

Passions of The Wolf

By ObsessiveKougaFan

Submitted: July 14, 2006

Updated: July 14, 2006

Rin only wants a family, when Kouga saves her and helps her to find her lord Sesshoumaru what will she do in order to keep him around? Play match maker, of course!! ^_^ Sess/Kou

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/ObsessiveKougaFan/36882/Passions-of-The-Wolf>

Chapter 1 - Lost and Found	2
Chapter 2 - Searching	8
Chapter 3 - Family	17
Chapter 4 - Falling Fast?	25
Chapter 5 - Rin's Master Plan	31

1 - Lost and Found

Passions of the Wolf

Welcome to Passion of the Wolf! As you may guess this will be a story related to Kouga-kun, for all of you who have read my previous works, this should come as no surprise. n.n I am so obsessed with that wolf&and his blue eyes&and his sexy tail&and okay drooling now, that ain t cool.

Anyway, I do hope you all enjoy this little tale.

Warning: This chapter will contain some spoilers.

Disclaimer: I do not Inuyasha the series or any of the characters with in the series nor do I make any type of profit off of them.

Chapter One: Lost and Found

She ran as far as she could, as fast as she could, but no matter how far she ran she still couldn t find him. He was like a father, a brother, like family different from the family she had lost but even so, he cared for her even though he may not show it.

Sesshoumaru-sama& she whimpered as she continued running, searching for him. She cursed the demon s that attacked them, she cursed them for hurting Sesshoumaru and she cursed them for separating her from the only family she had left, the only person that cared for her.

It grew dark as the sun descended beneath the horizon and the girl sunk to the ground fresh tears flowing from her eyes and gliding down her flushed cheeks. Sesshoumaru-sama will come for me, he ll defeat that demon and he ll come find me. She thought to herself as she drifted into a cold, deep sleep tears staining her dirtied face.

The sun rose and her eyes opened slowly to a voice she recognized all too well, Well, what have we got here?

Her eyes quickly snapped open and her head jerked towards the voice going over the details of its owner, he had long raven hair done up in a high pony tail, he wore furs that covered his wrists, legs, and fur pelt around his waist, he also wore armor over his chest with a sword at his waist, he was Kouga the man who had set his wolves on her adoptive village, the man who owned the wolves that had once killed her, the demon that had saved her life from being taken by the centipede demon.

What are you doing all the way out here? I figured you'd be with that mutt's brother. His blue eyes stared down into her brown ones as she sniffled remembering her predicament from the previous night.

Wahhh! I can't find Sesshoumaru-sama!! new tears sprung forward as the young girl thought of her lord, hoping he was still alright.

Kouga blinked at the human youth, bewildered as to what to do in this situation, never was any good with kids. All right already; just, calm down! He made a shushing gesture putting his finger to his mouth.

He sighed as she nodded and hicced slightly attempting to get her sobs under control once more. He moved closer to her, gently picking her up in a piggy-back style, All right, now, just stop crying. Lets see if we can t find this demon lord of your s. he smirked a bit as he felt her nod and give a small child like smile that pressed against his neck.

That s it for this chapter!

Please leave me a review and let me know what you think! ^^

Ja ne.

2 - Searching

Welcome to chapter two of Passions of The Wolf.

Last chapter Rin met up with Kouga who is now trying to help her find her lord, Sesshoumaru of the Western Lands.

Disclaimer: I do not own the Inuyasha series or any of the characters with in said series.

Warning: This Chapter contains spoilers relating to Vol. 44 of the Inuyasha Series.

Chapter Two: Searching

Kouga continued walking along in search of his rival's brother. The child had once again fallen asleep as he carried her piggy-back.

The youngling caused him to miss his own pack, she may be human, but human children are much like demon children. They can't survive on their own and they have to have the support of a parental figure. They both need some sort of family to teach them the way they should be.

He sighed quietly, how long had it been? How long, he wondered, since he had left Ginta and Hakkaku, telling them to stay with Kai and Shinta, telling them it was too dangerous to keep traveling with him? He missed them; not that he would say such a thing out loud, but it was lonesome. I can only hope that you guys are staying safe without me there to protect you. He smiled and his gave off a sullen glow as he spoke lowly.

The day dragged on and he stopped occasionally to sniff the air, searching for the demon lord s scent. He only stopped his search for a moment as the human child began to stir in her slumber.

