to the locations where the monster's buddies were seen most currently. After they are destroyed, we all go after the boss. together.

Hazard: alright.

Alex: I've already made maps leading to the location you are supposed to be at.

Alex handed everybody a neat and detailed map.

Alex: Good luck.

As he said that, he and skai flew off at an eye blurring speed.

Korono, hazard, Tala, Eclipse and Flash separated.

Flash walked into a large village that looked as if it was hit by a tornado. In the center of the village was a large fire that roared up and licked away at the air. On the far side of the fire sat a large anthropomorphic lizard with glowing red eyes.

???: My name is Koira. I can sense some hostility. Why is that? I haven't done anything to you.

Flash: Im here to eliminate you.

Koira: Interesting. But the question is, can you eliminate me?

Koira disappeared and reappeared in Flash's face. Flash immediately jumped back and shot a bolt of lightning at him.

Koira: You are faster than I expected. But can you keep up?

Koira stepped out of the path of the lightning bolt and pulled out a long metal staff. Flash winced at the thought of how much that would hurt if he was hit by that. Koira swung his staff at Flash and he ducked down, barely avoiding being hit. Then he realized that metal is a conductor of electricity. He stood back up and touched the staff with his fingers. He sent a strong jolt of electricity through the staff and electrocuted Koira thoroughly. Koira dropped the staff and he glared at Flash with the most terrifying eyes he'd ever seen. Flash picked up the staff charged it up with electricity. It crackled and sparked with his energy. Now he swung it at Koira and Koira avoided being hit easily. As strong as the staff was now, it was too heavy to be swung fast enough to catch him. Koira grabbed Flash's arm and flung him into a nearby home. The wood broke and he had the breath knocked out of him. Koira stood over him and brought his clawed foot crashing down into his chest. Flash nearly threw up and he was frantically trying to refill his empty lungs. In a desperate attempt, he managed to kick koira in the chest. He staggered back a few paces, but that was enough to give Flash enough time to rest.

Flash: I didn't think I would have to use this on you but, here it goes.

Flash flicked his arm in the air and clouds gathered to form a huge mega cloud. An enormous lightning bolt came down and hit Flash's arm, powering him up significantly. His body radiated a strong electric field and was way faster and stronger.

He dashed at Koira and thrust the staff in Koira's stomach and with as much power as Flash had temporarily, it actually pierce the lizard's skin and electrocuted him once again. Koira was on the floor paralyzed this time.

Flash: So sorry I had to kill you like this.

Once again, he raised his hand. An even larger bolt of lightning gather in the clouds.

Koira: Grrr... If im going to go out..... im going out with a bang.

Koira broke the paralysis and ripped the staff from his stomach. He swung it at Flash and he was sent flying about ten meters away. But just as it happened, the lightning bolt struck Koira and killed him instantly.

i dont really edit or revise my stories so dont blame me if you see mistakes, you can either tell me or ignore it but either way, you know i mean

4. Chapter 4

Korono followed the maps exact directions and eventually got to the location. It was at the peak of a snow capped mountain and was the tallest mountain he'd ever seen. He was surprised he could even breathe at this altitude.

???: What do you want from me?

A winged dragon standing on two legs spoke from behind him. He sat down in a patch of grass and blood trickled from his mouth. He had a limb from a carcass and was tearing into it savagely.

Korono: Whatever you- gets cut off

???: My name is Karro.

Korono: What am i doing talking to you? Im suppose to defeat you.

Korono stepped forward and drew his golden sword from the scabbard on his back. He assessed his enemy's power and decided he wouldn't need to try that hard. And judging by the fact that Alex told him that these creatures were as strong as when he defeated omina, which wasnt saying much because he was really weak compared to how strong he was now. And with Karro's power level, he could probably defeat it by temporarily going into his dark form and letting his killing instinct take over for a few seconds. But whenever this happened, he couldn't control what he did, but it always defeated his enemies in seconds and it didn't take out that much energy.

Korono did as he said and forced his self into using his dark form, another result of his power increase over the past two years.

A Black aura exploded from his feet and shot upward giving him an amazing boost of power. He let his killing instinct take over and then he charged up his sword with his dark energy and slashed diagonally from the right side of Karro and the dark energy was released. It hit Karro and exploded, devouring Karro in the explosion, without karro even able to see korono with his superior speed. Karro fell onto the floor dead.

