

Herriman's Worst NightMare Come True?

By Falconlobo

Submitted: April 23, 2006

Updated: May 8, 2008

This is an Imbetweenquel {which means takes place within a story} to One Wedding and a Blooragaurd

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/Falconlobo/32240/Herrimans-Worst-NightMare-Come-True>

Chapter 1 - Herriman

2

1 - Herriman

This is a story based on a story i looked up on DEVIANTART in a dream i had.

Title in dream My Bunny.

Title of my story Herriman's Worst Nightmare Come True? By FALCONLOBO This is a one-shot angst/drama story with some romance/humor at the end.

The question of the story is this a dream or did this really happen? Herriman was hopping up and down back and forth along the foyer.

Since he was a rabbit this was his way of pacing.

He was going out of his mind with worry for his beloved wife and expectant mother to be Frankie who was going through premature birth with complications.

Madame Foster got of the phone and shook her head with tears in her eyes this made Herriman fear the worst.

His worst fear was realized we Madame foster said that Frankie and the twins had passed on. This news hit Herriman like a bullet to the heart.

Herriman dropped to his knees clenched his fists, then he SCREAMED "NOOOO! FRANKIE!"

He then said with tears in his eyes "this can't be happening they can't be gone they just can't be."

Madame foster put her hand on Heriman's shoulder and said "we better go tell the rest of the friends about this horrible news and prepare for the funeral tomorrow."

The hospital called back and Herriman picked up the phone and said "this is a bad time could you make this quick."

The doctor explained that the reason Frankie died was that her body had deteriorated over the years from exhaustion.

This news hit Herriman like a ton of bricks pain and all.

The phone fell out of his hand and hit the floor at the same time he did.

He started crying, because he knew this had to be his entire fault.

Herriman was heart-broken because he knew over-working Frankie over the years had made him lose the best things that ever happened to him.

Unfortunately for Herriman Bloo was listening on the other line.

He ran into the room and shouted "Herriman you monster this is all your fault!

Frankie and your kids are dead and it's all because you overworked her all the time!

I mean you never even gave her any credit for all her hard work!

I hope you fry for this" he shouted! Then Bloo ran off crying.

Madame foster told Herriman "this isn't your fault these things just happen."

Herriman said "you're wrong this is my entire fault, Bloo's right I am a monster.

I mean I killed the only good things to happen to me in long time."

"Don't beat yourself up over this I'll go talk to Bloo you go get some sleep."

Madame foster found Bloo sobbing his eyes out.

"Bloo" Madame foster said "Herriman is not to blame these things just kinda happen."

"But why Frankie why not the monster you call an imaginary rabbit?"

He then shouted "It shoulda been him and not her and the twins!"

"Bloo I'm surprised at you Herriman is just as broken up about this as you are, maybe even more" she added.

"I'm sorry Madame foster I should not have snapped at him like that the news just overwhelmed me.

I'll tell Herriman I'm sorry at the funeral tomorrow"

Bloo said as he drifted off to sleep hoping to dream that Frankie was still alive and well along with the unborn twins.

Elsewhere in Herriman's bedroom Herriman could not sleep very well with thoughts of what he had done to her and the twins made him dream about the funeral.

In Herriman's dream he was at the funeral with the rest of the friends mourning their great loss.

Bloo said to Herriman "I'm sorry I said it was all your fault that they are gone it was just a chance of fate."

Edwardo said "she will be greatly missed."

Wilt stated "even though I'm the color red I feel oh so blue."

Bloo said "you're lucky I'm blue on the inside and outside."

Madame foster said "she will still be alive in our hearts and minds."

Coco sang "coococoa coococoa coococa coco, caw cac caw cac," which meant Swing Low Sweet Chariot but the next sounds meant she could not finish singing the song and started crying.

Mac said "this is just too sad why must the good die young."

Herriman said the "saying goes it's better to have loved and lost than to never have loved at all He then added crying but this can't apply to losing a loved one."

“We better get back inside the house it looks like it's going to rain” Bloo said.

Herriman said “you all go into the house I'm going to say goodbye to my departed family.”

It was raining plus November just like in the music video Frankie liked.

The similarities between this and the video went through his mind.

Axl Rose in the video had lost the love of his life and so had this now broken bunny. He spoke softly “Frankie I'm sorry I was your downfall I can never forgive myself.

I should have noticed how hard I overworked you and I should have know the doctor was wrong about us being immortal.

He then screamed I'm such a frigging idiot you did all the work and I took all the credit.

I should end my miserable life so I can't hurt anyone else, but that would not be what you woulda wanted is it?

You would want me to carry on in your place taking care of all the friends and family that you loved including me.

I only noticed how much I loved you too little to late and now I'm talking to a grave containing what could have been a wonderful family.

I can't forgive myself but I suppose you would.”

“Frankie I will love you forever and a day and also I will always wonder what might have been.”

He then shouted “Bloo's right I am a monster I killed my wife and kids.”

Then he dropped to the ground and cried at the grave sight.

He then screamed “if this is a nightmarish dream please let me Mr. Roger Herriman wake up.

Please let me wake up.”