Mmm Rin slowly opened her eyes, the feeling of another person clear to her as she groggily yawned. She took in her surroundings, the sight of the wolf startling her. She made a small eeping noise and pushed away from him forgetting about their meeting in her sluggish state.

Kouga was quick to grab her as she fell from his back, slinging her by her arm back up and around so that she was cradled against his chest. Watch it kid, you'll get hurt doing things like that. He smirked at the child as her mouth formed a small 'o' a look of realization dawning on her features.

He continued to hold her like the child she was, cradled by his tanned arms. Her small hands fisted against his armor seemingly afraid of being dropped. Sesshoumaru-sama she whimpered in a worried tone. What if the demon had hurt him? Would he be alright when she got back to him? It had been two days, yet it seemed like years to her, she was starting to doubt that they would ever be reunited again.

She looked up to her companion, the wolf that had caused her death and the wolf that had saved her twice now, listening as he spoke words of reassurance to her. Don't worry, kid, I'm sure he's fine. In fact I'm certain you'll see him again shortly. I can smell him, he's coming this way. His blue eyes blinked down on the girl before moving back to look straight ahead, He must be worried about you as well; he's coming at a fair speed.

The young girl couldn't seem to stop the smile that made its way to her face; her Sesshoumaru-sama had been worried about her. He was really coming for her, and if what her companion said was true then he must be fine as well. She whispered his name quietly to herself and practically screamed it as she saw him coming towards them on the horizon.

The Inugami Taiyoukai stopped abruptly in front of the okuri-ookami; looking to the girl he carried. Sesshoumaru glared at Kouga, as though daring him to make a move.

Sesshoumaru-sama, Sesshoumaru-sama!! Rin squirmed and wriggled in Kouga's arms and the wolf set her down carefully watching as she dashed to the dog demon attaching herself to his leg. Are you ok, Sesshoumaru-sama? She blinked up at her lord with big child eyes, sincerely concerned over her Sesshoumaru's health.

He simply nodded to her question and gave one last glance to the wolf before turning, Rin, come. Was all he said as he began walking off.

Rin nodded happily, turning to her savior, Thank you for helping me. She smiled at him. As he nodded her smile faded. He looks sad& she thought to herself. He helped her when she was sad; it seemed only fair to help him also. Sesshoumaru-sama, can okuri-ookami-sama stay too? she looked to her lord and then to her savior, they both seemed surprised.

Do as you wish, Rin.

She smiled happily and bounced over to the wolf, My name is Rin! Please stay with us. She looked up to him, eyes pleading as her tiny hands grasped one of his much larger ones.

Kouga was baffled to say the least. This human child wished for him to stay? It would be too dangerous. After all, Sesshoumaru may be after Naraku just as he was, but Sesshoumaru didn't have jewel shards to attract the devious half breed.

By staying it would only put the human child in danger. However, he couldn't stop looking at her eyes. Those chocolate colored orbs looked much like his Kagome's. In short, he lost his nerve. The thought of those eyes tearing up at his refusal was too much for him to risk. I suppose one night won't hurt. He smiled down at the child as she beamed gleefully jumping for joy as it would seem.

One night won't hurt. He recalled once more in his mind. But, oh, how wrong he would be.

That s it for this chapter!

It s just starting to get now, stay tuned for the third chapter: Family

Please leave a review and let me know what you think so far. n.n

Dictionary:

Okuri-Ookami: Wolf Demon

Inugami Taiyoukai: Dog God Demon Lord

3 - Family

Welcome to chapter three of Passions of the Wolf!

I must say, I am on a roll with this story, I don't think I've ever managed to get any amount of chapters done within only a day or so with in each other. n.n

Last chapter Kouga thought back upon his friends that he had left behind and how Rin reminded him of the wolf children in his tribe. Rin and Kouga managed to find Sesshoumaru and after wards Rin invited Kouga to stay with them.

What awaits the wolf this chapter? And what does the young Rin have planned for him and her lord?

Chapter Three: Family

One night won't hurt was what Kouga had thought. However, it had barely been an hour since he agreed to stay with the young girl and the demon lord and already they had been attacked multiple times by demons who wished for the jewel shards Kouga possessed.

Damn& Kouga cursed as he kicked the ghoulish looking demon in the head, breaking its neck with a sickening crack. As he landed back onto the ground he sighed, one night, my @$$$. He thought sourly, somewhat worried that the girl may get hurt.