I dont edit or revise my stories, so if you see mistakes, you can either tell me or ignore it cuz you know what i mean

5. Chapter 5

Hazard trudged through deep snow, freezing cold and bored. He was in a large clearing packed with snow and a howling blizzard. It was empty and quiet.

CLANG! A shower of sparks came down as a long haired anthropomorphic gray wolf tried to hit hazard with his katana. He was so fast and quiet that hazard hadn't noticed he was behind him and he let it sneak up on him. Yet, Hazard was still too fast and his reactions were way too sharp.

Like everyone else, he kept up his training and improvement since the fight with the oza queen omina. Like Korono, Hazard could also force his body into a stronger form for strength whenever he needed it and he also learned a few new forms of sword fighting.

Hazard and the wolf kept their swords locked together and the wolf kept really strong pressure on his small katanas. Hazard stepped sideways and the wolf fell forward. Just as it was about to hit the snow, hazard shot a flaming fist into his stomach. The wolf grunted and it fell back into the snow. Its stomach was seriously burned and he squirmed in pain. Hazard saw no reason in killing it so he simply broke his arms and legs, and knocked him out onto the floor. Even if he recovered, hazard could easily beat him without even being touched.

A large shadow loomed over Hazard and the snow covered clearing. Hazard slowly turned around. A monster the size of a small skyscraper peered at him. Horns intertwined in an intricate weave atop its head and he had thick brown fur. Whenever he opened his mouth, he revealed a set of sharp fangs and a sharp red tongue. The monster stated his name was zaelos in a deep bass voice.

Zaelos: Why are your allies taking out my comrades?

Hazard: We heard that you guys were doing some bad things. We have to put a stop to your pointless killing.

Zaelos: Very well but I cannot let you defeat me until I serve my purpose.

Zaelos lunged at hazard with his teeth bared. Hazard easily dodged the attack and pulled out his sword again. As Zaelos hit the ground, the earth shook and Hazard nearly fell. Zaelos pulled a sword from his back and held it up in an offensive position. Zaelos lunged at hazard once again but was stopped in his tracks as their swords clanged together. He glanced at hazard and he was devoured in a fiery explosion. As the smoke and flame cleared away, Hazard had an aura of hot fire engulfed around him. Their swords still remained locked together and Hazard's sword started to glow red, then yellow with his heat. Hazard threw his weight into a sword swipe, trying to break free of Zaelos's sword. His sword went flying away somewhere far away and Zaelos jumped back. As he did this he shot a black dart at Hazard's arm. Normally, Hazard would have dodged it, but it was way too fast. As it pierced his skin, he was knocked off of his feet and lay down on the snow. The snow melted away as hazard fell on it and steam arose from the water the snow created with hazard's constant fire. The black dart was lodged really deep in his arm and he could barely hold his sword anymore. He slipped into unconsciousness and remained on the floor.

Zaelos: Don't be disappointed with yourself, you were defeated by the leader of these creatures wreaking havoc upon this world.

And that was the last words he heard. At least he put up a good fight against the leader of these savage monsters.

Zaelos stepped into a black portal and disappeared.

i dont edit or revise my stories so if you see mistakes you can either tell me or ignore it cuz you know what i mean.

6. Chapter 6

Tala trampled on in a field of tall gray plants. She heard a rustle and looked behind her. She took out her wand and perked up her ears for any trace of sound.

EAHHHHHHHHH!

A strage greenish no eyed humanoid monster thing leaped out of a clump of some of the plants and reached out for tala's neck with it's claws. Tala barely got out of the way in time and the thing landed behind her. And then, it was hidden again. She tried to heighten her alertness and looked around.

EAHHH!

The thing leaped out at her once more and she hit it with a loud blast of music. It screeched again as it sailed through the air. It landed away from her sight, hidden in the foliage.

She concentrated hard and tried to remember what she learned about her powers lately and thought of her favorite song. She sung it in her head and the louder she sang, the louder it actually was, sending out waves of music and flattening the plants. The greenish thing was ducking and covering it's earholes. Tala kept the song pulsating and flattening the plants and she ran for the creature. She balled up her fists and shot an incredible punch in the thing's face.

It flew back, knocked off it's feet. It also seemed that it was very fragile, and its neck snapped when tala's fist made contact with its face.

Tala: Well i didnt mean to do all of that.

A hand touched her shoulder and she was startled. A familiar face was behind her and he was smiling. It was alex, thank goodness.

Alex: Sorry i scared you.

Tala: It's fine. What can i help you with?

Alex wiped the smile off his face immediately and replaced it with a serious look.

Alex: its about your sister.

