

Here Now

By Bliss_Kiss29

Submitted: April 20, 2008

Updated: April 20, 2008

Some poems that my teachers and friends love. Too share with you.

0. Past, Present, and Future

Past, Present, and Future

Vibrations of the past, thundering beneath my window, if one of them was caught, the present would change.

Chimes of the present, singing what happens as it happens, cut one of them loose, the future might regret it.

Echoes of the future, drift from the mind, they are only a whisper, but nothing can take them away from what they are.

0. Waiting while Living

Still We Wait

A sparkle in the sky,
And the first to wish upon it.
In our sick beds we lie,
A disease with no cure for it.

Though there's many sunny days,
We wonder when we'll be free.
To go outside and play,
Like normal children you see.

We know our end is near,
Just as the setting sun.
This is our greatest fear,
That we never had much fun.

We lay awake deep into the night,
Whispering about the stars so bright.