Yay! Rin jumped up and down clapping her hands, You won, you won! You almost as strong as Sesshoumaru-sama! she smiled gleefully as she took the wolf by his hand leading him back to their fire place.

He smiled and allowed the hyper girl to lead him, sitting down next her. The girl loved to talk, and she did it a lot. Even now she was going on about something or other, most likely something about Sesshoumaru, the kid seemed to adore him more than life itself.

Rin watched her new friend as she spoke, she liked him. Not only had he saved her on several separate accounts now, he also listened to her and spoke back to her. She loved Sesshoumaru-sama, and Jaken-sama was nice company, but neither of them were good conversationists. Sesshoumaru-sama just never spoke and Jaken hardly ever had anything nice to say. It was nice to have someone listen to her and to have an actual conversation.

However, she noticed the same thing she had earlier. The blue eyed man would often get a far away look in his eyes and a sad expression. She wondered why and wished she could do something to help him be happy, give him the same happiness she was feeling now.

Sesshoumaru-sama looks sad too sometimes. Maybe if I can get Sesshoumaru-sama and Kouga-sama to like each other then they can be happy. They both look lonely&Rin would be happy if we could all be a family together. She grinned as her plan started to form in her mind. She would die to make her Sesshoumaru-sama happy and she would do what ever it took to get the sullen look off her saviors face.

The night dragged on and soon morning was upon them. Kouga stretched his limbs as he got up yawning a bit as he rubbed the sleep from his eyes. He himself was often much like a child in the way he woke; he was not good with mornings. He yawned once more before feeling a light tug on his tail. Looking down he smirked at the young girl called Rin, knowing it d be her.

Are you leaving? She asked him giving a small pout.

He nodded to her a twinge of guilt building at her pout and the unshed tears that brimmed at her eyes, We agreed on one night. It would be dangerous if I stay any longer. He bent down to her level, setting one hand on her head and ruffling her hair a bit.

But she sniffled, realizing her sadness affected him, she could use that to her advantage in her plan, I don't want you to go! she sniffled once more, letting a few tears fall.

Kouga closed his eyes; he could smell the salty tears he knew were there, Sorry. He said as he stood.

He couldn't take much more of this, the more he saw her big brown eyes the more he imagined it was his Kagome crying. He felt something latch onto his leg as he turned to leave, the girl was really trying. He didn't look down to her; he may lose his resolve if he looked at her.

He could hear the imp, Jaken, scold the girl for her rudeness, he could hear sobs from the girl and then a sound of disgust that surprised him, Ewe&You smell! His eyes widen in his surprised and he looked at the girl as she let go of his leg and held her nose instead.

You should take a bath. Was all she said as she pointed in the direction where the smell of water came from, possible a spring or maybe even a hot spring. He sighed as he sniffed himself, she was right. All the fighting from the previous day must have left him sweaty&he sighed and mumbled an all right as he stalked off in the direction of the spring.

Rin grinned devilishly as she watched him retreat to the spring. Her Sesshoumaru-sama hated being dirty, he bathed every day. She knew that Sesshoumaru was gone and she knew exactly where he had gone. Maybe when Kouga-sama got to the spring and saw Sesshoumaru-sama something would click.

And then Kouga-sama will want to stay and we can be a family. She smiled certain her plan would work out perfectly, after all, both Kouga-sama and Sesshoumaru-sama were every attractive men, in Rin s mind it only made sense that they may fall for one another.

That s it for chapter three!

Stay tuned for Chapter Four: Falling Fast?

Ja ne! n.n

4 - Falling Fast?

Welcome to Chapter Four of Passions of The Wolf.

Last chapter Rin began plotting on how to have a family again. Will she get her family this chapter? And what will happen when Kouga goes to take his bath? The real story starts here!

Chapter Four: Falling Fast?

Kouga continued his trek to the spring the scent of the water now becoming clearer, he could clearly tell they were hot springs. He sighed to himself, shedding his clothing as he walked. He would miss that girl. He smiled at the thought, if he were ever to have a daughter; he'd want her to be like Rin. As he walked closer to the spring, his clothes resting in one arm, the other working his hair out of its tie, his nose failed to catch the other scent coming from the spring.

He stopped right in front of the spring eyes widening at the sight before him. Sesshoumaru his mind seemed to gasp. The demon lord was beautiful. He had very light skin which with the water glistening over him and the sun reflecting off that water which made it seem as though he was glowing. He looked almost angelic. Kouga froze as Sesshoumaru turned, golden eyes locking on to blue ones. He could feel the Inugami Taiyoukai's eyes roaming over his body and was aware of the burning he felt come across his face.