Tala also adopted the same serious look on her face.

i dont edit or revise my stories so if you see mistakes, you can ignore it or tell me. cuz you know what i mean anyways

7. Chapter 7

Alex: Get on.

Tala got on skai's back and flew off.

Alex got back to where they entered the world from. Alex and tala got off and sat on the ground.

Alex: Skai, go get everyone else.

Skai rocketed off and tala and alex sat.

Alex: I've heard lots of things about your sister jealousy from people around here. And i've also found out that she was your sister a few days ago. Rumors circulated and eventually reached me, and i was told she was released again. I've also been told that these monsters we are fighting here are a part of her doing. I found this out about a day before we got here and when I told you guys to eliminate the creatures roaming around, I went over to earth and investigated. Jealousy was set loose on earth and she was bending everyone to will and attacking earth once again with a huge demon she calls Feira.

Tala: Oh my goodness! we have to help!

Alex: That is not it, she also has miniature versions on this demon set in Oza and this world we are in now. Although these are smaller, they are just as strong as the original and they are tearing down all of these planets.

Just as he finished his sentence, Skai arrived with all of the heroes. Alex gave them the compressed version of what he told tala and continued on with the next part.

Alex: Im going to split us up into pairs. Each pair will be going into a different world to destroy the demon stationed there. I will be going with tala to earth because I know the most about Jealousy's plan and because tala is probably the only one who can seal her away again. Korono and Hazard will be going to oza because their powers compliment each other and they make a powerful combination. Eclipse, you will be staying here with Flash because you know each other's powers and weaknesses well and you should be to create an awesome team together.

Alex explained the battle plan and how where he wanted them to look for these demons. He was only two years older than most of the group and he was a natural born leader.

Alex: Also, I know that Eclipse hasnt defeated her assigned monster yet and their boss hasnt been defeated yet either. I have someone who can take care of both of those problems with ease.

Korono: And that is?

Alex: Look behind you.

The whole group turned around and were startled to realize a slender black and white wolf was standing behind them the whole time.

8. Chapter 8

The wolf stepped forward. He held two katanas on his waist and his black fur was messy but it was mostly covered by the white beanie he wore. (if you dont know the term, google it)

Alex: He is only 14 years old, yet he took down a whole trained army by his self. He is seriously skilled and talented and can probably beat most of you in a fight without even trying.

Korono: Shut your face.

Alex: Oh yeah, sorry. Saber, you can go.

Saber was gone in an instant, going for the leader of those weird creatures and for the last one.

Alex: Now, I suggest we go to our posts before those demons cause anymore damage to the worlds we know and love.

Alex tapped open a portal to earth and he and tala stepped through. Korono opened his portal to Oza and he and hazard stepped through. All that remained was eclipse and flash.

Eclipse: Do you feel cold?

Eclipse shivered and she could see her breath. Flash was cold too.

Whooooosshhh

An ominous wind blew over them and the terrain they were in.

???: I waited to kill you when you were by yourself.

(korono and hazard)

Hazard: So where are we going?

Korono: Somewhere to the east. Lets hurry up because I dont want it to change locations.

A while later they came to a large, shadowed clearing. Well normally, during the day, it would be shadowed, but it was night time, and it was pitch black. Korono felt like this was no ordinary darkness though, it seemed to have some dark energy constantly flowing through it. He knew this because the base of his powers is dark energy.

Hazard felt a clawed hand grab his leg. He immediately stabbed it with his sword and it seemed to melt into the darkness. Seconds later, the same hand grabbed Korono's leg and he did the same. And then, a hand grabbed both of them and pulled them into the darkness, down under the shadows and into another dimension.

i still dont edit or revise my stories so if you see mistakes either tell me or ignore it cuz you know what i mean

9. Chapter 9- The Realm of Oblivion

(hazard and korono)

They both fell down farther into the inky black depths. They landed with a thud. Korono and Hazard looked around. There was nothing but purple and black swirling around them. It looked as if it went on forever and it messed with their minds. It seemed as if it never showed distance and everything looked the same. They looked down. Nothing, it looked like they were standing on nothing. It looked exactly the same as everything above and around them.

???: Do you like it here? It's my dimension, I call it the realm of oblivion.

Hazard: No, we hate it here. (lol)

Korono: Who are you?

???: You may call me what you want, i have no name. But what I am is the demon of Dimensions and also your opponent I presume.

