Chapter 1 - Cafe Angst	2
Chapter 2 - Lack of Ramen? Or Lack of Common Sense?	4

1 - Cafe Angst

Hey y'all! Just wanna put it out there that I don't own anything except the angst, plot, and Panda, one of my OC characters.

Panda, Sabaku no Gaara, Uchiha Sasuke, Yuki Sohma, Kyo Sohma, Hyuuga Neji, Seto Kaiba, and Yami Yugi were all headed to a cafe, where they usually reflected on their crappy lives and their not-so-bright futures.

"So, Gaara," started Panda. Flicking her red bangs out of her way, she looked up at Gaara from under her knitted panda cap, "Why are you all angsty? Did your dad abandon you and treat you like dirt too?"

"Right on the money. Sasuke we already know got jacked up by his psycho-dog brother, and everyone knows Yami and Seto's reasons, same thing with Yuki and Kyo, Neji was suffering from cadet-branch status, but Panda, you never say anything about yourself." Panda flicked her green eyes over at the redhead. Gaara was surprised to see tears beginning to form in her big green eyes.

"Panda?" Sasuke inquired.

"Panda-chan?" Gaara turned around to hold open the door for the others. Panda stood next to him.

"It's nothing, Gaara."

"Welcome to Cafe Angst. What can I get for you?"

"Three Mocha/Caramel Cappuchinos for me, Sasuke, and Yuki; cheese Danish for Kyo; an expresso for Kaiba, water for Yami, and hot Chai Green tea for Gaara and Panda." Neji prattled off, knowing everyone's favorite drinks from memory. Panda elbowed her way to Neji, where she whispered in his ear.

"Oh, and a pack of raspberry Madelines for Panda-chan," he said. The guy at the register (let's call him Stan) smirked.

"Ten fifty, patron's discount."

"Thanks, Stan," said Panda, forking over some cash.

They sat at the front window, which they'd claimed as their own. They st there, talking about their hobbies (if you could call them that) and their analysis of the band practice from that morning. They all finished their food, and they went their separate ways.

I'm done...that's all for this chapter...*stares at readers* GO AWAY ALREADY!

2 - Lack of Ramen? Or Lack of Common Sense?

I'm actually updating...Crazy... *Throws yet more confetti*

They had all stopped off at the local Wal-mart when Naruto joined them (if Naruto was already there, then pretend I'm just crazy...wait, I am crazy!).

"HEY GUYS!!!"

Panda whacked Naruto in the head. "Shut up, and turn off the caps lock for once in your pathetic life..."

"Itai, Panda-chan..."

Gaara and the others ignored Naruto, walking into the double doors of the most evil place in the known world: Walmart.

"Hi! Welcome to Walmart," said an overly cheery old woman. Her smile decreased several molars when Gaara and Sasuke sent twin death glares her way. She squeaked, and scampered off. Panda quickly joined them.

"What happened to Naruto," asked Yami and Bakura at the same time (eerie...).

"I kicked him into the subway, that's what happened to him," she replied flatly as she crossed her arms over her chest. Gaara, Seto, Yami, Panda, Neji, and Sasuke browsed the aisles, keeping a lookout for anyone else they knew. Bakura had wandered off, muttering something about pie, while Yuki and Kyo went to the fish and cheese display.

"Hey guys!"

"Naruto, how'd you get out of the subway so fast," questioned Seto.

"I walked..."

They all sighed, and Naruto ran ahead to the soup aisle. It was quiet for a blissful three seconds before a shriek tore through the air.

"THE RAMEN'S GONE!!!!!"

Panda sighed. "And a nice day has been transformed into a mad search for ramen."

"It seems so," said Sasuke and Neji.

The group gave a collective sigh and walked over to the cowering lump called Naruto. Panda Stared down at the sobbing teen, and kicked him.

"Baka, just go to HEB. They're having a sale: Buy ten get twenty free."

Naruto looked up, wiping tears from his eyes.

"Really?"

"Yes, really," said Yami.

The group suddenly flinched as Naruto's cheer burst their eardrums. Naruto tore off, while Panda and the others stared.

"Wow...can anyone say lack of common sense?"

"Yeah...it was kinda obvious that HEB had ramen the entire time...they were advertising all week..." said Seto.

Bakura walked up, shopping cart filled with pie. "I'm finished shopping if you are," he said, as Kyo and Yuki ran by, Yuki beating Kyo over the head with a leek and a bag of miso.

Gaara and Panda wandered off, while Sasuke and Neji left the store, shaking their heads in disgust. Panda and Gaara grabbed some candy, and paid, leaving the others in the store to sort out the randomness of their lives. That left Yami and Seto to try and convince Bakura to buy only one pie.

"Bakura, you can't have that much pie, or else you'll become disgustingly overweight," said Seto bluntly. Bakura sighed.

"Silly Seto, only after you have sat with pie will you have gained the wisdom of pie."

"Kaiba is right, Bakura, pie will make you fat," said Yami as he pushed the cart back to the pastry section. The other two followed.

"Pie doesn't punish those who believe in the Pie God," said Bakura in a sage voice. Yami and Seto stared.

"Pie God? Bakura, are you insane?"

"Maybe..." Bakura said, kicking at the imaginary dirt on the floor in shame. Seto groaned.

"Stop talking about pie," he said, "It makes me feel queasy just thinking about it..."

"Yes! The Pie God is punishing another non-believer! Praise the Pastry Jesus!!"

Once again, Yami and Seto stared.

"You're a freak."

Bakura smiled. "Yes I am!"

Once again...Update! Yays! I'll have another one sometime soon. At least, I think I will...
