1. Meeting Team 7: Snow Atachi

She came to the village in a matter of minutes. It was only an hour after she actually left and the village in the mist wasn't very far, well, for her anyway. The young half demon looked in desperation to find the Leaf Village's academy. Snow's mother disowned the fact of coming here and being a shinobi. 'You're throwing your life away!' she always said. "I'll prove it to you...." she whispered. She looked near the gate and noticed a man with a mask and hair grayish-white. He was reading a book. She saw the title. "Come Come Paradise?" She made a weird face at him. He looked up. "Well, are you the one I've been expecting?" Snow was startled. "Um....maybe. Who are you?"

He put his book away and answered. "My name's Kakashi-sensei, I'm the captain of Squad 7." "Well...yep. I'm the one!"

Kakashi laughed. "Well, follow me so you can meet the team." Kakashi began to walk and Snow began walking with him.

~The Team~

Kakashi and Snow came to a clearing where three characters occupied with their own things were. "Naruto, Sasuke, Sakura."

The three came to attention and came up to him and Snow. Snow was self conscious. "I'd like to introduce you to your new teammate."

"WHAT!?" A blonde boy with cat-like markings on his face exclaimed. Snow then made a face at him. Kakashi ignored the interruption and allowed Snow to say hello. "Atachi, Snow." She then stood in a soldier-like stance, giving a serious face in the process. A dark-haired boy then spoke up. "What do we need a new teammate for? We're fine aren't we?" Snow then got a little angry. Her blue eyes started raging. A pink-haired girl started making arguments as well. Snow then got more aggravated and spoke out loud. "I DIDN'T COME HERE TO BE JUDGED! I CAME TO BE A SHINOBI & THAT'S WHAT I'M GONNA DO!" The three didn't expect her to react so rage-filled. Snow continued. "Look, like it or not, we're on the same team now. So get used to it."

Snow started to walk off then stopped. "Hang on. I didn't learn your names."

She turned around and waited. The blonde one went first. "I'M NARUTO UZUMAKI, AND I'M GONNA BE HOKAGE!!!!" Snow was a little turned off by his hyperactive approach, but, he wasn't gonna be a handful to make friends with. The pink-haired girl then spoke. "Haruno, Sakura." ~She's standing by that boy like their close or something.~ Sakura was standing by the dark-haired one closely. It made her think that she liked him more than he likes her, that look of seriousness compared to hers was giving it off an obvious sign. He then spoke. "Uchiha, Sasuke." Snow thought he was interesting. He didn't smile or anything when he greeted her. Ah well.

Naruto was going to ask her something but, Sasuke interrupted, making him have an angered look on his face. "Do you know who a man named Itachi is?"

~Hm?~

"Itachi? Um....now...I don't think so."

Sasuke started to walk past her then, he stopped. "Well, you're probably more important now anyways."

Snow turned scarlet. He walked off and Sakura started trailing behind him.

"Oh...uh, Naruto. You wanted something?"

Naruto looked at her. "Oh yeah! Wanna get some ramen with me?"

2. Ramen&Feelings Mixed In

Snow decided to make a better interaction with Naruto since she did eventually had to bond with the three. Naruto and her were at the ramen shop.

"Who's.....Itachi?"

Naruto looked at her for a minute, still having ramen noodles hanging from his mouth. "Eh....I don't know. Sasuke always keeps to himself about things. I bet he's plotting something to knock me over!" Naruto got a little frustrated. "You and Sasuke, don't you like eachother?"

Naruto shook his head. "Just because we're on the same team, dosen't mean I have to enjoy it!" He smiled when he said it. Snow smirked at that. "You're....cool Naruto."

Naruto looked at her then smiled even more.

~Next Day~

Snow was up early trying to sharpen her skills. Her body swirled into a circle while ice crystals formed from her hands, sparkling in the sunlight. It was where her name had come from. She was born under the cold conditions of Winter and was the only besides a boy, Haku, who she met awhile back after the village of the Mist was destroyed mysteriously, to create ice crystals using a special Kekkaï Genkai. They said that anyone with this technique had to be killed to be safe in the village. Snow hid her 'other' disposition as well as the half cat demon side. In Leaf, she could flaunt it.

She was tired. The technique took alot out of her, more then she expected. She decided to walk around and see some more.

~The Streets~

Snow walked the streets like any normal Shinobi would. She looked around for something she had missed. Sasuke passed her by without uttering a word. Snow just kept walking. ~If he won't talk to me, he won't talk to me. I don't care~

Snow then looked around a bit more. "Snow!" Sasuke shouted. Snow turned around and looked at him. "I want to....talk to you."

~Trail~

Snow had no idea what he wanted to speak about, but, it might be something important. Sasuke was walking in front, then he stopped, and turned around. Snow couldn't help but turn a slight red from his gaze. It was weird. She didn't even like him that much and ended up feeling so strange. He spoke. "You're different from alot of people, right?" Snow then stopped her episode and turned serious. "What do you mean?"

"You're different from other girls. I can't tell if it's that you don't know me, are just never notice but....."

"Alot of girls like you?"

Sasuke made a face. "Sadly, yes."

Snow had some sign of dissappointment, which was a shock. Where did that feeling come from? Sasuke continued. "You're not like them, following me around, acknowledging me every 20 seconds, getting in my face.....You're not like them."

Snow was confused now. "Do you want it to be that way?"

Sasuke turned in a mysterious fashion. "No."

Snow wasn't surprised. Sasuke seemes like the type NOT to gloat over girls. Atleast, that's they way she saw it. Sasuke started to walk off, then stopped. "I actually find the opposite....more interesting." He headed off then. Snow realized it, she had a crush on him! ~He dosen't like girls who follow him around, who get in his face....I'll be doing that more often.~