The demon descended from above them and landed in front of them. Razor sharp teeth protruded from under its lips and its whole body was black. It was amazingly tall and sleek. Red glowing lights were placed where its eyes should be. It was muscular slightly and it had black colored claws. -

Korono leaped at it and it faded away and appeared again behind him. It grabbed something on its back and pulled out a long black sword. Hazard watched Korono's foolishness from the ground, or where the ground should be. The demon sliced Korono with it's sword with a rapid movement. It cut Korono's back and blood poured out. He landed on the floor and realized he couldn't hold anything back on this demon.

Hazard: That really was stupid.

Korono got up and forced his self into dark form and the familiar black aura engulfed him and healed his large wound. Hazard went into his blazing form and an aura of fire exploded around him. They both pulled out swords and stood in a fighting stance.

Demon: I wasn't aware of the possibility of you two possessing alternate forms.

Hazard and Korono leaped at the demon and it shimmered away. Hazard cast a shield of fire around korono and shot fire outward in every direction. The demon reappeared in the area of flames. It faded away again after sustaining a burn on his sword holding arm.

Korono: Nice strategy

Hazard: Thank you, but unless he is stupid, he isnt going to fall for it again.

The demon appeared again in front of korono and swiped at him with it's sword. Korono back flipped and kicked the sword from the demons hand. It flew upward and another sword formed in the demon's hand as the one in the air disappeared. With it's free hand, the demon swiped at Korono. Korono leaped up and avoided it. As he was in the air, Hazard dashed up and aimed a barrage of flames at the demon. It disappeared and reappeared some distance away. Korono aimed a blast of dark energy at the demon and it hit.

Demon: graaah

Korono landed next to Hazard and finally got the hang of the demon's attacks.

Hazard: We have to double team, and when it disappears, we just look out and shoot at it with an attack because it can't disappear again right after it reappears.

Korono: Got it.

They both charged forward and launched a barage of dangerous attacks at the demon. It was able to fend off most of the attacks and dodge a few. It disappeared. Korono let loose his killing instinct and watched out for the demon. Since he had his dangerous instinct loose, he sensed where the demon would be before it actually got there. He leaped in the air held his sword loosely. The demon appeared and Korono let loose a stream of fatal attacks. The demon couldn't hold them all off and he was badly hurt.

Korono jumped back and held his hand out, charging up dark energy in his hand. Just before it hit, the demon disappeared again and appeared behind him.

Demon: arghh...

Hazard's sword pierced through the demon's body, and it came out through the other side. It died and it faded away like an extinguished flame.

Korono: Nice teamwork.

Korono and Hazard reverted back to their original forms and expected to be sent back to oza. But instead, the opposite happened and they fell through the floor of the dimension. It was the demon's dimension after all and it was killed, so it was torn apart. Korono attempted to create a portal with his sword but it wouldnt work because this dimension wasnt connected at all with any of the three worlds. (earth, oza, and that gray world that alex is from) boy: The realm of oblivion.

They landed on a dirt road with a black sky and an amazingly bright white sun. That made no sense to them. They stood up and looked around. They saw a boy walking along the dirt road. They stopped him and asked where they were.

So that meant that the demon was lying and that wasnt the realm of oblivion. This was.

i still dont edit or revise my stories so if you see mistakes, ignore it or tell me but you know what i mean

10. Chapter 10

Saber the wolf zipped through the gray tree tops as a blur. He had a mission to complete and nothing was going to get in the way of that. He eventually reached his destination in a thick forest. His keen ears traced a sound on a tree top and he leaped up the tree he heard it from.

It was as he expected, the enemy. A large purple dog sat and prepared a bow to shoot an unsuspecting victim walking below him. In a flash, he sank his claws into its throat and it plunged down and fell onto the ground. He immediately heard something else, and leaped toward the source of the sound without hesitation. It was muscular panther aiming at the ground with a bow and arrow.

Saber: What are you doing there?

The panther was startled and he shakily replied.

Panther: N-n-n- none of yer business.

He was obviously an enemy because nearly everyone in this world knew Saber's status and that no ally would ever reply to him like that.

Saber: wrong answer.

Saber pierced the panther's throat and once again, he fell off the tree top and onto the ground. This was strange two of these enemies were in the same area when he was told there was only 1 of these creatures left, and then there was the boss, and judging by hazard's description, none of these animals looked anything like this boss.

He sniffed. A peculiar smell wafted through the air. And he followed that once more. The trees cleared suddenly and he watched from the edge of the trees and looked down. A large building was placed right in the middle of the clearing. This needed to be investigated.