“Roger wake up Herriman wake up,”

Herriman opened his eyes to find Frankie lying next to him on the couch.

“Frankie,” Herriman said “is that you is it really you?

Please pinch me to make me sure I'm not dreaming.”

She did just that and he yelped “ow!”

“That hurt, but at least I'm really awake and with you.”

“Wow” Frankie said “that musta been some nightmare to have you yelling in your sleep like that.”

“Oh it was a nightmarish nightmare indeed oh Frankie it was.”

“What happened in the dream did somebody die?”

“He said yeah you and the twins did and it was my entire fault.”

“Really how?” The soon to be momma said.

Herriman explained how she died of premature birth complications due to his stupidity of overworking her for so long and how couldn't forgive himself.

The rabbit said with tears in his eyes “also there was no way to bring you back because we weren't immortal.”

“Relax” Frankie said “it was just a bad dream we are still immortal” she added “as well as our soon to be born kids and the rest of our friends and family.”

Frankie then said “at least you didn't have a weird dream like me.”

The rabbit said “what was so weird about your dream.”

“Weell I was on the Prom Night episode of That 70's Show and I was the English teacher that Fez hit on. I mean I was me but at the same time I wasn't.

It was weird being hit on by a hormonally challenged teen.”

“Who would you rather hit on you?”

“Only my buunny husband and nobunny else” Frankie said with a smirk.

“That can be arranged my angel” he said with a smirk giving her a kiss on the lips.

“Oh you animal!” She said then started kissing him back.

They continued to kiss but after the long kiss they decided to take a break to catch their breaths.

Then Herriman said

“I'm relieved to see that you are still alive and kicking.”

Literally, he got double kicked off the couch by his unborn kids.

Herriman “are you all right?”

“I'm fine and I'm glad the same could be said of you and the kids to be.”

She pulled Herriman off the floor and back on the couch.

“Couple of kickboxers we got in there” he said with a smile.

Frankie returned his smile and said “weell they do take after you with the rabbit blood and all.”

“I hope they take after you more then me I'm quite a pain in the fuzzbuutt sometimes” stated the rabbit with a smirk.

“Sometimes?” She said with a smirk.

“Weell okay all the time” he smirked back.

He then said “I've been in love with you way before you were in love with me.”

“Well you kinda grew on me and I'm glad that we finally got together after so many years of anarchy.”

“Any examples?” The rabbit said.

“Well there was that camping trip gone horribly wrong.”

“How could I forget that? I went feral.”

“It was like bunny gone wild” he added with a smile.

“Plus it was the first time anyone saw you with out any type of clothing what-so-ever.”

The rabbit blushed and said “also it wasn't my creator's voice that brought me out have that trance but yours, it frightened me a little bit.”

“You mean because you almost hurt those you cared about or because you realized you were falling for me?”

“Both actually” said the bunny.

“I tried to disguise my feelings for you by over-working you so much and I hated myself for doing that to you.”

Frankie said “I guess cupid wouldn't give up on us.”

“Yeah it started with the blue blunder and ended in wedded bliss the rabbit said.”

He then added “I owe that blue blob a thank you.”

“Really why?”

He went on to say,

“when we were one fused being he made me realize how much I loved you as only he could.”

“What went on in that whittlle mind o yours” she smirked?

Herriman smirked back and told her how Bloo interrogated him into admitting not only liking her but loving her plus giving him the courage to tell her how he felt about her.

Frankie said “weell he does have his moments.”

“That he does Frankie that he does, and if it weren't for him we might have missed out on something this wonderful.”

“I guess that's why you made him best man at our wedding huh?”

“You know it baby!” The rabbit said.

He then said “I'm still kinda shaken up by that nightmarish dream and I don't think I can get back to sleep yet.”

Frankie said “then let's have a movie marathon.”

“What movies?” Asked the rabbit.

How bout the back to the future trilogy on VHS? Fine with me replied the rabbit.

They watched the movies plus the added features holding each others hands, then after the last added feature of the last tape shown on the TV screen they rewound the tapes.

With the last of the tapes being rewound they fell asleep to the whirring sound of it relaxing them to sleep in each others arms.

They did not dream the rest of the night, no bad ones or weird ones nor even good ones just a serene state of mind and a great nite's sleep.

They slept well into the morning. They weren't even woken up by the sounds of talking and wilt making breakfast.

Bloo said "awwwww loook attt the cute widddle cuddle bunnies."

Edwardo said "at least he not screaming no more, he musta been having some way bad dreams to make him do dat."

"Coccocoococococcoa" Coco said which meant he screamed loud enough to wake the dead.

Wilt called back from the kitchen "they can sleep now and reheat later.

Madame foster" said "they sure are heavy sleepers," and then added "I couldn't have imagined a more perfect match even if I tried."

FIN.

Well what do know it was a bad dream with a happy wake up ending.

What can I say I'm a sucker for a happy ending

Also no Frankies or unborn kids were harmed in the making of this Imbetweenquel.

This story takes place inbetween the Sequel story One Wedding and a Blooreguard.

Hence the word Inbetweenquel.

This story takes place one month and two days before Frankie gives birth to the twins.