

Rain & Tears

By Bep

Submitted: August 1, 2004

Updated: August 1, 2004

A story about a chance of never saying goodbye or I'm sorry.

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/Bep/5573/Rain-and-Tears>

Chapter 1 - Whats left unspoken.

2

1 - Whats left unspoken.

It was a dark and rainy night my parents had set out a while ago after a harsh argument between us. Over a new pair of shoes that my friend stole from the mall, they didn't want to be friends with her any more.

I was still in bad spirits when I heard a knock on the door. I walked over and opened it there in the rain were the police.

They had sad sunken eyes. I was shocked to see them. I invited them to come in. The rain was getting heavier by the second. When I closed the door they sat down on your living room couch. They glanced at me before speaking the words that changed my whole life. "your parents are died." I stood stock-still I couldn't believe it. I stood there thinking this has to be a joke. I said to them "You're joking right?" at the end of the sentence I started laughing expecting them to join in. They didn't. They repeated what they said. I started crying I hurled myself into the hallway. I ran towards my parent's room through myself onto their bed. I heard the police talking. The sound of thunder echoed around the house when I heard the door click close. The police left me the same way parents had.

I stead there for a while, collecting my thoughts I sat up. As I looked around I realized this room, my life had become empty.