He slipped past a few more guards and made it inside. It was only six giant rooms connected by open doors and teeming with guards and soldiers. He melted into the shadows and was hidden by his surroundings because of his talent in sneaking around.

The room in the center was the biggest and was also the emptiest. Going by Hazard's description, Zaelos was the only one in the room. He was sitting down, talking on a cell phone. (lol) He angled his keen ears at the phone and listened attentively.

???: So it seems as if we got what we wanted and hazard and korono are in the realm of oblivion.

Saber then knocked Zaelos out cold onto the floor and took the phone. He imitated his voice exactly and spoke into the phone.

Saber: How did you do it?!

???: They went up against the demon of dimensions. Before they fought I made sure he dragged them into the door to oblivion and if he lost, they would fall into the realm of oblivion but if he won, they would die anyway. But I have word that they are trapped there as we speak. I execute the next part of the plan immediately.

Saber took note of this in his head.

Saber: Well, I believe I have an infiltration. I must go.

???: Yea, bye.

He noticed that the voice was that of a girl, and it was probably Jealousy. It all made sense now! (i will explain later on)

Zaelos: Aughhh.....

Zaelos was waking up. And if Saber left, they would still have the army of these soldiers here. If he stayed he would have to take all of them out. He decided he would stay and take out all of the soldiers out.

He pierced Zaelos's heart and right before, he screamed for help. The hundreds of soldiers rushed into the room, armed and ready to battle.

One stepped forward, another panther.

Panther: Intruder! crush him.

Saber had complete faith in his ability to fight off and kill everyone in the army but wasn't sure if he could do it without going into his dark fire form. But he didn't want to waste energy and he attempted to charge into the mass of soldiers with his katanas.

In an amazing amount of slashing, stabbing and fatal hits, he took out 1/4 of the army and they were constantly attacking him. He began to grow tired and he collected energy for his dark fire form. He fought off a few more soldiers and finally he had enough energy.

BOOOOOMM!!!

The whole building rattled and half of the army flew back into the walls behind them. Saber's aura of darkness and fire engulfed him and swirled around his body. He lifted his hand in the direction of the army and an inferno imbued with dark energy exploded from the ground. He let it die away and he eliminated any survivors. Which wasn't very much. He picked the cell phone up from the ground and exited the building. He lifted his hand up again and the building burned into nothing. He turned away with the satisfaction of completing his task and more. Now he had to go to the realm of oblivion and rescue Hazard and Korono, and from there, he would gather everyone and defeat Jealousy.

11. Chapter 11

Alex and Tala wandered through the streets of station square. Suddenly they heard a woman scream in fear.

Alex: That way.

They ran towards the source of the scream. Then they felt a strong gust of wind blow past them. But this wind was a misty blue. They heard an explosion far away and the blue wind swept past them again. This time, a crowd of people rushed past them with looks of fear on their faces.

From behind a building, they heard another explosion. Another crowd rushed past them. Then, they beheld the cause of the fear.

A black, large, clawed hand grasped the side of a building. A pitch black demon walked past the building and stared directly at Alex and Tala's faces. It began walking towards them, and a black aura enveloped Alex. Then, Alex disappeared and reappeared right in the monster's face. He spun around in mid air and swiped a kick across the demon's face. The monster's head snapped sideways, in the same direction of the kick. If that was a normal human he or she would have had it's neck snapped and died. But this was a demon, and it only stood paralyzed for a second and turned back at alex. Alex was falling down to the ground fast and the demon shot it's hand out at him, trying to grab his body. As it's fist neared, Alex shot one of his rapid kick swipes and smacked the hand away.

Enraged, the demon lunged at Alex. Alex landed on the ground and jumped up again, over it's body. The demon fell on the floor and the ground shattered. It opened it's mouth and a large sphere of blue energy formed in its mouth. It shot it out at tala and immediately, she hit the energy sphere head on with a blast of loud music. They both collided and exploded. Tala wasted no time and ran up to the demon, now getting up off the ground. Alex stood by and watched, sensing that tala could handle this.

Tala jumped up and shot another blast of loud music at the demon. It skidded back and shot another sphere of blue energy. Tala easily dodged it and hit the monster with another blast of music. It got knocked off of it's feet and roared.

Alex: Tala, finish it.

Tala obeyed and shot everything she had at the demon. The music hit it, and pulsated through it's body and crushed the ground underneath. It roared loudly and it faded away.

In it's place a female bobcat appeared from nowhere. Tala and Alex immediately recognized who it was. Jealousy.