1 - Flora and Daniel

It was a gorgeous morning. Flora got out of her bed and opened a window to breathe in the fresh air. Today was Flora's day off from work, so she had plans to head to the store to do some shopping. Flora put on a tight white shirt and a lavender skirt. Then she finished all the other things she needed to do before she left. As Flora was heading towards the store, she noticed Daniel walking not too far up ahead. "Hey Daniel!" she shouted as she ran to catch up with him. Daniel turned around and stopped. "Hi Flora, where are you going?" he questioned her. "I was just going to the store to pick up this new recipe book my mom told me about. And browse of course. Do you want to come?" Flora smiled. "Hmm...sure. I don't have anything else to do at the moment." "Great!" Flora shouted. Then they continued to walk. As they were walking Daniel noticed something on the ground. It was a red rose. He picked it up. Flora looked at it too. "I wonder where that came from? Someone must have recently purchased a bouquet and this one slipped out." Flora suggested. Daniel put the flower up to Flora's hand. "Here, do you want it?" Flora blushed. "Um, oh yeah... of course." She took the rose from Daniel's hand. The rose had a lovely scent. "Thanks Daniel." Daniel grinned and continued walking. After 10 minutes they reached the store. Flora found the new recipe book. "Here it is!" Flora opened the book and skimmed through the recipes. "That one looks good," said Daniel. "Yeah it does, Oreo cake dessert. Do you want to come over and eat some with me?" Daniel looked at her in silence for a few moments and finally replied with "Okay." Flora frowned and said, "What's with the silence, I'm a good cook, don't worry." Then she smiled. "Oh that's not it." Daniel replied. "Whatever you say Daniel," Flora giggled. "I guess I don't have to browse. Besides, it looks like you're ready to go. I have all the ingredients required. Let's go!" So Daniel and Flora headed back to her place. When they got to the house Flora went straight for the kitchen and set the book down. She took the rose out of her pocket and looked at her reflection through the microwave. She neatly put the rose in her hair. Then Daniel entered the kitchen. "That looks nice." Flora turned around in surprise he said that. "Heh heh, thanks." Daniel stood right next to Flora and opened the recipe book. "You know what, I think I may be able to do this." Flora looked at Daniel. "Leave all the cooking to me." Daniel took a seat at the table. "Okay, I'll just sit here and we can talk while you cook." Flora wasn't expecting a long conversation with Daniel, she thought he'd probably just hang around while she baked. She started to get nervous. "You know what, whenever I see a flower it reminds me of when we first met" Daniel looked at the flower in Flora's hair. Flora turned red. "Wha..what...really." Flora started pouring the ingredients into a mixing bowl. "I remember the big smile you gave me as you handed me that flower." Daniel and Flora talked about their childhood the whole time the cake baked. Then it was time to take the cake out of the oven. "And you know what, there's a lot of you that hasn't changed." Flora said. "Yeah, you're the same too." Flora smiled. "Even your smile has that same glow." Flora brought the cake to the table. "Tha..Thanks Daniel." Flora felt her hands sweating. Flora cut the cake into pieces. Then she grabbed two plates and forks. "I'll let you try it first." Flora set a piece on his plate. Daniel took a bite. "Wow! This is really good! I'm glad I didn't make it." Flora was really happy he enjoyed her cooking. She took a seat and served herself some. After they finished eating they talked about all sorts of things for hours. Before Daniel left, Flora gave him some of the cake for later. "Thanks Flora. You know,I had a great time,we definitely need to get together again." Flora stared at Daniel. "Yeah..". Then Daniel wrapped his arms around Flora. She was really shocked. And then he kissed her gently on the cheek. Daniel let go of her and waved, "See you later." Daniel walked off. Flora stood there bright red. She put her hand up to her cheek and smiled as she watched Daniel walk away.
