Presentation plates, also called chargers, are meant to frame the dinner plate and add depth to the table's visual appeal. They also help protect the tablecloth from spills before the main course is served. If you browse luxury dinnerware at MDMAISON , you'll see how a porcelain dinner plate with gold or platinum trim looks even more refined when placed over a beautifully designed charger. They're often used in formal dining but can also elevate a casual meal when paired with colored rim glassware or linen placemats. While they aren't essential for serving food directly, they contribute to the layered, polished look that makes a table memorable.
