

Dark and Light

By Sutaru

Submitted: April 29, 2008

Updated: May 14, 2008

*Sutaru's life is not the easiest one, she is 19 and she will soon have to get a job. But it's not easy when you have 2 other you who sometimes makes you evil or just annoying.... try to live a normal life with that.
 (much about Sutaru's past too)*

0. prologue

Way back in time, in a peaceful place, two twin girls were born. They loved each other and always helped if the other one was in trouble. At the beginning the girls were never apart, and they were almost exactly alike. But one day something went wrong, they got mad at each other and never wanted to talk to the other one again. One of the sisters named Accalia who from the beginning had brown hair and green eyes, suddenly started to turn blonde and her eyes turned light blue, but she was still very kind and sweet and cared about her friends and family. The other one, Shreela, who had reddish brown hair and brown eyes also changed, but her hair turned black and her eyes turned red. She was now the total opposite of her sister, she didn't care about anything and she started to spend more and more time alone. The sisters were now just like night and day, and they hated each other. When they turned 16 Shreela got so mad at her sister for not leaving her alone when she asked her to. Accalia didn't listen to what her Shreela said and they ended up trying to kill each other. Accalia, who learned how to use magic tried to kill Shreela in a not so bloody way while Shreela herself didn't care about how bloody it was, as long as Accalia died.

After hours of fighting they both fell almost dead down to the floor. The two sisters looked at each other, both of them were unable to get up. When their mother found them they were more dead than alive and loads of people came to help. Accalia was happy to get help while Shreela just wanted everyone to keep away. A guy who lived in a house pretty close to where Shreela and Accalia lived knew this would happen sooner or later so when he heard about the fight he created some kind of powerful gems, just like the chaos emeralds, but the new ones were not for more power or anything. They were to make the sisters stop their fight once and for all. He walked over to the girls with the gems and started to say some words in a different language. Shreela knew something was going on and she didn't like it at all, she slowly got up from the ground but since she was still weak she fell down again. Loads of people offered their help, but she just glared at them and stayed on the ground.

Their mom didn't say anything to make the man stop, even if she knew what was going to happen. He was going to seal their souls inside one of the gems, and hide them from the rest of the world. Back then no one knew what was going to happen to the gems, and who could happen if someone found them. The man stopped talking and kinda drew something in the air and the twins screamed as their souls slowly left their bodies and got sealed inside the gems, leaving Shreela and Accalia on dead on the ground.

The man walked away with the gems, swearing that no one would ever find them. When he got to a silence field he said some words and the 8 gems got spread over the whole planet.

Years later a girl named Sutaru was running through the park. She didn't know that this day would be her last one as a normal girl. Then, everything happened so fast, the first second she was running away from someone she didn't know and the next one she was standing in the middle of the highway looking right into the light coming closer and soon she was just lying on the ground. She was all covered in blood and she wasn't moving, she closed her eyes, knowing she would never open them again. She didn't have a chance to survive, and even if she did she wouldn't care. She knew that if the wounds didn't kill her, then the pain would. She couldn't move at all and every breath could be her last. Since it was in the middle of the night the chance someone would find her was as small as the chance for her to survive. But then, she could hear them, footsteps and voices, they were coming closer and closer and she felt that maybe she had a chance after all. She opened one of her eyes to see who was coming and she tried to scream so they would find her, but instead she just coughed and blood poured from her mouth and then she fainted, with only one thing in her mind, death was just as terrible as she thought it was.

1. still remembering

The alarm clock woke Sutaru up. With closed eyes she put her hand on the off button and yawned.

"Why did I have to tell it to wake me up this early?" Sutaru said with a yawn and sat up in her bed.

It was only six in the morning but she needed time to get ready for school, and she knew that something else would wake her up if she stayed in bed. The summer was soon coming and she had to make sure she didn't forget anything. She walked in to the kitchen to get some breakfast, still dressed in her pyamas. Maybe she didn't live in a big house with a lot of rooms but the little apartment was enough for her. And since she had loads of stuff to do she wasn't home often, that was one more of the reasons to not have a big house. She ate her breakfast and looked out through the window, only a few people were walking around outside but she didn't know anyone of them. Suddenly a little black and blue angel chao flew over to her and sat down on her head.

"Hi there Kikou darling" Sutaru said and smiled.

Kikou was one of her best friends and she got him from her mom when she was ten years old. The chao flew down from her head and landed on the table and started to eat what was left of Sutaru's breakfast. Sutaru laughed and watched the chao. Kikou looked back at her and then continued eating. Sutaru walked back to her room to change clothes. She picked some clothes and took her ear rings and necklace from a table beside her bed and put them on.

"I'm done and I still have one hour left before I have to go to school... or did I forget something?" She said to herself and sat down on the floor a while and decided to go out for a walk the rest of the time before she had to leave.

She picked up her mp3 player from the table and walked out to the door.

"I'm leaving now Kikou, don't break anything while I'm away." She said as she opened the door. The chao replied with a "Chao chao" and Sutaru walked out from her apartment. She quickly ran downstairs and walked outside. It was a wonderful morning, the water from the night was still all over the grass, sparkling like diamonds in the light from the sun and there was only a few clouds on the sky and the birds were already singing in the trees.

"A perfect day." The lynx girl said to herself and started to walk.