Mentally scorning himself for his embarrassment he cleared his throat and steadily entered the water. Looking in a different direction to avoid meeting the Inu Daiyoukai's gaze.

And what are you doing here, wolf? he could hear the cold voice of Sesshoumaru ask. As he heard the lord speak his blush deepened slightly, why was he ill at ease? He had never felt embarrassed like this not even when he confessed his love for Kagome. Was he already falling for this bitter demon lord? At this point it was hard to say and he was going to deny it until he knew for sure.

His only response was the reasoning Rin had given him, Rin didn't like the way I smelt, I suppose fighting off greedy demons for hours on end can leave one with a rank scent. He heard the lord make some sort of sound, as though acknowledging he had heard the reply. I didn't realize you'd be here too.

I have no doubt that that child is up to something. Sesshoumaru nearly sighed before catching himself. It was eerily creepy how comfortable he was becoming with the wolf. He still did not understand it himself, how he could feel so calm while near another demon such as this. Perhaps it was simply the fact that the wolf had saved Rin.

Why would you think that? Her demeanor has changed since I found her, but I assumed that was due to being reunited with her dear Sesshoumaru-sama . He smirked slightly as he mocked jokingly only to be rewarded with an icy glare.

The child's demeanor has changed since you agreed to stay. His glare remained fixed on the wolf, he did not appreciate the mocking. He was Lord Sesshoumaru of the Western Lands, no one mocked him. He would have killed the wolf for doing such but held himself back, for Rin's sake of course.

Kouga turned his head to look at Sesshoumaru, How so? he was a bit curious now. Should he be worried about the girl and her possible schemes?

Sesshoumaru thought over the possible answers, this was the most he's spoken in a great while; he usually never spoke more than a few words at a time. She smiles more and her eyes look more mischievous. Sesshoumaru failed to mention the fact that Rin also had refrained from picking on Jaken as she normally would; this indicated to him that maybe she was thinking too much or rather too busy planning other tricks.

Kouga contemplated this but could think of no reasoning behind the girl's actions and demeanor changes, what was that girl plotting? The wolf demon and dog demon finished their cleaning and walked back to the camp site together only to be greeted with an eerily happy Rin. She was smiling as she stared dreamily at the two as they entered the site together. Her eyes seemed to sparkle and Kouga could only raise an eyebrow at her to at this she simply giggled like the giddy child she was.

The only thing Kouga could think at this point was, What the frack have I gotten myself into now?

That's it for this chapter.

Please leave me a review and let me know what you thought of it! n.n

Dictionary:

Inu Daiyoukai:

Inu is Japanese for dog and Daiyoukai Refers to a great youkai lord.

5 - Rin's Master Plan

Welcome to Chapter five of Passions of the Wolf.

Last chapter Rin's plan started to take shape all the while Kouga is having mixed as is Sesshoumaru. What will Rin have in store for them next?

Bonus! Omake from chapter Three; created by ravemastaj (I've made revisions to make it fit a bit better; however, the main idea is still there and I give ravemastaj full credit). Thank you for the Omake!! n.n

Disclaimer: I do not own nor do I make any sort of profit from the Inuyasha series or any of the Inuyasha characters.

Chapter Five: Rin s Master Plan

Omake

And what are you doing here, wolf? he could hear the cold voice of Sesshoumaru ask. As he heard the lord speak his blush deepened slightly, why was he ill at ease? He had never felt embarrassed like this not even when he confessed his love for Kagome. Was he already falling for this bitter demon lord? At this point it was hard to say and he was going to deny it until he knew for sure.

His only response was the reasoning Rin had given him, Rin said that I stank&

Sesshoumaru looked blankly at the other man his nose scrunching in disgust. And boy was she ever right&.

End Omake

Rin grinned as she prepared her lord's supper. He didn't usually accept the meals she made for him but tonight she would make sure that he did! This meal was special after all. She giggled to herself as she sprinkled a strange blue colored powder on to the fish making sure the substance was well hidden within the meat, she then repeated the process with Kouga's meal.

