

Kirby's shortcake

By LAVALORD

Submitted: May 3, 2008

Updated: June 11, 2008

One time kirby lost his shortcake. It was taken by a giant mouse the 2x size of kirby. But with that it still wasn't big.

1. the missing shortcake

Kirby was heading back home after saving the day for the 517th time. He had a special treat at home that he had been saving since he saved the day the 215th time. He got home and opened his fridge to see...ZZzzZ...Huh?! oh yea! and so he got back the missing shortcake and...no wait! We were at the beggining! He opened the fridge to find his snack missing. Then he looked out the window and saw a huge mouse with his snack. He rushed out the door to get it back. the mouse was long gone. But he left behind a clue to were he might be. Kirby saw a carving on the tree that said: "hahaha! I have stolen the wand of...Huh?! a shortcake?! Oh well I think I will go look for a good place to eat it. ill try in the dry dessert not to far from here." So with that kirby went to the dessert not to far from his house to get his shortcake back! TO BE CONTINUED IN CHAPTER 3...NO WAIT! CHAPTER 2.

2. The desert town

Kirby had reached the desert not so far off from his home. He soon saw the town of the desert "Noresed". Normaly a town in the desert would be all dry and dead, but it was in a dome that had fresh cool air. The city was very high tech with it solar energy power. Every roof had a solar energy absorber. Kirby entered the city and looked for the mouse. He started heading to the park that had the best veiw. He found another clue writen on another tree. It said "This place is nice and all but its not what I wanted. It doesnt have enough water. I will head to the beach. I will need to take a train but I might like it." So with that Kirby headed to the nearby train station. TO BE CONTINUED IN CHAPTER 2...I MEAN 3!

3. The underwater city

Kirby had to pay $8 just for the train ticket! But he finally came to the city on the water "teraw". He walked on the bridge for about a mile. When he got to the city he wondered where to search. He looked at a map to find out the city also went underwater. However there were tons of places to look! He started at all the parks. But nothing showed up. He didn't even leave a clue on a tree like he did in his past mistakes. He started to think his shortcake was long gone. He also wondered if it was worth all the stuff he went through. But since he is this far he figured he might as well just get it. He wandered around thinking of where to look next. He thought he would just look around some more and see if anything comes up. He eventually found a huge door that said "nothing evil back here". He went to a nearby computer store and stole a computer without making a scene. He then hooked it up to the lock on the huge door and hacked his way by the security and...forget it this is boring. Let's just say he did a lot of crazy things and got to a secret level not on the map. TO BE CONTINUED IN CHAPTER 7...AGH! NOT AGAIN! CHAPTER 4!

4. The underwater city part 2

Kirby was now on a secret level of the city. He knew the mouse had to be here since he didnt see him in the city and he didnt leave any clues behind. He reached the end of the hallway. What he saw was somthin so great he couldnt hold in his excitment. He saww a huge shortcake factory. He rushed in as fast as he could. When he opened the doors he fell with misery. The factory was empty. He heard a noise from behind the door. He peeked through the keyhole and saw the mouse with his shortcake. He rushed inside but the mouse was gone. He saw an escape pod leaving to the surface. He got in another escape pod and rushed after the theif. By the time he reached the surface he saw a nearby island. He saw the escape pod on the beach. So he quickly rushed to the island not knowing what was on it. TO BE CONTINUED IN CHAPTER 5. HEY I GOT IT RIGHT!