Even if it was really early and she didn't sleep very well this night, she wasn't tired at all. Loads of stuff kept her awake, such as nightmares, voices in her head, but the worse of all, her light and dark form. She could still remember the first time she met them.

She was only seventeen back then, and she was out for a walk when she started to feel dizzy and fell down on her knees. Her chest started to hurt and she thought she was going to pass out. And then... there they were, standing in front of her. One black haired girl with red eyes and a light blonde girl with blue eyes. Sutaru looked up at them and they looked back at her. First no one said a word but soon all of them screamed. Sutaru quickly stood up and looked scared.

"What in the world happened?! Where am i?? Who are you? And where is that weird guy?! He is so dead!" The black haired girl yelled and looked around.

"Quiet Shreela... you are not making anything better when you are yelling like that." The other girl said.

Sutaru just watched them and she didn't know what to say or do. And then, her chest started to hurt again and she passed out.

A few months later she got told that the two girls were called Shreela and Accalia and they were sealed inside the gem that kept her alive. When she died she got turned into a cyborg, so she didn't have a real heart, but she couldn't die cause of a bloodloss, but she didn't think it was worth it. The two other girls were like two extra she, but Shreela sometimes made her evil and Accalia was a bit of a super form, but she just called her Light form sience she tought it sounded better. The gem that kept her alive was called a Chaos Sapphire, and just like the emeralds it was very powerfull. She had all of them at home sience she was their guardian. She wasn't sure what she was going to do with them or where they came from. Shreela and Accalia knew pretty much about them, btu they didn't want to tell where they came from and how they could know about them, but what realy made Shreela freak out was when she asked how she and her sister could be inside one of them.

Sutaru sighed and looked at her watch, and walked to school. This was one of the memories Sutaru wished she didn't have. She didn't have anything against Accalia, it was Shreela who was a pain in the neck. She was always mad at everyone and everything. But thanks to all her friends she didn't realy care about her, but when she was alone she wished she was dead. Shreela just kept making Sutaru mad and she didn't let her sleep much, but it was just to live with it.

After walking a while Sutaru saw Unknown, one of her best friends. Her real name was Evangelina, but she hated when someone called her that. She was two yeres younger than Sutaru but she didn't realy care. She was a lightgreen and black hedgehog girl. She had red eyes just like Shreela, but she was atleast nice to Sutaru. Now it was hard to beleve how they acutuarly met, eaven if Sutaru still remembered that too she almost couldn't beleve it herself. Unknown just kept pretending that she didn't remember it either but it was true eaven if they wished it wasn't.

It all started two yeres ago when a guy named Yuki who took care of Unknown and Fear when they were young sience they both lost their parents, Yuki was the reason the Fear lost his but Fear dind't know it back then. Yuki had told them to kill loads of people so he didn't have to do it, and one day he told them to kill Sutaru. Fear had loads of other stiuff to do so Unknown had to do it on her own. The first time she tried they were in the woods, she had been following Sutaru for a while and then, she attacked her. Sutaru tried to fight back but Unknown was stronger than her eaven if she was younger. The fight kept going on for about two hours when they both passed out and when Sutaru woke up, Unknown was gone. The secount time was a few days later in the park. Unknown once again followed Sutaru and attacked her. This fight ended up the same way as the first one but only Unknown passed out when she fell and slammed her head into a tree and Sutaru ran off. The third and last time was the worse one, it was in the woods aswell and both of them didn't accept to loose. After the first hour they were both tired but no one was planning to stop fighting.

"Give up already!" Unknown yelled and attacked Sutaru.

"No way! I won't give up until you do!" Sutaru yelled back.

After the second hour they were both badly hurt and they almost couldn't move without almost falling. That was when it happened, Unknown stopped fighting and threw her sword down to the ground and started to walk away. But Sutaru made her stay and soon she made her come over to the good side. Fear didn't like that idea at all and he promised himself he would never be her friend. And Yuki got mad at them when Fear also left after finding out that Yuki killed his family. A while later Unknown and Sutaru were best friends and she told her everything of why she tried to kill her, who Fear and Yuki was and she even told her about her family and what happened to them.

Unknown noticed Sutaru and ran over to her.

"Hiya" She said with a smile.

"Hi..." Sutaru replied and looked at the ground.

"Something wrong?" Unknown asked and looked a bit worried.

"Nah... i just didn't get enough sleep, that's all. Sutaru said, even if it wasn't true.

"if you say so..." Unknown said and the both girls started to walk.

"Oh... by the way... where is Fear?" Sutaru asked after a while and looked around

"Well... you know how much he hates school and he said he didn't feel very well this morning."

Unknown replied.

"And you believe him?" Sutaru said and looked at her friend with a little surprised look. Unknown laughed.

"No not really, but what can i do? If he doesn't want to go to school then there is nothing i can do." Unknown said

Sutaru and Unknown kept walking and when they got to the school they said bye to each other and walked to their classrooms.

Sutaru had loads of memories from the past years, some good and some bad. And she wished she didn't have some of them. But she didn't know how to get rid of them, so she had to live with them and hope she would forget them sometime later. And maybe, just maybe she would forget atleast some of them when the summer started, and if she was going to visit her mom in Ukraine she had to be in a good mood or she would just get worried. And if there was something she hated, then it was worried parents.