I'm so happy that I was able to get Kouga-sama to stay a little bit longer! she thought enthusiastically. It had actually been relatively easy to get him to say yes. After he and her lord had returned from the baths she had asked him to stay for dinner, he had given her a strange look but accepted anyway. I wonder why Kouga-sama accepted so quickly. Perhaps something had happened at the hot spring? The thought alone made the small girl smile.

She looked at the fish she had prepared the powdered wasn't visible and the man that had given it to her had said that they shouldn't be able to smell it. She carefully set the two meals to the side apart from her own and Jaken's so that they wouldn't get mixed up. If she or Jaken accidentally ate the powdered fish it could be disastrous.

She smiled as she thought about the strange potion, It was nice of that man to give it to me for free. She mumbled slightly remembering his kindness and making a mental note to go back and thank him again later.

Flashback

Rin yawned as she walked in the field, the flowers were beautiful. She smiled as she started to skip. Sesshoumaru-sama and Kouga-sama were still at the baths and Rin was hoping to pick some flowers for them before they returned. She giggled giddily as she thought of her lord and Kouga-sama bathing together. She wasn't a pervert, no not by far! She was simply giddy with delight at the thought of a possible romantic encounter that they may have.

She stopped as she saw a figure sitting in the field of flowers. She was cautious at first but it didn't seem dangerous so she skipped up to the figure to see it was a human male. He looked much different from the villagers she was taken in by before she met Sesshoumaru-sama. The boy looked young and probably short for his age, he had long hair done up in a high fashion, the hair hanging went down to right above his shoulders. He wore a light blue haori and dark blue hakama. He had light tan skin and dark chocolate brown eyes.

Hello! Rin smiled at him, What are you doing? Are here to pick flowers too?

The boy looked up at her, seeming somewhat startled, Sort of, I m picking some special flowers for a potion. He smiled at her wondering silently why such a young girl would be so far away from the village.

Potion? She blinked a thoughtful looking coming across her face, Do you have potions that can make people fall in love!? She smiled hopeful and her eyes glimmered with delight.

The boy looked at the young girl for a second before smiling as he answered, Love? Are you trying to play match maker little one? He sighed slightly keeping his smile as she nodded. I don t sell those potions, the last time I did it had disastrous effects. However, I might have something that might interest you. Rin watched as he pawed through a dark brown medicine carrier. He pulled out a small black pouch. This, my dear, is a very special potion. It doesn t cause people to just fall in love. If they have feelings for each other then it will enhance those feelings.

Rin grinned, it would be perfect. After all the measures she had taken to get her lord and the wolf demon together there was little way for them not to have some feelings for each other by now. Does it work on demons? she asked mindful of the chances.

Demons? he put the pouch on the ground and began to stir though the carrier once more before pulling out a deep crimson pouch. This should do the trick.

Rin took the pouch smiling gleefully abruptly stopping as a thought dawned on her, Wait&this costs&money, right? she watched as the man nodded and she looked down. Oh, I probably can't take it then. I don't have any money.

The man gave her a thoughtful look before patting her on the head, It's all right kid, just this once, you can have it for free. Just make sure you come back at let me know how things go. He smirked as Rin nearly grinned from ear to ear. There are a few things you should know first.

Rin nodded and leaved forward, listening to his words intently.

Make sure that they see each other right after consuming it. Their feelings will only enhance to the first person they see. He watched her nod before continuing, Make sure not to give it to the wrong person, you have no idea how often that sort of thing happens. And try not to use too much of it at once. They re could be a mistake in whom they look at, if that happens then have them eat more and try again. It works differently depending on what sort of feelings the consumer has. If they are dormant feelings in the subconscious mind then it makes them conscious, if they are conscious feelings it will just make them stronger. Basically, if there is a possibility for love, this potion will increase the chances or possible cause it to take place sooner.

Rin blinked, her mind processing all she had heard before nodding and walking back to camp after thanking the man.

End Flashback

She smiled; her master plan was all coming together everything would happen tonight at dinner.

That s all for this chapter! I am so evil. ^^

Stay tuned for chapter six: Shy Glances and Sly Advances

Dictionary:

Haori: Hip- or thigh-length kimono coat, adds formality to women's wear. Haori were originally reserved for men, until fashions changed at the end of the Meiji period. They are now worn by both men and women.

Hakama: is a traditional Japanese divided skirt that resembles wide trousers. A hakama typically has pleats, and a koshiita - a stiff or padded part in the lower back of the wearer.

Hakama is worn in several budo arts such as aikido, kendo, iaido and naginata.